DUCK TRACKS

By GEORGE PASERO
Co-Sports Editor
Oregon Daily Emerald

Various Oregon newspapers, the Oregonian included, have printed stories describing this year's Webfoots as the "midding-sized Oregons, no longer the Tall Fir Oregons."

Such phrases as these might very easily lead the average out-of-Eugene hoop fan to think that Coach Hobby's 1939-40 Ducks are just "lil fellows" in comparison to the giants of last year. And this is not so.

In fact, through some peculiar statistics coincident, they average exactly the same as last year's champions, 6 feet, 2 1-5 inches each. Believe it or not, or figure it out for yourself by checking with Bruce Hamby's masterpiece, the new basketball Duck Dope.

True, this year's club has no one quite as tall as Slim Wintermute, who towered nearly into the stratosphere (six feet eight inches), although Hank Anderson measures six seven. But neither does it have anyone as short as Bobby Anet, who, if you remember, was only five-eight.

Figures Don't Lie

Just to prove our point, we'll do a little mathematical figuring. Last year's champions:

Duck Mermen Meet Frosh

Varsity, Frosh Grid Stars Get Awards

Oliver Recommends 27 Players,
Warren 32; Eight Seniors Earn
White Sweaters and Blankets

By DON C. CAWLEY

Football letter awards were recommended yesterday for 27 varsity men and 32 freshman players. The announcement was made by Coaches Tex Oliver and John Warren.

An even dozen of the varsity gridders recommended for letters have completed their college eligibility. Eight of the seniors received their three-stripe sweaters, and four others were given their second varsity letter.

Three-stripe men and blanket winners were Denny Donovan, quarterback, Portland; Frank Emmons, fullback, Beaverton; "Jack-rabbit Jay" Graybeal, Pendleton; Elroy Jensen, tackle, Eugene; Merle Peters, tackle, Portland; Vic Reginato, end, Klamath Falls; Bob (Sooner) Smith, halfback, Medford; and Cece (Ox) Walden, guard, La Grande.

Second Awards

The seniors who received their second year awards were Steve Anderson, halfback; Jim Cadenasso, center; Frances Nestor, guard; and Ernie Robertson, guard.

Other two stripe winners were Chet Haliski, quarterback; "Smilin' Jake" Jacobsen, center; Allan Samuelson, center; Marshall Stenstrom, fullback; and Jim (all-coast) Stuart, tackle.

'Iron Man' Honors Go To Robertson

Ernie Robertson, 200-pound left guard from Eugene, captured "Iron Man" honors on the 1939 Oregon football squad, statistics reveal.

Robertson, who completed his three years of competition this fall, played 416 out of a possible 480 minutes. He turned in the full 60 minutes against three opponents, Stanford, California, and Gonzaga, and missed only 11 minutes in games against USC and UCLA.

Next in line for the most playing time was Jim Stuart, all-coast tackle, who had 401 minutes and two 60-minute games. Vic Reginato, end, played 365 minutes; Jim Cadenasso, center, 347 minutes; and Cece Walden, guard and "iron man" last year, 317 minutes.

A total of 34 Oregon players saw action this fall, and 27 played enough to win varsity letters.

Manhattan Products

THE BUTTON-DOWN IS ON THE UP-AND-UP

The most popular collar on the American campus is the button-down. And the Button-Down, as interpreted by Manhattan, is favored by the country's best-dressed college men.

It takes a heap of skill to fashion Manhattan's Button-Down Collar-attached Shirt . . . to tailor it with such detailed and precise perfection that the neckline falls easily and casually, with that smart informality that is the very essence of the button-down idea.

Manhattan is the outstanding Button-Down for class and campus wear. See it . . . in rugged oxfords and other appropriate fabrics, at your local store for men.
