

DUCK TRACKS

By GEORGE PASERO Co-Sports Editor Oregon Daily Emerald

If just three or four or five of those 44 field goal attempts the Oregon's cut loose with in the first half of Saturday night's Beaver battle had been good, our friends, the Orangemen, might still be trying to catch Mr. Will Webfoot.

Certainly, Coach Hobby's boys got the shots... just as they did against Washington State. But unfortunately, the Ducks didn't have their shooting clothes on.

Of course, close Beaver checking had something to do with the poor percentage posted by the Ducks. But the fact remains that Oregon did get shots, and only an off night and a tendency to "tie up" kept Hobby's boys from dropping a few beauties.

Both clubs played good defensive ball, although the offense was not comparable. In the first period, the Ducks were very stingy with open shots, allowing the Beavers just one close up, lay-in try, which the Staters sank.

Still A Chance Oregon, for her part, had four crimples, and made two of them good... for only a .500 percentage.

The second half was a bit different, with John Mandic swinging through the key for one-handers... 13 points the tall sophomore collected in this final drive to Orange victory, all in the second period.

But if the Orecons had been hitting anywhere near the .300 mark (which they are very capable of doing), instead of the low .118, the Beavers would have had to do some tall firing to close the gap.

There's still a chance for the Ducks in this northern division race, but it's a darn hard chance. In order to tie the Beavers, Oregon cannot lose another game.

Hi Ho, Captain Dick! A sky-rocketing hi ho to Captain Dick Anderson and his John Day Valley Rangers!

If you don't know who the Rangers are, you just haven't been watching John Warren's plenty potent frosh in action, that's all. The Rangers are John's third team, a group of boys who take over in the last two or three minutes of a game after the frosh regulars have piled up a comfortable lead.

They aren't big enough or good enough for first or second string duty, but they can play at lot of rip-smorting, fast break basketball... and what's more they're a faithful bunch of boys, always out for practice when Warren calls one and always learning.

It was the third straight win for Oregon State over Oregon this season.

Send Us In, Coach! In the last few games, Warren has told his regulars to go out and build up a lead, so the Rangers could get into the game a minute or two.

When the regulars do pile up an advantage on an opponent, and the game's end is nearing, John Warren looks far down the bench to the Rangers. "Are your Rangers ready, Anderson?" he asks.

"We're ready, Coach," excitedly calls back Anderson as the Rangers peel off sweat shirts.

"Well, get in there then," orders John.

They don't have regular uniforms, the Rangers don't. But that doesn't matter so long as they get a few minutes of action. And thus far, they haven't done badly in games, keeping the opponents in check.

Washington State kept its slight hope of finishing the race in a tie with the league-leading Oregon Staters when they defeated Washington at Pullman by a 49 to 44 score.

The Cougars still hold a mathematical chance of tying the Beavers if they can win all of their remaining games, two with Oregon, another with the Huskies, and one with Idaho, while the Staters are dropping their three remaining games.

Washington State finishes the season playing three games on their home court while Oregon State must meet Washington at Seattle in two games, and play a tough one at Corvallis against the Webfoots.

By KEN CHRISTIANSON Oregon State's basketball machine rolled relentlessly on in its drive toward the Pacific coast conference championship, northern division title, following a 33 to 27 victory Saturday night in McArthur court over University of Oregon, defending titlists.

Slate's Gill's Beavers need either one victory over Oregon again Friday night or lacking that, two victories over Washington to earn the right to meet the California winner in the playoffs.

Both clubs played good defensive ball, although the offense was not comparable. In the first period, the Orecons were very stingy with open shots, allowing the Beavers just one close up, lay-in try, which the Staters sank.

Form Reversal

Saturday night's performance was an exact reversal of form for Oregon. Several times the Webfoots brought the ball down the floor only to lose it to Oregon State. They were off on their shooting, too.

Oregon State, in the meantime, made 11 of their 39 attempts good for a .279 percentage. In the first half neither team hit the basket with any degree of proficiency.

Vic Townsend put Oregon ahead early in the game, a 2 to 1 advantage, which the Ducks relinquished after eight minutes of the second half had gone by.

John Mandic Scores Early in the second half John Mandic, game's high scorer, pried himself loose from his man and scored his 13 points from in the keyhole.

Only in the last four minutes of the game did the Beaver quit drive. Then it was to raise its margin, leaving the Webfoots trailing behind.

John Mandic of Oregon State and Marshik of Oregon were outstanding.

Theta Chi 'Bs', ATO Teams Win Playoff Hoop Contests; Phi Sig Five Drops Finns

By BERNIE ENGEL

Alpha Tau Omega narrowly edged the Duds, 31 to 24, in a game that was much closer than the score indicates, and Phi Sigma Kappa staged an upset in pouncing the Finns, 17 to 10, as the first "A" intramural basketball playoffs were completed yesterday.

ATO 31, Duds 24

ATO drove hard to lead at the first quarter, 11 to 8, but was behind from then on until the last half of the final frame.

Arba Ager of the Duds opened the scoring with a swisher from midcourt. Jay Graybeal matched the shot with a pusher to knot the count at 2-all.

ATO 37, Yeomen 30 The smooth passing, blue-shirted ATOs grabbed the lead ten seconds after the start of their contest with the taller Yeoman quintet and never relinquished their advantage at any time during the four quarters of fast action.

It was bespectacled Bob MacDonald, ATO center, who led his team in their march to the semifinals. The Yeomen's big threat came in the final quarter as they slashed a 30 to 17 ATO lead down to seven points.

Jensen of the losers was the high scorer of the contest with eleven points, most of them coming in the first half. MacDonald was high for the tong with 10, followed by Payne with 8.

Theta Chi 13, Chi Psi 7 A second quarter spurt in which they scored 9 points gave the Theta Chi "B" players a 13 to 7 win over the Chi Psi five in a playoff for the championship of league five.

It took four and a half minutes of play in the ragged contest before Mansfield of the Chi Psi could come through with the first score of the game.

The final 3 minutes of the game found the victors employing a successful stall, which led to rough-house tactics by both teams in fighting for the ball.

Frosh Avenge Only Loss, Trip Longview, 47-27

Taylor, Sidesinger Spark Ducklings' Sixteenth Win

The Duckling's slate is clean. John Warren's frosh cleared all accounts Saturday by overwhelming Longview high, 47 to 27. The win avenged a previous defeat by the Lumberjacks, the only loss suffered by the frosh this season, and was their 16th victory in 17 starts.

For the second time in as many days it was second half drive that won for the yearlings. Fighting gamely in the first half, the preppers twice tied the score, and it was late in the period before the frosh pulled away.

The second half, however, was a repetition of the rook game the day before, as the frosh swept over the tiring Longview team. The Ducklings bombarded the Longview net and, with reserves mopping up, pulled away to a comfortable lead.

Handicapped by lack of height, the Lumberjacks turned in a smooth-passing, clever game, easily the outstanding shown here by a prep team. Inches shorter than the frosh, Longview was never outfought during the game.

It was Warren Taylor who collected high point honors for the Ducklings in a parade which saw the whole squad in action. Taylor with eight points, was trailed by Sidesinger with seven.

For Longview, Andrews collected seven points to lead Graham with Witt, who had five apiece.

Webfoot Tankmen Swamp WSC, Idaho

Webfooters too fast in water—Defeat Vandals, 64 to 11. Ducks swamp Cougar team—Oregon swimmers triumph, 65 to 9.

Those were the headlines carried over the weekend by Oregon and Idaho papers describing the complete sweep Coach Russ Cutler's swimming team made on its road trip meets Friday and Saturday over University of Idaho and Washington State college.

The Oregon mermen, termed by an Idaho sports writer as the Webfoots who proved the aptitude of their nickname, won first place in every race or diving contest on the two-meet road trip.

The stiffest competition on the tour was offered by Idaho swimmers who finished second in two events and third in five events for a total of 11 points.

WSC didn't even fare as well as the Vandals. The Cougars took second in one race and third in six events for a 9-point total.

Oregon pulled the unexpected in the meets at Moscow and Pullman by entering men in races who hadn't even swam in those events this year. The biggest surprise was Cutler's entering Al Sandner, husky diver, in the 300-yard medley team with Ralph Lafferty and Sperm Wetmore.

Jack Dallas and Sperm Wetmore, the record-smashers of the Webfoot club, even changed events in the meet and won freestyle races. Coach Cutler was so satisfied with the showing of his proteges against the WSC and Idaho teams that returned from the trip all smiles.

Oregon personnel on the trip included Ralph Lafferty, Sperm Wetmore, Jerry MacDonald, Dick Smith, Jim Marnie, Jack Dallas, divers Ralph Cathey and Al Sandner, Coach Cutler, and Manager Jimmy Selders.

Webfoot water splashers immediately opened preparations last night for the coming dual meet, also the last of the season, with the Oregon State swimmers at Corvallis, Saturday, February 24.

Pete Riley, an Oregon boxer, meets Phil Lane, veteran Oregon State welterweight ringman, in a three-round exhibition in the Salem armory ring Friday night. The bout is a return match. Last year Lane won a close decision from the chunky Webfoot.

Hobby Calls Batterymen

Prospective batterymen for this year's University of Oregon baseball team have received orders from Coach Howard Hobson to be gin limbering up indoors this week.

There will be no regular practice until after the basketball team completes its Inland Empire trip, which will keep Hobson, who coaches both sports, away from the campus.

The baseball coach, whose team won the northern division championship last year, has asked all pitchers and catchers to report to him some time this week before they begin workouts.
