

Junior Weekend Will 'Go to Portland' Soon

April 28 Set As Date for Publicity Trip

Queen, Court, Student Talent To Make Journey

Junior Weekend will go to Portland on Monday, April 28, instead of May 4, as was previously planned, John Cavanagh, weekend promotion chairman, announced last night.

Weekend committee heads contacted the Eugene chamber of commerce yesterday and with the cooperation of Fred Brenne, secretary of the chamber, made arrangements to take members of the royal court, some student talent, and Junior Weekend committee heads to Portland for an appearance before the Portland chamber of commerce.

To Entertain Hosts

The weekend committee will cooperate with the local chamber in the presentation of "Eugene Day" before the Portland group. The Eugene delegation will entertain their hosts, who will receive formal invitations to visit the Oregon campus to witness the spring term three-day spectacle, Cavanagh said.

Junior Weekend leaders commented with appreciation on the manner in which the chamber of commerce had extended assistance to the committee. Brenne of the Eugene chamber will help arrange the junior class's contribution to the trip, Cavanagh stated.

Salem Stop Listed

The "caravan" will stop in Salem on its way to Portland long enough to invite Charles A.

Sprague, governor of the state, to come to see the University's three-day pageant.

A trip to Portland for committee members and donors of talent for the weekend radio broadcasts over stations KGW-KEX and KOIN has been scheduled for Saturday, May 4.

Eight Men Pledged To Beta Alpha Psi

Eight pledges to Beta Alpha Psi, national accounting honorary, will be initiated Wednesday.

The new pledges—Robert Chilcote, Jack Shimshak, Pete Igoe, Richard D. Johnson, Arnold Olinon, Max Herndon, James M. Bailey, and Lloyd Wilson—have successfully passed an examination on accounting theory which is a pre-requisite to initiation.

Following the initiation ceremonies, a banquet will be held to honor the new members at the Anchorage. Spencer Collins, certified public accountant, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

UO Student Wins Prize in Contest Held at Portland

Beth Johnson, psychology major, won first prize in the second biology section of the Oregon Student Science conference held in Portland last weekend. Miss Johnson's paper was titled "Stereoscopic Vision in Pre-School Children."

Six other graduate students from the anthropology and psychology departments attended the conference. Carl Huffaker, anthropology, and Wilbur Greenup, geography, collaborated on a paper named, "The Northern Great Basin and Early Man." Greenup discussed the geomorphology and Huffaker the archeology of the basin. Bob Stephenson, anthropology, gave a "progress report in cataloging a collection of southwestern material." Robin Drews, anthropology, read a paper on "Ainu: Position in the Pacific Basin." A paper concerning the galvanic response was offered by Al Carp and William Cass from the psychology department, and Gordon Link talked on "Mirror Script in Infancy."

Co-op Board to Be Nominated Friday

All of the 3100-odd University students are eligible to attend the annual meeting of members of the University of Oregon Cooperative store this Friday at 4 p.m. in room 207 Chapman.

Candidates for a position on the board of directors will be nominated at this time, and the annual report of the manager, M. F. McClain, will be read.
