

UO Trackmen To Meet WSC

Webfoots Enter Fourteen Men

Pullman Is Scene of Cinder Rivalry; Bill Hayward's Runners Classed As Underdogs; Cougars Are Strong

University of Oregon's miniature track team makes its second northern division appearance today at Pullman when it takes on the powerful Washington State Cougar squad.

Pre-meet form sheets foresee the Ducks absorbing a sound trouncing. Their best opportunity for victory appears to be in the field events, 880, and high hurdles.

Captain

Pete Riley, University of Oregon sophomore boxer, recently won the state AAU title in the 145-pound class. He was fighting under the colors of the Multnomah Athletic club. Although not eligible this year for varsity competition, Riley will be a mainstay of the Duck hopes next year.

Two hundred thousand students attend college in other than their home states.

Dale vs. Storli
Outstanding race of the day will see Duck Captain Kirm Storli out to avenge his two defeats in the 880 at the hands of Bill Dale last season. In both the Pacific coast and northern division meets, Dale beat Storli to the tape by a slim margin of half a stride.

According to the times recorded so far this year, Dale would appear to have the contest sewed up, having run the distance in better than 1:55 while Storli has yet to break the two-minute mark. Storli has had no real competition this year where he was forced to run his best, and therefore his record so far cannot be taken as a yardstick for his present ability. In the AAU meet last summer he ran a 1:59 half mile which is better than any time yet recorded by the Cougar star.

Possible Wins

Rod Hansen appears to have a first place in the pole vault safely tucked away for Oregon. He has consistently vaulted well over 13 feet which should easily beat the best mark made by any Washington Stater. Bob Hendershott will probably win second place honors for the Ducks.

PE Men Run On Monday

Sigma Delta Psi, men's physical education honorary, will hold its annual intramural meet Monday at 3:30 p.m. on Hayward field.

There have been 442 entries for the meet. The boys have been divided into squads by alphabetical order. Each squad has two leaders to whom they report. Squads report to the field as follows:

Squad 1 (A-B). Leaders, Hillar and Borchert. Report to 100-yard dash.

Squad 2 (C-D). Leaders, Collier and Carlson. Report to shot put.

Squad 3 (E-F-G). Leaders, Sinclair and Fagin. Report to rope.

Squad 4 (H-I-J to Jensen). Leaders, Jeans and O'Reilly. Report to broad jump.

Squad 5 (Johns-K-L). Leaders, Cushing and Mallory. Report to hurdles.

Squad 6 (M-N-O). Leaders, Shearer and Marnie. Report to javelin.

Squad 7 (P-R-S to Schwieger). Leaders, Rohwer and Brooke. Report to football punt.

Squad 8 (Scoggins-Sullivan). Leader, Davis. Report to high jump.

Squad 9 (T-U-V-W-Y-Z). Leaders to be announced. Report to baseball throw.

All officials are to be at Hayward field by 3:15.

This is a foul ball but from the expression on the face of the young lady at left we couldn't help but give the above caption to the picture? The two are members of a softball team in Los Angeles.

Bubalo Gives Frosh 'Extra-Base Punch'

20-1.
Not the odds bookies and pool-room "drapes" are quoting on Colonel Bradley's Bimelech, favorite according to the public's pulse and purses in the Kentucky derby today, but this was the wierd score Oregon's Duckling nine bopped out against Sweet Home's baseball team along with balls to all points of the compass.

Right in there among the yearlings administering the waxing was a rangy, olive-complexioned youth from Lincoln high in Portland—his name—Johnny Bubalo. Sharing hitting honors with a teammate, Don Kirsch, he almost invariably gave the opponents' catcher a holiday and their fielders track rehearsal every time he got up to the plate and waved a bat around.

However, Bubalo hasn't been chasing about the past day or so. When last seen he was kicking his blankets into a wad at the hind end of a bed in the infirmary, an infected foot responsible for his being stretched out. This "retirement" is just temporary, according to Bubalo, who said, with some measure of assurance, "I'll be out of here by Saturday when the frosh play Toledo high at Toledo.

Good Material

"There is good varsity material on this year's frosh team for the next three years," opined

the unassuming Duckling third-sacker. And he should know, for the first-year lads have conked the Duck baseball varsity three times in four tries.

Three years all-city in baseball while at Lincoln, Bubalo caught his first season and played outfield the remaining two. In addition he earned three letters in basketball and two in football before graduating from the Portland school and was a member of Oregon's frosh basketball team.

Beavers Meet UO Netmen

Oregon's varsity tennis squad plays Oregon State at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Corvallis. The starting singles lineup for Oregon will be Werschkul, Clark, Key, Horning, and McCliment; the doubles will be Clark and Key, and Werschkul and Williams, in the order named. The OSC lineup consists of Strong, Cope, Hedberg, Velarde, and Sherwood.

Oregon frosh team will oppose the OSC rooks at 10 o'clock this morning with Baker, Manning, Kahananui, Heath, and McInnes in the singles matches, and Baker and Manning, and Kahananui and Heath in doubles. Terry Mullin, outstanding frosh star, is in the infirmary and will be unable to play. The OSC rook lineup is undetermined.

Chances Good

Oregon's chances for victory appear to be strong, judging from previous matches, if the Ducks can overcome the handicap of the OSC unfamiliar smooth courts. OSC took the Idaho match, 5-2, and the WSC, 4-3, but lost to the strong Washington Championship team. Oregon smashed both Idaho and WSC, 7-0, and will play the Huskies at Seattle, May 11.

The schedule for coming matches will be: San Jose State here Monday, May 6; Willamette here May 15; OSC here May 18; and the Northwest championship will be played off at Moscow, Idaho on May 25. The San Jose State-Oregon match, to be played at 3 o'clock this Monday afternoon on our own courts, will be a close match, because of the barnstorming San Jose staters' strength. All students are urged to attend this non-conference match.
