

International Relations Club to Meet Here Friday, Saturday

Round Table Discussions Head Program

Registration for Affair to Begin Late Thursday

By WES SULLIVAN

Students and faculty members interested in international affairs, whether affiliated with the International Relations club or not, are invited to attend the meetings of the northwest conference of the IRC to be held on the campus Friday and Saturday, according to Dean Victor Morris of the business administration school, adviser of the University chapter.

Attention is especially called to the round table discussions to be held from 10:30 to 12 and 1:30 to 3 Friday, and 9:30 to 11 Saturday morning. Delegates to the convention will present papers to the assembly and discussion will follow. Students may attend any one of the five sessions.

Subjects Listed

"The System of Future World Security," "American Foreign Policy, Isolation, Neutrality, or Cooperation?" "Peace in the Western Hemisphere," "The Far East and the Present World War," and "Democracy, Can It Survive?" are the subjects to be discussed.

Delegates will begin arriving Thursday afternoon and will register at the Faculty room of Friendly hall. The registration booth will be open from 5 to 9 Thursday and from 9 to 10 Friday morning.

Students wishing to purchase tickets for the Friday and Saturday luncheons or the banquet Friday night can get them at the registration booth or at Dean Morris' office.

Miss Jones to Speak

Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, division assistant for the Carnegie endowment, sponsors the IRC movement, will speak at the opening meeting of the conference Friday morning at 10.

The speaker at the luncheon Friday at 2:15 will be G. Bernard Noble, professor of political science at Reed college.

Andre Philip, professor of economics and finance at the University of Lyon, France, will be the featured speaker at the banquet

Friday night to be held at St. Mary's Episcopal church, 166 E. Thirteenth street.

Cooperation from students in finding housing facilities for the delegates is urged by Bill Grant, president of the local club.

Early Arrivals At Game Play Pinochle, Bridge

About four basketball games ago, a trio of boys decided to come to the game early, and, to help speed the time away, brought along a deck of pinochle cards.

At the Oregon-Oregon State basketball game of Saturday last, many people apparently had the same idea, and consequently many decks of pinochle cards appeared. Even on the feminine side of McArthur court card decks were in evidence, but bridge was the popular time-killer over there.

So you suppose that maybe someday instead of the customary bleachers they will install card tables?

Writes for Magazine

In his article in the current issue of the Journal of Sociology and Social Research, Dr. Samuel Haig Jameson, professor of sociology, proposes a correspondence course to help mothers to better understand problems of their daughters at institutions of higher education.

Closer interaction between parents and teachers, would help solve many difficulties, the article states.

Duck Tracks

Wednesday afternoon they (the Rangers) have scheduled a practice game with University high at the latter's gym at 5 o'clock . . . and as Anderson says, his club will fast break.

Who are the Rangers? Anderson, of course, and Baldy McKeivitt, Suitcase Simpson, Bill McMahon, and Dean Van Lydegraf.

Short Skat's . . .

Coach Russ Cutler's swimming team is really mopping up the conference. . . . The Ducks beat Idaho, 64 to 11, and Washington State, 66 to 9, over the weekend on the dreaded Inland Empire trip. Victories over Oregon State and Washington were hung up earlier.

Plans and arrangements for a third barnstorming trip to New York and through the East and Middle West are being completed for next year . . . despite the fact that Oregon has lost a few ball games this year, chiefly because of relatively green material. Coach Hobson and Oregon officials feel the experienced gained by players in games against varying types of ball is very valuable.

No more sacrifice fly in the baseball code. Hereafter when a batter comes up in the clutch and poles out a long fly to score a teammate from third he will be charged with a time at bat, such is a ruling of the baseball rules committee, meeting with Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis. Last year, the sacrifice fly was restored after several years absence.

YMCA Schedules Group Meetings

Jameson to Speak; Frosh, Town Hall To Hold Discussions

In order to carry out its purpose of attempting to understand the fundamental implications of the Christian philosophy of life, the following groups of the YMCA will meet this week.

The commission on building a life philosophy, Earl Holmer chairman, will meet this evening at the home of Dr. James R. Branton at 2058 Harris street. The ultimate purpose of this group is to find some meaning, purpose, and direction in life and to find the basic Christian relation to these forces.

Jameson Speaks

Samuel H. Jameson, professor of sociology will discuss "The Practical Implications and Limitations of Our Civil Liberties" before members of the commission of political, social, and economic problems at the YMCA lounge tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Don Walker is chairman of this group.

Freshmen Meet

The frosh discussion group will hold its weekly meeting at 7:30 o'clock in the YM Hut but the definite line of business has not been announced. The meeting is open to both men and women students at the University.

The governing body of the YMCA, the student executive council, will meet at 8:45 o'clock following the frosh discussion group. All cabinet members are requested to be present.

The Town Hall discussion group under the direction of Frank McKinney, chairman of the group, will meet at the Town Hall meeting of the Air. The group will meet at 6:30 o'clock to listen to the radio and then following that the debate is discussed by the students with Paul Sutley, executive secretary of the Y, leading.

Gleemen Sing

six-part John Stark Evans arrangement for the Gleemen, taken from a secular carol from Rimsky-Korsakov's opera, "A Christmas Night."

"One Who Yearned Alone"—Tchaikowsky's melody, usually called "None But the Lonely Heart."

"Carnival"—A Russian mazurka.

"Suomi's Song"— Sometimes called the "America" of Finland sung as a salute to a brave and friendly people in their hour of stress.

"Irish Love Song"—(Mavourneen) Margaret Lang's Irish ballad in an arrangement by Mr. Evans, featuring the tenor of Joe Clark Keever.

"There Was a Crooked Man"—a laughing song arranged as accompaniment to a piano solo by Cora Moore Frey.

"Liebestraum"— Mr. Evans' seven-part arrangement of Liszt's immortal ballad, with baritone and tenor solos and duets.

"Lord, I Want Two Wings"—a traditional melody adapted as a negro spiritual with seven incidental solos by various Gleemen.

"Down by the Old Bayou"—a descriptive negro spiritual.

"Let Me Be Born Again"—Mr. Evans' own arrangement of Victor Young's song, featuring Lester Deady's baritone voice.

prohibitive as far as starting new houses is concerned, he pointed out.

Women on the campus have local sororities but do not live in them. Mortar Board is one of the oldest women's sorority groups there, and the one to which Dean Gilkey's wife belonged.

Most of the Chicago students live in apartment houses, the dean said. Fifty-nine per cent of the students are self-supporting.

One of the problems Dean Gilkey is currently concerned with is that of the interference of radio programs to church attendance. While he feels that the programs broadcast from the Rockefeller memorial chapel benefit thousands, others say that religious programs detract from church attendance, in that people can hear better music and famous preachers and will stay at home to hear them. "But I get hundreds of letters from people who listen to the program," he said.

Dean Gilkey is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Browsing Room Head Has Idea for Display

A letter in a recent copy of the Saturday Review of Literature gave Miss Sawyer of the browsing room a good idea for a display.

The letter follows, in which 17 books are mentioned. Smart students are asked to read it and see how many they can spot. Miss Sawyer then invites them over to the browsing room for a check up.

Letter Given

"Sir: Let me register a plea that some publisher start the way back to novels and biographies not longer than 400 pages. How long before the wind changes and the strange interlude during which the reading public eagerly grabbed books of 600 to 1200 pages has gone with the wind.

"If the publishers could know what people said on Main street

as well as on Wimpole street they would know that Babbitt is lined up against Anthony Adverse to overlong literary efforts.

Short Works Better

"Why, on the good earth, do they not see that the short works are better suited to time and the river, and that while the average reader may enjoy spending forty days in one book it really applies to only once in a lifetime.

"There's bound to be less honey in the horn for the publishers when "Book of the Month" means it will take a month to read the book. My prayer for tomorrow is that the publishers will have pity for women readers and give us shorter novels so that after wakeful night over Taos, we can sleep in peace."

Leland Lovelace, Phoenix, Arizona.

Betty Brown Gets Fellowship Award For Year of Study

Betty Brown, senior law student at Oregon, has been awarded a fellowship by the American Association of University Women.

The fellowship, worth $1200, is awarded every three years by the association, and may be used by the winner to study at any institution she chooses.

The board which made the award for the association has as chairman Mrs. Beatrice Walton Sackett of the State Board of Higher Education. Members include Dr. Kate Jameson, dean of women at Oregon State college; Mrs. Maida Bailey of Reed; Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women at the University of Oregon; Dr. Helen Beryl of Willamette, and Miss Beryl Holt, state president at Salem.

and came out ahead at the end of the period.

Graybeal made three baskets to lead the first-quarter scorers.

The Duds settled down in the following frame to post a 17-16 halftime lead. Speedy Bun Hodgen, Dud captain, sank an archless two-hander from midcourt to provide a thriller in one of the season's hardest-fought contests.

Coming down from a jump ball, Graybeal's eye met an upthrust fist; result: a bleeding face wound forced Jay to the showers.

The Duds led, 23 to 20, as the last quarter started. Mann boosted the lead another point as he canned a foul shot. From then on, in rapid-fire succession, Scott, Miller, and Ralph Dunn cast off to put ATO ahead 26 to 24. Stafford was then given two free throws; he sank one and chose to take the ball out of bounds instead of shooting the second.

With 30 seconds to go, Stafford and Jack Dunn tossed in field goals to make the ATO lead total 7 points.

Phi Sigs 17; Finns 10

Holding the Norsemen scoreless during the entire second half, the Phi Sigs uncovered a surge of power as they set press box tongues wagging with their victory over the highly-touted Finns.

The score was 5-all at the quarter and 10-all at the half; from there on the Finns could try only long shots, none of which connected, as the Phi Sig defense tightened. Each team lost a man on fouls in the fourth, Wyatt being dropped from the winners' lineup and Urell leaving the Finn roster.

the women as shown by their $187,700 in relation to the women's $91,000.

Dr. Aitchison expressed the belief that this estimate is too low, as not enough returns have come in looking as if the entire expenditures had been recorded. "Some people have never been to show or had a coke for over a year," she said. Another element entering into the low estimate is the downward change in price levels since 1929, which was the peak.

This survey is being conducted on a cross section of University students and the returns reflect what should be an average of the expenditures of the campus as a whole. One out of every ten students is being contacted.

seemed like the jump from one side of a small ditch to the other; today it is like standing at the edge of the Grand Canyon, Dean Gilkey said.

But like the Golden Gate bridge, he said, which spans the greatest distance yet known to man, the simple fundamental of man's need for God and God's love for man spans the greater jump in the field of religion.

Preceding Dean Gilkey's talk, John Stark Evans of the music faculty gave a short organ recital.

Ski Film to Be Shown With French Movie

Accompanying the French movie, "Les Perles de la Couronne" will be "Ski Pilots," a one-reel sound film, it was announced Monday by Miss Maxine Winniford, graduate assistant of Romance languages. The show will be presented Wednesday in 207 Chapman hall.

"The Pearls of the Crown," English title of the picture, is a mystery play dealing with the theft of the crown jewels. Tracing the clues of the stolen jewels takes the characters through most of Europe and covers a wide range of French, English, and Italian history from Catherine de Medici through the time of Madame Du Barry, and Queen Victoria on up to the present day.

Anyone wishing to attend the movie may secure tickets from members of the Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, or room 216, Friendly hall. Admission charges friendly hall. Admission charge will be 25 cents.

Bishop Dagwell Talks Here Today

Bishop Dagwell of Portland will be the guest speaker at the Westminster house Tuesday noon today. The luncheon starts promptly at noon and costs 25 cents.

Mrs. Bryant, hostess of Westminster house, asks that those wishing to come and hear Bishop Dagwell make reservation early in order to assure a place and food.

Bishop Dagwell will be in charge of the communion service for Episcopal students Wednesday morning between 7 and 8 in the men's lounge in Gerlinger hall. For those who would like to see him, Bishop Dagwell will be in the men's lounge between 2:30 and 5. Special appointments for this period or another may be made through Miss Helen Lyles, student director.

Following the regular Lenten service at 7:30 at St. Mary's Episcopal church Wednesday evening, the student group will meet informally with Bishop Dagwell. He will also be at the Friday open house for students at Miss Lyles' home from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Library to Sponsor Birthday Contests

In conjunction with Library day, May 3, and the celebration at the same time of the third anniversary of the library, the library will sponsor two contests, one to find the best student library, the other for a poster to advertise the occasion.

Two prizes, one for $15 and the other for $7.50, are to be given for the best personal library belonging to an undergraduate student registered in the University.

Entries are to be made April 29, at the librarian's office.

Prizes consist of books selected by the winners, the orders to be placed through the University library.

The library also offers two awards of $5 and $2.50 in books May 3 for the best poster drawn by a student. Entries should be in the library office by May 2.
