

Norton Booked As First Speaker

With two of the first three speakers making return engagements to the campus, assembly season will open this Thursday. Karl Ontank, dean of personnel, announced Friday.

First spring term speaker will be Robert Norton, associate editor of China Today, who will speak on some phase of Far Eastern and American relations. Norton was on the campus last term, speaking to the International Relations club and to various service clubs downtown.

Making his third appearance as a campus speaker, Kirby Page, author of a number of books on social problems, will speak April 5. Known as an outspoken opponent of war, Page will be on the campus for a two-day conference on war and peace on the 5 and 6.

A newcomer to campus audiences is Harry Elmer Barnes, the historian, educator, writer, and sociologist, to speak April 9. Barnes has been in the editorial department of the Scripps-Howard newspapers since 1929.

Weekend Queen Selections to Be Due Wednesday

Committee Makes Promotion Contacts During Vacation

Junior Weekend committee heads announced last night that all women's houses must select their choices for queen of the weekend by Wednesday, March 27. A faculty-student committee will select the queen and the four members of the royal court, the committee said.

May 10, 11, and 12 are the dates set aside for this year's junior class presentation. With the passing of each year the weekend has been assuming greater proportions, and this year's festivities will be no exception, Lloyd Sullivan, general chairman, asserted yesterday. Sullivan announced that this year's program would include a pageant honoring queens of former Junior Weekends.

Caravan Planned

A caravan headed by this year's queen will visit Portland during next month to promote the junior-sponsored event, John Cavanagh, promotion chairman, said yesterday. Spring vacation gave most University of Oregon students an opportunity to catch up on some well-needed rest, but not so with the members of the weekend committee. Sullivan and Cavanagh spent the week in Portland making all possible connections with newspapers and radio stations for weekend promotion.

The lady regent will represent the University in Portland at several occasions planned in her honor by the committee. Tentative radio appearances are also possibilities, Cavanagh stated.

Dr., Mrs. A. H. Ross Give New Zealand Material to Museum

The museum of natural history has donated some New Zealand material by Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Ross, it was revealed by Dr. L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department. The specimens were obtained by Dr. Ross during the years he practised medicine in New Zealand.

Included in the donation were two fine carved clubs from the polynesian Maori tribe. One of these is carved to represent a conventional human face in profile. The eyes are inlaid with bits of sea shell. According to Dr. Cressman it is almost impossible to secure clubs of this type at the present time.

The New Zealand collection also
