Calvert, instead of playing to first base. Herby Hamer followed with a single to fill the bases, whereupon Shaw walked Ager to force in a run.

Next man to face Shaw was Walden, and he came through with his triple. Walden, himself, scored a few minutes later when Shimshak, who got two for two, singled.

Ed Fitzpatrick, basketball coach, registrar, and alumni secretary of Portland university, handled the Pilots yesterday in the absence of the new Pilot mentor, Billy Garbarino. Garbarino was appointed baseball coach only yesterday morning.

Two Officers Added To Business Staff

Emerald business staff organization for spring term includes two new offices, Emerald Manager George Luoma said yesterday.

One position will be that of assistant business manager. Two day managers will hold that office, each for half a term. Selection of individuals has not yet been made.

The position of assistant advertising manager will be held by Jean Crites during the first half of the term, and Fred May during the latter half. Activity here will concern the business of regular local advertising, the most important single Emerald business function.

Symposium Team Attends Forensic League Meeting

W. A. Dahlberg, Charles Deveaux, and John Blankinship, of the speech department, are in Corvallis today and tomorrow attending a meeting of the Pacific Forensic league. The meeting started yesterday.

Mr. Dahlberg had just returned from Marshfield, where he was one of the judges of a debate between Marshfield and Grants Pass.

J. L. Casteel, director of the speech department, will speak before the Klamath Falls high school April 17. His subject is unannounced.

Secretary Will See Camp Counsellor Aspirants Friday

To interview girls for counselors at a Girl Reserve summer camp, Miss Grace Lowers, Portland Girl Reserve secretary, will be on the campus Friday, it was learned yesterday.

Formerly all the counselors have been from Oregon State, this being the second year in which leaders will be chosen from the University.

Camp Westwind on the Salmon river is the location of the summer sessions, and girls interested in teaching crafts, sports, or music are particularly in demand, it is announced.

As Miss Lowers will be here only for a limited time, candidates are asked to call the YWCA bungalow and make an appointment to see her between 10 and 1 o'clock Friday.

around the yell set-up, which has never been advanced beyond the meeting-minutes stage. His report and recommendations were approved and accepted.

On the heels of Verdi's report came discussion of the possibility of reprinting the ASUO constitution handbooks, which are by now two years or more out of date. Funds for this could come from the travel budget of the ASUO president, it was suggested by John Dick. Action on the matter was deferred to the next meeting.

In talking about constitutional revision the committee ran into the question of ASUO membership for next year. The decision will have to be reached soon as to whether the $2 activities fee should mean student body membership. Committee opinion seemed to favor 100 per cent membership, but it was felt some indication

Amphibians to Give Annual Water Show

The men's pool will be transformed into "Pleasure Island" when the Amphibians hold their annual water pageant April 15, 16, and 17, at 8 o'clock, according to the chairman and director, Martha McClung. Admission will be 25 cents.

A preview of the pageant with its girls and shipwrecked sailors will be given for the AWS convention April 11. The group participating is larger than it has ever been before.

Committee heads include: promotion, Margaret Young; tickets, Susan Huffaker; setting, Gertrude Puziss; lighting, Hope Hughes; props, Doris Klein and Helen Moore; music, Marcella Stein; programs, Mary Ellen Smith; rescue routine, Jean Haelen and Mary Ann Fox; pageant secretary, Florence Cooley; and faculty advisor, Miss Warrine Eastburn.

should be found showing general student attitude toward the $2 fee as a membership token.

The committee also decided on a resolution for different regulation of the big tennis courts, and left Jermain to work out details with Dean Leighton of the physical education school and others concerned.

The meeting marked the first appearance of Betty Buchanan, AWS president-elect, who took the place of Anne Fredericksen.

There will be another meeting in the near future.

Condon Club Sees Alaskan 'Shots'

With a background of nearly 50 years in and out of Alaska, Clarence L. Andrews, at present a freelance writer, spoke and showed slides of Alaska at a meeting of Condon club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Andrews first went to Alaska in 1892 and since that time has made 22 trips back. His talk and slides included Alaskan agriculture, transportation, animals, scenery, industries, topography, and natives.
