

Ehlers Reveals First Fete Plans

Junior Weekend Committees Named By Chairman

The first plans for the canoe fete, which will appear on the mill-race during Junior Weekend, May 10, 11, and 12, were made known yesterday by Fred Ehlers, canoe fete chairman.

Donna Ketchum and Pat Erickson were named co-chairmen, in charge of entertainment, continuity, music, intermission, and announcers. Miss Ketchum and Miss Erickson plan to hold tryouts for the position of canoe fete announcer. Those students interested in working for that position should contact either of the two co-chairmen, they said.

Women students are eligible to compete for the master—or mistress—of ceremonies, according to the two girls.

Discussion Set For Delegates

AWS Conference Program Features Banquet, Pageant

Highlighting the first day of the Western Sectional AWS conference—Monday, April 15—will be a series of four discussion groups, Anne Frøderiksen, AWS president, said yesterday.

The discussions will be held from 3 until 4 o'clock. The first group, dealing with independent problems, will include social programs dealing with cooperatives, off-campus, and in dormitories. Low cost housing will also be considered.

The second discussion group, entitled "Student Activities," will include good citizenship, student unions, campus standards, freshman orientation, training student officers, religion on the campus, transfer students, and honoraries.

The "Panhellenic" group will discuss publicity control, quota rushing; pre-rush vs. sophomore, cutting expenses, and the future of fraternities.

The last group named, "Vocations," will deal with careers open to women, education needed, how to apply for a job, employer's viewpoint, marriage, and a job.

The delegates will be entertained at a tea at the president's home at 5 o'clock, and Mrs. Virginia Judy Eshery, assistant to the president at Scripps college, will be honored at the 6 o'clock dinner. The representatives will then be entertained with a pageant at 8:30.

Peace Conference Plans Resumed

Action on the Kirby Page Peace conference to be held on the Oregon campus April 6 and 7 was resumed when the Kirby Page planning committee held its first meeting of the current term at the home of Earl Holmer.

A system for contacting local organizational representatives as well as campus groups was discussed. Methods of publicity were mentioned as newspaper items both local and state-wide, along with posters and announcements before local groups.

Faculty Golfers to Finish Preliminaries

Preliminary games in the faculty golf tournament must be concluded by Sunday, April 7. E. H. Moore, professor of sociology, announced.

'Stripped' of All Its Glamour'

This is a scene from "The Drunkard" given by the Very Little theater at the Lane county fairgrounds this week. The play is an old melodrama put on in years past to show the evils of drink.

Sophomore Makes Plans to Visit Europe

Then there was the college student who had the chance to quit school to go to Europe, and did.

William Van Vactor, sophomore, planning to major in law at the University of Oregon, is the student in this case. He leaves April 28 to travel to New York with his father to embark for London, England. His father, a Klamath Falls lawyer, has some business interests which he is planning to straighten out this trip.

The two will spend about three weeks or more on the voyage.

"I don't contemplate any trouble from air raids over there," says Van Vactor, "but we may have a little excitement on the sea, especially if we take a British boat."

Letters which he sends from England will have an unusual course to run before reaching their destinations in this country, he related. They will be censored in London, sent to Washington, D. C., where they will be censored again; then they will be sent to Van Vactor's home. From there they will be re-mailed to their final goal. He plans to keep Jimmy Leonard, assistant managing editor of the Emerald, posted on the events of the trip.

'Art School Digest' Makes Entrance

After two weeks' preparation, the "Art School Digest," first edition of the new art school publication, rolled off the press March 1.

Edited by Lorn Kerr, sophomore in art education, the paper is planned for bi-monthly issuance. The next edition will be a special issued next week for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the art school.

Contributors to the first edition included Bob Swan, assistant editor; Eyley Brown, Bill Merrill, Dorothy Fraser, Margueritte Campbell, Eve Cameron, and Mignon Phipps. A linoleum block, "Covered Bridge," made by Alice Mueller, was also used.

Contributions to the "Art School Digest" will be accepted from students and faculty members of the art school on topics of interest to art students and expressions of opinion.

The first paper contained an article on the art and procedure of etching by Eyley Brown, an interview with Percy P. Adams, who has been on the architectural school faculty 26 years, and various department news.

Area Chief Calls ROTC Housing Poor

That the University of Oregon ROTC buildings are the poorest in the ninth corps area, was the opinion expressed Tuesday by Colonel D. B. Crafton, chief of the area's ROTC units, who visited Oregon yesterday on his annual tour of inspection.

"Not only are the buildings a great fire hazard, but the facilities for the care of the equipment are insufficient," stated Colonel Crafton. "The University needs a modern building with an indoor fire drill hall, adequate storerooms for equipment, a modern gallery rifle range, and large, well-lighted classrooms."

Colonel Crafton was accompanied by Warrant Officer A. J. Mack, both stationed with the United States army at Presidio, San Francisco.

Orides, Yeomen Hold Installation At Gerlinger Hall

A dinner and installation of officers will be held Friday evening honoring the old and new officers of Yeomen and Orides, the independent men and women of the campus.

Marcia Judkins, outgoing Orides president and Bill Wheeler, outgoing Yeomen president, will install the newly elected officers.

The Yeomen officers are Frank Hodson, president; John Sanders, vice-president; Horace White, secretary; and Bob Carter, treasurer. New Orides officers are Rebecca Anderson, president; Carol Bird, vice-president; Iva Lee Prevett, secretary; Betty Lynds, treasurer; and Florence Anderson, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Mary Farr, Miss Janet Smith, and Mrs. Edith Siefert will be guests at the dinner. Dancing will be held in Gerlinger hall following the dinner and program.

Dill Pickle Club Has Buffet Luncheon

To raise enough money to send a delegate to the YWCA summer conference at Seabeck, Washington, the Dill Pickle club held an invitational luncheon yesterday.

The 30 girls who attended paid five cents a helping for each dish, and were served buffet style.

Dean Emerson Talks On 'Why Not Beauty' Before Art Majors

Every person has his own conception of beauty, said Dean William Emerson of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as he spoke on "Why Not Beauty?" yesterday afternoon.

As against the pure utilitarianism of modernistic architecture, Dean Emerson made a plea for beauty in building in practise as well as education. "Architecture

YMCA Discloses New Nominees

Voting to Be Held For All Members Next Tuesday

Wayne Kelty, James Updike, and Henry Carr have been named as candidates for the presidency and vice-presidency of the YMCA, the student cabinet nominating committee announced yesterday. Vieing for the position of secretary are Milton Small and Carl Zimmerman, and for treasurer are Bob Lovell and Don Walker.

Voting will take place at the University YMCA April 9, 1940, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Additional nominations may be made by submitting positions which cover 25 per cent of the voting membership. These are to be submitted no later than Friday, April 5.

An opportunity will be given to vote on a new constitution for the student association. Copies will be posted and available at the YMCA office.

Paul Sutley, executive secretary, urges that all of the members make an effort to come out and vote at the election.

loses its very soul devoid of beauty," he declared.

Dean Emerson urged education of the layman and the student in the seeking of beauty, and urged that students constantly strive toward it.
