

Juniors Grease Political Cogs For Class Vote

Nominations Due
Monday Evening;
Cast Ballots May 6

Slowly whipping into shape their political machine, the junior class last night made plans to hold senior nominations Monday night at a special nominating assembly in Villard hall.

After the two principal campus blocs make known their suggestions for executives of the class of '41 in its graduating year, Junior Weekend Chairman Lloyd Sullivan will outline plans for the celebration May 10, 11, and 12.

Elections will be held the following Monday, May 6, according to President Jim Pickett, who will be in charge of the meeting.

Outgoing offices are Vice-President Betty Buchanan, Secretary Bette Norwood, and Treasurer Bob Keen.

Weekend Show To Go on Air

Skit by Torbet
To Show Spirit
Of Viennese Idea

Peggy Farris and Wendel Scott, two mythical Oregon students, will be advertising Junior Weekend at an unscheduled time over a radio station in Portland next weekend, announces Jack Holcomb, in charge of radio promotion for the three-day celebration.

The two characters are the leads in a radio skit written for the occasion by Alan Torbet. He worked them into a romantic theme which discloses the spirit shown on the Oregon campus immediately preceding and during the celebration, emphasizing the theme "Springtime in Vienna," which will be used this year.

Performers on the program besides the unannounced two who play the leads, and two other characters also unannounced, are the Delta Tau Delta quartet and

Straw Blooms Into 'High Tor' Headgear

Though it is traditionally impossible to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, June Chesney and Marion Zeller are doing immensely well at making broad-brimmed 17th century felt hats out of modern straw.

And that's not the half of it. With Kay Fitzgerald and Adelaide Timmons, costume and wardrobe mistresses, they are turning out an amazing array of Dutch breeches and buff coats.

All this in preparation for "High Tor," the fantastic comedy with which the University theater is to close its present season. In writing this hilarious satire on the doubtful deals of small time

'Her Majesty' Approves

Queen Betty Buchanan of Oregon's Junior Weekend fete takes a look at the plans and site for the canoe pageant with Canoe Fete Chairman Fred Ehlers. The pageant, set for May 11, will be built around "Springtime in Vienna" theme and Strauss waltzes.

Weekenders to Ask Governor Sprague To Three-Day Fete

By DON BUTZIN

Governor Charles A. Sprague will be officially invited, via a handsome scroll, to the University of Oregon Junior Weekend celebrations Monday by Lloyd Sullivan, chairman of the fete committee.

The event will take place in Salem, with a group of students, including Queen Betty Buchanan and her court—Princesses Suzanne Cunningham, Laura Jean Maurice, Janet Foster, and Eleanor Collier—present. These students will be a part of a caravan of Eugene people going to Portland to be honored by the Portland chamber of commerce at their Eugene day luncheon in that city Monday. Members of the Eugene chamber of commerce will complete the delegation.

The luncheon group will be told, by Sullivan, the background of business men, Maxwell Anderson, current American playwright No. 1, has managed to include a group of legendary Dutchmen stranded upon that very Hudson, named for their leader.

Because Dutchmen must wear broad brims, buff coats, and baggy breeches, the drama department's aged sewing machine is whirring once more in the basement of Friendly hall, and several Thespians—Frank Calhoun and Jim Parsons among them—are getting the surprise of their life as they model these old-fashion outfits in front of the long mirror which functions at costume fittings.

Junior Weekend, which is having its fiftieth anniversary this year, as well as the schedule for this year's fete. He hopes that the group in Portland will be more interested in the University of Oregon and, especially, Junior Weekend after he tells them the campus traditions of the Weekend, the annual tug of war, float event, the informal outdoor luncheon at which the queen is crowned, and this year's theme, "Springtime in Vienna."

Singing for the chamber clubs will be Lester Ready, campus baritone, and the Kwama trio, Jean Burt, Elizabeth Steed, and Pat Shea.

After the luncheon the Boeing airplane company has offered to take the Eugenians for a ride in air over Portland as a favor to the visitors.

Pi Lambda Theta,
Phi Delta Kappa to Hold Joint Banquet

Dr. H. B. Wood, of the school of education, will speak on "New Curriculum as a Conserving Factor" today at the education conference at the Oregon College of Education in Monmouth.

Attending the conference from Eugene will be: Dean James R. Jewell, Freeman G. Macomber, Fred L. Stevens, and Miss Ida Pope from the school of education, and Joseph Holaday from University high.

A special feature of the conference will be the joint banquet of Pi Lambda Theta, women's education honorary, and Phi Delta Kappa, men's education honorary. The banquet will be after the initiation of new Phi Delta Kappa members.

The principal speaker of the conference will be Paul J. Malsner, superintendent of schools at Glencoe, Illinois.

McEntire to Talk On 'Joad' Problems

Davis McEntire, senior social scientist of the U. S. department of agriculture, will speak on the peculiar problems of Pacific coast migratory workers and their families at the final meeting in the Phi Delta Kappa, men's educational honorary, Monday evening at 7:30 in the school of physical education building.

His address, "Population Problems of the Pacific Area," will be based upon a study just completed concerning population movements to the Pacific coast and will cast new light on the problems, dramatized in John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath."

PE School Brings Golf Film to Campus

The school of physical education is bringing a golf film to the campus Monday, April 26. The film, "Cooper Golf Tips," is an analysis of golf strokes shown in three reels.

The moving pictures will be shown at 10 o'clock Monday morning in room 121 Gerlinger, and at 1 o'clock in room 101 in the school of physical education.

These films will be free for all interested persons.

Seven class of '42 members are up for the two junior class posts. Emerson Page, Bob Cherney, Bob Lovell, Bill Loud, Jack McCliment, Morry Stein, and Cullen Murphy will battle for the posts.

The trio elected will serve on the student board of directors, working with Manager M. F. McClain in determining cooperative policies during the coming year. Outgoing president of the student group is Charles Skinner.

The annual co-op statement of income appears on page 3.

Speech Contest Finals June 8

Competition Open
To Every Senior;
Trials to Be June 3

June 8 is the date for the finals of the 1940 Failing-Beekman oratorical contest according to J. L. Casteel, director of the speech division.

June 3 is set as the date for the preliminaries.

May 29 is the last day contestants may submit written manuscripts of their addresses to the speech division.

May 22 will be the last day contestants may signify their intention to enter the contest.

Seniors Eligible

The contest is open to all members of the graduating class, including any student who has completed his requirements for graduation subsequent to the close of the fall term. Students who complete their work in summer session are not eligible to participate in commencement exercises, and therefore not eligible to enter the contest.

The entry must be limited to 1500 words, not to include more than 150 words quoted from printed sources. The subject-matter may be of the contestants own choosing.

Can't Use Notes

Speakers in both preliminary and final contests will speak without notes or prompting. They need not follow the manuscript, but should be reasonably accurate.

First prize for the annual contest is $150, and second prize is $100.

Mr. Casteel stressed that any contestant who wished help in preparing his entry should contact members of the speech division faculty.
