War No Solution, Infirmary Issues Page Declares

Democracy Unsafe When World Fights, Large Crowd Told

Declaring that all war is totalitarian and may ultimately destroy the very foundations of American democracy, Kirby Page, noted author and lecturer, yesterday urged that United States citizens act upon the knowledge that international conflict will never lead to solution of world political prob-

"If America becomes involved in the European war," Mr. Page explained, "there are five certainties that will greatly endanger the position of this country."

The speaker outlined these as leading to an over-balanced national debt, high taxes, inflation, unemployment on excessive scale, and unrest and bad temper from a possibly extra-long war. This bad temper, he said would very likely lead to a sixth certainty in the form of a civil war.

Mr. Page addressed the student body as weekly speaker at an ASUO assembly in Gerlinger hall on the subject "What Should American Patriots Do About War?" One of the largest audiences of the school year was present.

Poison Oak Warning

While attendance at the infirmary hospital has dwindled to only five patients, Dr. Marian Hayes and Dr. L. S. Porter issued a new poison oak warning

According to Dr. Hayes, Eugene's surrounding terrain harbors an "extra-potent" pariety, while Doctor Porter hazarded the hills back of Springfield and Hendricks park to be more profuse in the growth than others, as most of his patients seem to have contracted it there.

Students not particularly anxious to get poison oak would do well to refrain from using poison oak sticks for roasting weiners or for fire wood, Dr. Hayes suggested.

Pat Nickell, Rex Gardner, Grace Petermann, Mary Alderson, and Lew Surles are the sole remainders in the hospital division of the infirmary.

they will discover that the Pi Phis have partially domnated the coed athletic field for several years.

In 1938 they had the presidency The fourth annual running of the of the WAA and again this year Hayward invitational relays, fast they occupy the position. For the past two years Pi Phi has held the president's chair in the Amphibian club, women's swimming honorary. Mary Louise Vincent was elected treasurer of the swimming club, too. Last year they won the intrahouse swimming cup with Martha McClung being the outstanding paddler of the year. This year Pi sending teams to the competition. Phi came in second and Martha was runnerup for individual high point scorer.

The girls have not confined these activities in the house, but most of the offices have been occupied exclusively by members of one family, the Reisches. In 1938, Betty Reisch took over the president's responsibilities of the WAA. After an elapse of one year, Joanne Reisch ceded her Amphibian gavel to her sorority sister, Martha Mc-Clung. We hear that there is another sister, Nancy, on the campus who is already president of the Pi Phi freshman class.

Speaking of sisters following footsteps, Buck Berry has one who plays on the Los Angeles football

Crazy Colors and Cozy Clothes Catch Attention of Males

Men's Apparel Next to Politics in Interest To Campus Men; Esquire and Downtown Stores Set Styles

By NORMAN FOSTER

Next to the problem of what the "other" bloc has in store for spring political deals, comes the vital question of what the well-dressed young man about the campus will be wearing spring term.

In anticipation of this "what to wear" problem rearing its ugly head among the local manpower, a survey has been made of fashions spring and styles as featured by Esquire and the downtown stores. We be the predominate colors of men's wearing apparel come spring and that Petty doesn't have a drawing in the latest Esquire.

Generally speaking, suit and sport coats will be full with English drape shoulders. Thus, sport backs and suppression in the waist is definitely not the thing this year.

Suspenders Popular

The trousers will be tapered and should be worn right to the shoe tops. Belts are out this year, but that does not mean that men's pants will not be without visible means of support. Knitted suspenders in colors to match the pants will replace the old fashioned belts.

Also not fashionable this spring will be combination black and white shoes. Antique brown and white shoes with heavy red rubber soles will be just the thing to keep one's feet off the ground. Plaincolored socks complete the footwear department.

Lightweight sweaters will feature the softer colors of tan, green and blue. As V-neck sweaters will be all the rage, the boys will either have to wear ties or let the manly hair on their chest show over the open shirt. Vest type sweaters, without sleeves, may be had to match sport coats and slacks.

Feathers Out

The smartest thing in hats will be blue or tan soft felt hats with lower crowns and wider brims. Taking the place of the "cute" feather decorations will be hand stitching on the hat band and along the side of the brim.

A warm spring sun will influence grams.

discovered that tan and green will the boys to trod campusward sans coats. This means shirt will come in for their share of attention and also washing. Spring shirts will be had in stripes and sporting soft collars. A long point, wide spread collar will go well with suits. Comfortable with sport coats and the subsequent debonair spirit will be soft, buttoned-down collared shirts.

T-Shirts Green

The conventional and convenient T-shirts may be had in stripes. plain in tan or green, or a loosely knitted affair that may be worn by barrel chested men.

Also figure-revealing is the new hand stitched gabardine sport shirt with large floppy collars.

Recommended for picnic wear is the full cut Shetland wool beer jacket with saddle pockets. This jacket is advantageous because it does not cramp one's style like a tight-fitting sport coast and especially because it blends well with the shrubbery.

Accessories consist of key chains that sport cameo lockets; cameo cuff links, and a key chain with a three inch initial.

Therefore, to be a well dressed man spring term, you should have: a green overplaid coat with plain green slacks; tan shirt; a splashed patterned tie; brown and white shoes; maroon socks; a new Buick, and a healthy monthly allowance. If you follow these specifications, you should do all right come spring
