

For Women Only

By MARGE FINNEGAN

First off, we must give more orchids to the Scabbard and Blade boys for the super job of decorating they did on the Igloo Saturday night. One could almost forget for the first time in many years that it was the same place in which basketball games were witnessed last week. They really did the trick of concealing "ye old gym." The ballroom looked as nice as any in this part of the country.

Lip-Lights Clever
Have you heard about the new business venture Don Walker and Gene McGee are inaugurating? These Theta Chis have quite a corporation from what we are told. Their super-salesmanship is supposed to make a "lip-light" part of every campus queen's date equipment. As to the nature of the product, it is a tricky little gadget about two and one-half inches long containing a lipstick, and with an illuminated band around the base—to enable coeds to put lipstick on in the dark. It's quite an invention! (This unsolicited plug will net the writer a free one trust.)

Sorry to Scoop!
We do hope that "Hairless Joe" Bryant and "Curb Cruiser" Rogers won't mind our infringing on their territory this week with the woman's page exclusive scoop of the Norwood-Davis pin planting. (Or at least we hope it will still be exclusive from them by the time this page appears.)

Lost and Found
Poor Glenn Hasselrooth, of Emerald staff fame, spent several miserable hours Monday trying to find his pal, Johnny Koppen, of "feminine secret-sorrow" fame. It seems that they had parted late Sunday evening with everything

Reception For Neumann

In honor of Fritz Neumann, Czechoslovakian violinist who will appear with the University symphony orchestra Wednesday night, a reception has been arranged by members of Mu Phi Epsilon, honor society for upperclass women in music. Mrs. Hal Hardin is chairman.

The event will be held Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock in alumni hall. In the receiving line will be Mr. and Mrs. Rex Underwood, Dean and Mrs. Theodore Kratt, and Mrs. Hal Hardin.

Pouring will be Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher, Madame Rose McGrew, Miss Maud Densmore, and Mrs. R. T. Burnett. Members of Phi Beta, women's music and drama honorary, will assist, and members of Mu Phi Epsilon will present a musical program.

Newsy Notes Of Events

Sigma Chi fraternity and Phi Beta Chi sorority exchanged dinner dates Wednesday night. Zeta Tau Alpha honored faculty members Wednesday night at a preference dinner-dance. Preference dinner-dances were held at Sherry Ross hall and Zeta hall Wednesday evening. Tonight the Phi Sigma Kappas will play hosts at a housemother's banquet to which all the housemothers on the campus have been invited. It is to be a formal occasion.

Orides entertained 44 of their total membership of 80 in a banquet held Monday night; greenery around the room gave a spring theme with yellow and white candles also helping to provide the spring atmosphere; Miss Janet Smith gave a brief talk, reviewing the history of Orides and Mrs. Mary B. Farr was elected the new sponsor of the group.

Many Desserts Scheduled

Desserts scheduled and held this Wednesday include: Chi Omega Alpha Tau Omega; Sigma Alpha Epsilon-Kappa Kappa Gamma; Campbell Co-op - Hilyard Co-op; Canard club-Alpha Delta Pi; Phi Delta Theta-Gamma Phi Beta; Phi Gamma Delta-Kappa Alpha Theta; Pi Kappa Alpha-Alpha Phi; Theta Chi-Alpha Omicron Pi; Sigma Nu-Delta Gamma; Sigma Phi Epsilon-Alpha Chi Omega; Delta Upsilon-Sigma Kappa.

Winter Dances Fill Weekend

The Eugene hotel will be the scene of the Alpha Omicron Pi annual Winter dinner-dance, featuring Art Holman's orchestra. Light effects and palm trees will provide the right atmosphere for such an occasion.

A secret to the public are the Kappa Kappa Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta annual winter dances, Saturday night. Curt Sykes will provide music for the Kappa dance which is to be held at the Osborn hotel and Don Nance, an Oregon State college orchestra, will be featured at the Gamma Phi formal. The annual winter dance at the Delta Delta Delta chapter house will be the scene of costumed figures Saturday night.

Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon are to be hosts at their annual winter formal dinner-dance Friday. Guests will dine at the Coon Chicken Inn and from thence will dance at the Osburn hotel. No particular theme has been arranged, but their color scheme is to be in their house colors, purple and gold. Maurie Binford will supply music.

John Straub memorial hall will be the scene of the formal winter inter-dormitory dance Saturday night. Maurie Binford will supply music at the Valentine dance and the proverbial red hearts and arrows will predominate the decoration motif.

Sigma Alpha Mu is holding its formal at the Eugene hotel with Art Holman's orchestra Saturday night. Favors will be given in grab-bag style. The dance is to be held in honor of new initiates.

"Valentine Day" will also be the theme of the Beta Theta Pi formal Saturday with music furnished by Bob Calkins. "In Reversia" is to be the theme of Canard club's dance Friday night, with decorations in keeping with the theme. The Chi Psi informal radio dance has been set for Saturday night.

A preference dinner-dance will be held Saturday night by Zeta Tau Alpha. A sprig theme of colorful flowers will provide gay atmosphere.

Co-ops To Hold Tea Sunday

Something a little different in the line of teas, is that which is to be given on the sun porch of Gerlinger hall at 6 p.m. Sunday by all six cooperative houses.

Approximately 200 people are expected. Those in charge of the affair are: Ray Grant, Evelyn Kirchofer, Ehrman MacFaddin, Aida Brun, Floyd Bowling, and Florence Walta. Miss Janet Smith will be the guest of honor and will give a short talk on cooperatives. Ken Erickson, president of Campbell co-op, will act as toastmaster in introducing the speaker, and the program.

'Night Must Fall' Starts Friday

The new University production, "Night Must Fall," is proving a big drawing card to University townspeople. This play will be presented Friday, Saturday, and Tuesday nights in the University theater in Johnson hall.

Dress of the Week

A pretty picture in ping was JEAN BURT, who danced at the military ball in a sheer chiffon formal, with glistening seed pear trim.

Jean's dress had a fitted bodice, edged in seed pearls, with narrow straps of the same trim. The back was cut low, joined to a full flowing chiffon skirt.

To complement this attractive gown, Jean wore an orchid, silver sandals, and a pearl bracelet.

Ad Women Point Out Opportunity

Oregon students are letting worthwhile opportunities slip through their fingers, Gamma Alpha Chi, women's national advertising honorary, announced recently. Each year the dean of women's office receives notice of numerous contests, scholarships, and fellowships open to University students, and each year such contests gather dust but gain no recognition.

Gamma Alpha Chi members have undertaken to investigate them, and the following is an outstanding: Vogue's Prix de Paris, an annual contest for senior women in accredited colleges, is designed to discover those with writing ability and a flair for fashion. Eight awards are offered of which three are career prizes, including a special Vanity Fair writing award; five are cash prizes; and the rest, honorable mentions. Vogue offers a year's employment, six months to be spent in Paris if world conditions permit, for first prize.

Personnel Training
Fellowships for training in personnel administration are offered by Radcliffe college for women preparing for such positions. Two awards of $600 each are available. Tobi-Coburn school for fashion careers offers five fashion scholarships, each covering a year's tuition of $700.

Two national competitive scholarships for a special course for college women are being announced by Katherine Gibbs schools, each to include a year's tuition in any one of the three schools and $300 in cash. Awards will be made to the two applicants having superior academic records, personal qualifications, and fitness to profit from secretarial training.

Graduate Award Offered
Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity offers three $500 awards for graduate study, open to women who have received a bachelor's degree or will receive it before July 1 of this year. These are customarily awarded one in science, one in some branch of the arts, and one in the field of human relations.

Fellowships have been established by Smith college for the encouragement of advanced work in various departments of study. These cover graduate tuition and board and residence during the year. Applications must be submitted before March 1. Bryn Mawr college graduate school offers fellowships to women who have done at least one year of graduate work in various fields.

Women's Physical Education club will stage another recreation tomorrow night in Gerlinger hall. Indoor courts will be available for badminton, outdoor courts for social dancing, and the pool for a social swim.

An answer to the college girl's prayer for individuality and practicality in a frock, is this one with a satin striped blouse topping the navy blue crepe skirt. The square yoke sports red stars and navy blue bands the high round neck. A full gathered skirt makes it ideal for dancing.

Story of Artists' Ball One of Evolution

By PAT ERICKSON
Strictly art school, strictly costume, strictly everything but strict, they say, the annual art school Beaux Arts ball is booked for Friday night at the Anchorage.

But Beaux Arts balls did not just happen. They evolved. In 1922, a Bohemian affair was sponsored by the art school at the Anchorage (its timbers were stronger then). That started the ball rolling for art school affairs.

Libe: Best Place to Not Study
By ADELE CANADA
Conversation heard at the library:
"I dropped in at the libe the other day. You see I saw my mid-term grades and decided to begin studying. Well, I was all business..."

Woodsen Shoes Again
"Someone with wooden shoes started down the aisle. That postponed studying a little longer. After the thundering herd passed, I saw Janie. We talked a while, until the boy with the glasses (I think he must be a Phi Beta) joined the girl who stares (I'm sure that she's a German spy) and they both began to give Janie and me dirty looks. That was too much. We went out for a cigarette."
"The cigarette really refreshed"

Bette Norwood, New Campus Queen Likes to Travel, Ride

By CORRINE WIGNES
"Monarch of all she surveyed," Bette Norwood rules at the Military ball last Saturday night, after being commissioned Little Colonel. The lovely Tri Delt, clothed in the royal robes, led her grand march, escorted by Chancellor F. M. Hunter, and graciously accepted the unexpected honor.

Scoop!
Wednesday, shortly after her interview with this reporter, the queenly Bette left to meet Sam Davis, wearing, for the first time, his Kappa Sigma fraternity emblem.

Bette is five feet four and a half inches tall, wears her dark hair becomingly short, and has dreamy hazel eyes. A junior major in sociology, she is barely 21.

To Be Social Worker
Born on a ranch near Jamison, in eastern Oregon, the latest Little Colonel attended St. Teresa's academy for girls, at Boise, Idaho. She has always been interested in social work and after entering the University decided to specialize in welfare cases.

"After I graduate," she said, "I intend to do welfare work in the slums section of some large city." As a member of last year's all-star basketball coeds, Bette made

Frilliness Returning To Favor

"Accent on femininity" is the watchword for all souls who go on bravely planning their spring wardrobe in the midst of February downpour. It always gives one a foolish feeling to sash into downtown stores, almost totally concealed by raincoat, hood, and even galoshes, and ask about pastel and print dresses! But it's high time to think of such matters, and one can't help being excited with the inspirational things that are coming in each day.

SUITS... tailored suits go soft, and feminine detail dates them strictly 1940 models... there are link-button, double-breasted, and cardigan styles, but the most unusual is the jerkinet... squared shoulders, and straight lapels lined with contrasting wool and buttoned back make it the smartest of the lot... satin binding is being used on nine suits out of ten with trapezoidal embroidery getting due popularity...

Likes to Travel
Traveling is one of this popular brunette's favorite summer pastimes. Last summer she visited Nova Scotia with her father and before that had journey to Mexico, Canada, and through various parts of the United States. She also likes to ride horseback, says was "practically raised on one."

Bette is a member of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary, and last year was elected to Kwama, sophomore women's service honorary. She also is rushing chairman of her sorority. "Any spare time I have," she added, "I spend reading, am, especially fond of classics, but also read novels."
