

Large Party To Be Planned

One of the biggest, peppiest parties to be given for all-campus freshmen girls will be planned by members of the YWCA frosh commission at a meeting in the Y bungalow this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Jean Wilcox, commission president, will preside. The date for the party has been set for December 6.

A Chinese dinner, consisting of pork noodles, rice, tea, candy, and various other Chinese tempters, will be given by the Foreign Foods group this afternoon at 5:30 at the Y bungalow. Mary Wright, chairman, is in charge of plans for the dinner.

Homer Collection On Display in Libe

Books from the Pauline Potter Homer collection of rare books were put on display in the browsing room this week.

The books include a new edition of "Lust for Life," a novel on the life of Vincent Van Gogh with

Dean Morris to Be Delegate at Institute Of World Affairs

Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration, has been chosen as the University's delegate to the seventeenth session of the Institute of World Affairs to be held in Riverside, California, December 10 to 15.

The daily program will consist of an assembly, roundtable discussions, and public evening lectures. Dean Morris will lead the roundtable discussion December 11 on "Industrial Mobilization for War" under the general topic of "Economic Factors in World Affairs."

The Institute of World Affairs, held annually, is a five-day intensive consideration of international problems participated in by faculty members of colleges and universities, governmental officials, and other authorities.

illustrations from the works of Van Gogh. Also on display are three of the latest books from the Peter Pauper Press, Mt. Vernon, New York. The books are "Odes of Keats and Shelley," "Persian Fairy Tales," and "The Hunting of the Snark."

"The Bab Ballads" of W. S. Gilbert, of Gilbert and Sullivan fame, is also on exhibit.

Several New Books Have Been Received By U. of O. Library

Hallet Abend's latest book, "Chaos in Asia" will be in the browsing room soon, according to Miss Bernice Rise, circulation librarian, along with a number of other new books.

Two books on Whistler's parents, "Whistler's Father" by Albert Parry, and "Whistler's Mother," by Mumford, have just been received.

Of interest to those who are trying to keep up with current events are Carlo Scarfaglio's "England and the Continent," and "America's House of Lords" by Harold Ickes. The latter book is an inquiry into the freedom of the press in the United States.

THEATRE PREVIEW

By ROY METZLER Golden Boy

The legitimate stage comes to Eugene for a one night stand tomorrow night when "Golden Boy" will be presented on the McDonald stage. One of the best of Clifford Odet's plays and one of the most touching that Broadway has seen in a long time, "Golden Boy" will star Eric Linden and Bernice Clair. Grabbed up by Hollywood and made into celluloid, "Golden Boy" is the story of a New York youngster who has high hopes of getting to the top in prize fighting.

The play relates his experiences along the way to his world championship bout. It will be a treat for all those who attend tomorrow night.

Drums Along the Mohawk
"Drums Along the Mohawk," adapted from the novel by Walter D. Edmonds, comes forth as the most lively presentation of the Revolutionary War period seen on the screen in some years. It has enough rip-roaring action to satisfy those who are melodrama-minded, beautiful color photography (the best, perhaps, ever of the outdoors) and an excellent cast.

Color heightens the beauty of the feminine star of the film, Claudette Colbert, a girl reared amid much more refined surroundings than those she encounters after her marriage to Gil Martin, interpreted by Henry Fonda. Fonda has the drawing style to fit the frontiersman role as it has come down to the present from countless literary presentations. It is a relief to find a scene heightened by the presence of Edna May Oliver, cast as a fearless early settler. Roger Imhoff, John Carradine, Jessie Ralph and Eddie Collins all turn in good performances. "Drums Along the Mohawk" opens at the Mac on Thursday.

Con Film
"Mutiny in the Big House" comes to the Heilig on Thursday. Crammed with action and suspense, the leading roles are taken by Charles Bickford and Barton MacLane. Bickford as the prison priest, tries to re-mold the lives of the men who have been sent "up the river." Climaxed by an attempted prison break the film offers good entertainment.

On the same bill is "Pride of the Blue Grass" a story of a race horse who went blind but is trained by a faithful stablehand to make a gallant and successful comeback on the track.

In a tensely dramatic scene for "The Earl of Chicago," Robert Montgomery fires seven bullets from an automatic pistol into the broad back of Edward Arnold. The "take" is perfect but the director steps in and asks for another shot as someone's shoes squeak in the scene. The scene is shot again and Arnold gets his back shot full of lead, but still the squeak is there. Finally the squeak is detected in Arnold's shoes. Removing his shoes, Arnold is "killed" for the third time, this time in his stocking feet.

Thanksgiving for Peace

as well as for PLENTY

For Our American Democracy . . .

How plump the turkey! How succulent the squash! Spread out the festive board while the table creaks under the weight of all the good things with which it is laden! Meats and sweets; fish and fowl. Vegetables gathered from our own gardens: rich purple grapes in clusters culled from our own arbors. This is the land of plenty ---for whose bounty our forbears gave thanks almost three centuries ago! Still a land of plenty, it has ripened into one of the richest in all the world. Today we give thanks that this is the country we call "home": ever lending of its fruitfulness that we may know no want; and passing on to our children the same heritage of a full life ---for which those before us so sincerely offered their thanks.

For Our Heritage of Liberty . . . .

Our most cherished right, liberty. Liberty to live a life of freedom in speech and press. War destroys those rights and privileges. We must preserve peace and thank God for our fortunate state. Make this a Thanksgiving for peace, as well as for plenty.
