New Heads Appointed

Shimshak, Foster Named Chairmen Of New Committees

Jack Shimshak, business administration junior, was named promotion head, and Norman Foster, journalism sophomore, hospitality chairman of Mothers' Weekend, May 10-12, by Majeane Glover, general chairman of the affair.

The hospitality committee is a last minute innovation due to the necessity of arranging a campus tour for the mothers. Present plans for the weekend call for this tour to take place Saturday afternoon, May 11. The tentative program has been arranged by the committee and will be announced as soon as all arrangements have been made.

Marge MacLean, in charge of the banquet, announced that only 550 tickets will be issued, and that when these are gone no more may be obtained. This is necessary because of the limited seating capacity of the men's dormitory dining room, scene of the banquet.

Guild Hall Players Score Hit in 'Idiot's Delight' as Helene Parsons, Smith Star

God sat "up there" playing solitaire (idiot's delight). And down below nations were being bombed—and Irene (Helene Parsons) and Harry Van (Gerry Smith) sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" while debris fell about them.

Thus did Robert Sherwood end his biting denouncement of war, "Idiot's Delight," presented to a first night audience last night.

Rather slow starting because of the many characters to introduce, the Pulitzer prize play comes to a stunning climax in a period of dead silence following the fiery outburst of Quillery (Jerry Lakefish) denouncing the Italians for bombing Paris. Apropos to the times is this play for, as one member of the audience put it, it is almost what is happening today.

While the play revolves around the romance of Irene and Harry, much of the background and thought behind the course of the plot came from the little Communist (Jerry Lakefish) whose determination to put into words what the rest of the characters were thinking led him to his death.

Interjected at just the right times to relieve that "sunk" feeling one gets at moments (such as early this week) when wars are declared and cities are being devastated was the comedy relief of chorines. Tops in this department was the "Korn-Fed Katie From Kokomo" routine with Pat Taylor in the "starring" role and Gerry Smith, Trudy Harland, and Donna Row. This was written by Wilfred Roadman and Gerry Smith. Trudi also sang another catch tune written by Roadman. Other comedy relief was furnished by Adrian Martin as the nervous Pittaluga.

So realistic were the sound effects that at first the air raid warnings gave rise to speculation as to where the accident or fire might be. Coming unexpectedly, the actual raid found many slightly upset for a minute.

Regardless of whether or not the last bit of paint was dry when the curtain went up, the pains-taking care Horace Robinson and members of the drama department took with the set in deep blues and reds and white drew appreciative reactions from the audience.
