

Anne Fredriksen Urges Hospitality As Conclave Theme

Homespun hospitality is a western specialty, and if Oregon's AWS President Anne Fredriksen has anything to say about it, a "collegized" version of that friendliness will be the theme of the regional AWS convention here this month.

"Besides a national basketball championship," Miss Fredriksen explained last night, "I found when I went east to the national women's convention last year, that Oregon is usually thought of as almost a synonym for friendliness."

The convention of women leaders from over 100 schools throughout western America will be held here April 15, 16, and 17. A full program of luncheons, discussion meetings, panel groups, formal banquets, a visit to Oregon State college—these are part of the plans for entertaining the 200 visitors.

With around 10 delegates being housed in each living organization, coeds will have a special opportunity to be friendly and hospitable, she said. Delegates with sorority affiliations here will stay with their "sisters" on this campus, while other girls will be welcomed in various other living groups.

Interesting feature of each of the meals served will be "Oregonized" favors from various local and Portland merchants.

Gladiola bulbs from southern Oregon, dried Oregon fruits, nose-gays of Willamette valley flowers, possible tiny bits of myrtlewood, and various other personalized souvenirs will be given at each of the several luncheons and banquets.

Performers Listed By Artists' Series

Names such as Fritz Kreisler, Richard Crooks, Lawrence Tibbett and Paul Robeson figure in the annual artists series announcement made by the Ellison-White bureau, Portland concert management.

These artists, all consistently popular with music-lovers throughout the state of Oregon, will be presented in Portland's public auditorium during the 1940-41 concert series. The series will get under way in October with a concert by Lawrence Tibbett.

Also listed in the new concert series are Dorothy Maynor, sensational negro soprano; Bidu Sayao, the Brazilian lyric soprano of the Metropolitan opera; and Vladimir Horowitz, noted Russian pianist.

Spanish Pianist To Arrive Here In Private Plane

Jose Iturbi Will Play For Fifth and Final ASUO Concert

Eugenians will get their first glimpse of Jose Iturbi, internationally known pianist and conductor, as he steps from his Howard plane at the Eugene airport, Monday morning.

The famed musician has traveled over 75,000 miles on professional engagements alone. It is claimed that he knows as much about his plane as he does his piano, having flown a total of 450 hours.

The Spanish pianist's appearance Monday night will mark the fifth and last attraction on the Associated Students' 1939-40 "Greater Artist" series.

He is well known in this country for his many appearances over nationwide radio hookups as well as his personal tours.

Reserve seat tickets for the concert are now on sale at the ASUO ticket office in McArthur court. Admission is free to ASUO card holders.

Five Oregon Band Members to Play At Newberg Club

Five members of the University of Oregon band will be guest players with the Newberg Women's Choral club in that city on Monday, April 8.

A woodwind quartet, composed of Don Scott, flutist, Charlotte Plummer, clarinetist, Margery Williams, bassoonist, and Ralph McKenzie, oboist, will play several numbers. Solos will be contributed by Miss Plummer and Robert Carlson, cornetist, both of whom will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Williams.

Professor on Air

W. P. Riddlesbarger, assistant professor of business administration, spoke on radio station KOAC Wednesday on the subject, "Defending Democracy." He presented the regular monthly program in the absence of Dean Victor P. Morris, who is on a speaking tour or northern Oregon.
