

Holcomb Asks For Radio Talent

Tryouts for Junior Weekend Radio Show Today

Auditions for those who wish to try out for positions on Junior Weekend radio broadcasts will be held in room 107 Friendly this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Jack Holcomb said yesterday.

Holcomb, who is in charge of preparations for the radio shows, said that the weekend committee would welcome the efforts of any student who thought he had something to offer. The broadcasts are tentatively scheduled for the first weekend in May and will be aired over radio stations KGW and KOIN in Portland and the local station, KORE.

Holcomb cited the enthusiastic cooperation of staffs of the sta-

Campus Calendar

Members of Phi Delta Theta and Pi Beta Phi sing groups are asked to be at the south end of the Music building at 7:20 tonight for the broadcast over KOAC.

Canoe fete float representatives from each living organization taking part in this year's fete will meet tonight at the home of Rex Underwood, professor of music, at 9:15. A different Strauss waltz will be assigned to each float, and plans will be studied.

Christian Science organization at the University of Oregon will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the YWCA bungalow.

tions in urging students to take advantage of the opportunity offered.

'Vagabond Poet' On Campus Today

Traveling through the country dressed in picturesque western garb, the "Vagabond Poet" is on the Oregon campus today, and will speak on poetry and prose at 4 p.m. in 108 Villard.

Oliver Waie is the name used for official purposes by this original writer. He has been likened to Edgar Allen Poe and the French poet Paul Verlaine in the style of his writing by John Cowper Powys, who is conceded to be one of the best novelists of modern times.

With Ohio as his legal home, being registered there as a voter, Mr. Waie has just come from Arizona, and is now on his way back east. His next stop will be at the University of Washington, and next at Amherst college, Amherst, Massachusetts, where he will speak before the end of the present term.

Striving for the "stamp of originality," Mr. Waie will read some of his own poetry and prose this afternoon, with half of the hour allotted to a forum or discussion. Some of his works are "Saga of Jerusalem Slim" and "Confessions of a Vagabond." At present Mr. Waie is submitting an article to Esquire entitled "Adventures Among Literary People."

The meeting is open to all students interested in creative writing.

Artist Will Show Floral Designs

Richard Molloy of Hollywood, artist and authority on flower arrangements, will give demonstrations in the pottery department of Miller's downtown store Friday and Saturday, during store hours.

Molloy is a professional artist, movie set dresser, and Rose parade float designer. He will display all types of flowers in various containers and answer questions in what he terms a "practical flower demonstration."

Women Lecturers Appear at Albany

Problems of education were discussed by members of the women's symposium squad, who addressed students of the Albany high school yesterday. Roy Vernstrom acted as chairman.

Carol Bird discussed "Who Should Go to School," Lois Nordling, "Vocational Education," Elva South, "School Administration," and Dorothy Durkee, "Cultural Education."

Sara Brown Visits

Miss Sara Brown, director of graduate school of social work at the Washington State college, was on the campus yesterday interviewing students in sociology that are interested in obtaining social work and training.

A departmental luncheon was held for Miss Brown at the Anchorage.
