

Cadet Prospects To Be Tested

Army Air Corps Board to Conduct Exam Monday at 8

The traveling examining board of the army air corps will conduct an examination of prospective flying cadets next Monday on the Oregon campus, it was announced yesterday by the ROTC headquarters. Beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning, the board will examine qualified candidates all day in room 205 in the physical education building.

Requirements for applicants are that students be male American citizens, between the ages of 20 and 27 years, unmarried, in good physical condition, and with at least two years of college education or its equivalent.

Any candidate accepted by the board, after he has been officially notified of his appointment, will be sent immediately to the nearest flying school at the government's expense.

After six months of basic training here the cadet is transferred to the air corps training center at Randolph and Kelly fields, San Antonio, Texas. At this "West Point of the Air," the student will receive six months of instruction in flying and the theory of the modern high-powered army airplanes.

After graduation from the course, the cadet is commissioned a second lieutenant in the air corps reserve.

The examining board is traveling to the 13 major colleges of the eight western states. It consists of Major Thomas W. Blackburn, Captain Steven V. Guzak, Captain Ehrling L. Berquist, and Lieutenant Frank A. Kurtz. Advance officer for the board is Lieutenant Murray A. Bywater who has been visiting the school for the past two days.

Frosh Runners

in a practice relay meet with Eugene and University high schools. Yesterday, Johns sent the team through a baton-passing practice, ordered the distance men to taper off with a few jogs, and called it a day.

Truax Comes

With Jesse Truax, state prep 100-yard dash champ of last year, anchoring the sprint relays, the Orange outfit is evidently booming its short-distance quartets. The better OSC distance men are running on the three-mile team, possibly leaving Oregon an opening in the distance medley.

Although having had no track until the last three weeks, and although they probably have no one capable of trimming Truax, Oregon's freshmen can't be said to be particularly in the under-dog role.

The frosh have a number of speedy sprinters—Ross Gearhart, Dick Ralston, Bob Rudolph to name a few—and are not too bad off in the quarter. Question mark on the squad is the caliber of the distance men who naturally were most hampered by lack of early-season conditioning.

Several of the prospective Cunninghams are out of shape as yet; Half-Milers Bob McKinney, Stan Watt and Ken Maher, and Miler Tony Nickachos, are rounding into the best form at present.

Coach Johns is lining up another meet for his charges (probably next Wednesday) against the University and Eugene high cindersmen.

Furnaces at South Dakota State college require 6,500 tons of coal during the heating season.

Plan Columbia Empire Contest

These five men were largely responsible for the Columbia Empire "Prosperity Quiz" contest in which a grand prize of $200 and several merchandise prizes will be given away to the person naming the most Columbia Empire products. The quiz is open to students.

Prizes Offered for Naming Products

The person who can name the most products of the Columbia Empire will win $200 in cash and numerous merchandise prizes in the "Prosperity Quiz," a contest sponsored by Columbia Empire Industries, Inc.,

which opens April 26.

To enter contestants must get a free entry blank from local merchants, bankers, or insurance men. These blanks give contest rules and lists of prizes. Blanks are also provided for writing in trade names of the products. Then entrants must write in 100 words or less "I should buy Columbia Empire products because . . ." The judges will consider the idea expressed and not literary style.

When the entry blank has been filled out, it must be returned to the Emerald office not later than midnight, May 15. District prizes will be awarded May 22, and winners of grand prizes will be announced June 5.

Student Crowd Expected for Symphony

Emerald Concert To Be Presented Tuesday Evening

A capacity crowd, made up entirely of students, has been predicted for the free concert which the University of Oregon symphony orchestra is giving next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the music auditorium under the auspices of the Oregon Daily Emerald.

Final rehearsals for the program, during which the 70 student musicians have been "practicing up" on the favorite numbers of the recently-ended orchestra series, have been in progress during the week under Director Rex Underwood. All students are invited to attend.

Further details and a program are listed on page 8.

Dean James Ralph Jewell of the school of education has been selected by the State Association of Zonta, business and professional women's club, to speak on "Education and Woman's Sphere" at its formal banquet tonight at the Osburn hotel.

Calling All SUNDAY DRIVERS!

You won't ever see a roadside sign that says "Holidays Ahead." . . . But the fact remains that the great Outdoor Season is already under way and here for a long stay.

And that means new clothes for all—new hats and handbags—new swim suits and tennis rackets and sun-tan oil—new gadgets for the car—new everything for a new life-under-the-sun.

"But what will we use for money?" . . . Well, here's a good tip on that point. Use the same old money—but S-T-R-E-T-C-H it! Watch the advertisements in The Emerald for chances to buy more for less! You'll find good values offered every time, things you especially want at prices that are reasonable and fair.

It's a good habit—shopping by newspaper before you shop at the store. Saves you real money! Brings you more things you need and want! Helps you live life a little more richly!
