Only Three Will Go to Yale

LAST night an enlightened sophomore class voted $100 for the Oregon all-American swimmer fund. The interfraternity council came through with $50.

At the same time it was reported that half the houses on the campus had gone 100 per cent on tag sales. Many tag buyers had contributed more than the ten-cent minimum. Volunteer contributions of $5 to $10 continued to find their way into the campaign chest. All of which would seem to indicate a unified spirit in favor of an Oregon representation in the Yale pool at the end of the month.

But regardless of the present success of the campaign it must not be forgotten that there is a long way yet to go. It will take $650, and the battle is far from won. Although there are no reports from outside sources which have not been tapped at all, there is no indication that these can or should be counted on.

THE time left in the term is short. Whatever is done must be done this week and next, for exams will stop the machinery as surely as fire dies in water. This simply means an immediate period of redoubled effort, then a rest upon the laurels won.

It is a satisfying feeling to see the campus take a cause like this so to heart. The response has been immediate and decided. It is evident the idea catches on. There are dozens of people working their heads off to send Wetmore, Dallas, and Macdonald to Yale, people who have nothing to gain themselves by their efforts. Verdi Sederstrom has been working like a demon on the project. And there has been no feeling between houses, for the thing has been an all-University affair, unselfish through and through.

IT is an encouraging sign when the campus unites in such a common cause, and it shows what can be done when the cause has the double strength both of being right and of appealing to student fancy.

There is a wealth of this energy lying around waiting to find an outlet. When it is possible to see where things lead support is readily forthcoming, which would seem to indicate that future appeals to undergraduate latent power should be based on equally well defined terms.

A Year in a Day

By WES SULLIVAN

1920

September 29—The Emerald has graduated into a full-fledged daily this term with issues running from Tuesday through Saturday. Previously, only three issues were put out in a week.

A new member has been added to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Allen. The son arrived September 14. "The boy has been given an additional start in life by being christened Eric William Allen Jr."

Maxwells Show Style

October 1—New Maxwells have been purchased by the Jitney Cab company according to an ad appearing in the Emerald.

October 26—The floating of a $75,000 bond issue to provide for a new building to house the school of music is announced.

October 28—The proposal that the United States join the League of Nations is not favored by the majority of University students, according to a recent survey.

Arno Dosch-Fleuret Speaks

November 23—Arno Dosch-Fleuret, noted war correspondent, will speak on the Russian problem at Gerlinger hall today.

December 4—The first issue of "Lemon Punch," University humor magazine, has 823 subscribers so far.

Oregon Loses Heat, Students

December 7—Classes in Oregon hall had to be dismissed for the afternoon as the heating plant went dead. Last year students had several unscheduled holidays for the same reason.

December 10—The honor system at the University received a serious setback today with the announcement of 29 cases of cheating discovered. One student has already been suspended.

Stanford Admission Exams Announced

Stanford admission tests will be given in room 302 Condon, Saturday, it was announced by Dr. H. R. Taylor, head of the psychology department. The admissions committee will select, partially on the basis of the examination, those students whom they think will be able to do the most satisfactory college work.

The test will be given at 9 a.m., but Dr. Taylor will also administer a similar examination in Portland March 9. The Portland examination will take place in room 310 of Lincoln high school.

Students to Have Chance to Sell Old School Books

A representative of the College Book company, a Columbus, Ohio firm, will be at the Co-op store March 6 and 7 to buy second-hand books, it was announced today by M. F. McClain, Co-op manager.

The sales will not interfere with regular Co-op used-book purchases for spring term, Mr. McClain stressed. The eastern company is invited once a year to afford students the opportunity to sell books not used here.

Campus Calendar

Father Gabriel Morris, O.S.B., of Mt. Angel will speak in Gerlinger hall at 4 p.m. today, at a meeting sponsored by the Newman club of the University

Plans Taking Shape For Annual Meeting

Final arrangements for the annual meeting of the Portland alumni association will be made this weekend in Portland, according to Elmer Fancett, alumni secretary of the University of Oregon alumni association.

Election of new Portland alumni officers will take place at the meeting to be held some time during March.

Last year's meeting was climaxed by appearance of Oregon's victorious basketball quintet enroute to the University after its eastern tour. Bill Hayward, University of Oregon track coach, was the honor guest of the banquet where he was presented with a plaque.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

A 2-minute test for telephone users

1. It's impossible for you to telephone to people in two different cities at the same time.

RIGHT ☐ WRONG ☐

2. Police Radio Telephone made by Western Electric is an outgrowth of research at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

RIGHT ☐ WRONG ☐

3. About 75% of the Bell System's 85 million miles of telephone wire is contained in cable.

RIGHT ☐ WRONG ☐

4. Lowest telephone rates to most out-of-town points are available every night after 7 P. M. and all day Sunday.

RIGHT ☐ WRONG ☐

ANSWERS:

1. Wrong. Telephone Conference Service enables you to talk simultaneously with as many as five other people.
2. Right. And that's true also of broadcasting equipment, aviation radio telephone and marine radio telephone.
3. Wrong. Over 95% is now protected by cable — nearly 3/4 of which is underground.
4. Right. Why not telephone home oftener? Your family will enjoy it — so will you!
