

Phi Theta President Elected

Miss Steed to Head Junior Women's Honorary to 1941

Elizabeth Steed was elected president of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, for next year at the initiation of the new members yesterday evening at the Delta Gamma house.

Helping Miss Steed in her junior class honorary work will be: Eleanor Sederstrom, vice-president; and Hope Hughes, secretary-treasurer.

The new Phi Thetas will begin work on their projects of planning to take care of freshmen and orient them into campus activities right away under the advisement of the older members, Majeane Glover, outgoing president, stated.

Columnist Conducts Band Poll

Campus Returns Represent Oregon Students' Opinions

Bill Moxley, Emerald columnist, is conducting an all-campus poll of popular music tastes. It is similar to national polls which have been taken recently by various newspapers, magazines and advertising agencies.

Results of the drive to determine the favorite professional and campus band will be announced Tuesday. In order to get the most accurate results possible, Moxley and his committeemen urge students to fill out the following questionnaire and send it either to the Emerald or give it to one of the committeemen sometime Monday. This will make the poll, which will be considered by the nation as the opinion of University of Oregon students, more complete and truly representative.

Thousands of American college students are virtually disfranchised because of "cumbersome" absentee voting laws, it was pointed out Wednesday by Dr. Frank L. McCluer, president of Westminster college at Fulton, Missouri.

Dr. McCluer declared that more than 100,000 students of voting age "are discouraged or actually forbidden to exercise their voting franchise."

"This situation is particularly undemocratic and senseless," Dr. McCluer declared.

A Huge Nominating Committee including such names as Sherwood Anderson and Walter Winchell recently voted the Nation Award to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The award was presented for distinguished service in the cause of American social progress at a dinner given in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor in New York City on May 1.

Clifton Fadiman was toastmaster, and included among speakers were William Allen White, famous editor, and film actor Melvyn Douglas, as well as other big name people.

Fewer Students Flunk spring term at the University of Kansas, they have recently decided. Don't get your hopes up! It's not a case of extra spring ambition, but is due to the fact, the registrar explains, that flunking students were not re-admitted in February.

To make student government more responsive to student opinion through an increase in the number of student body meetings; by allowing the students themselves to vote upon issues vital to them; and to keep the students informed at all times of the functions, the plans, and above all, the finances of the student body.

To make athletic tickets transferable so that the student may give someone else the privilege of using his purchased right when he is not.

To broaden class activities to include something more than opportunity for unscrupulous politicians to maneuver elections and stuff ballot boxes.

Broadway Player Held Over Here

By DOROTHY KREIS

Because of the students' demand and his popular reception on the Oregon campus, Mr. Louis Lytton, actor from Broadway, who gave Shakespearean interpretations to technical drama classes and Shakespeare classes today, was asked by Dean C. V. Boyer of the college of arts and letters, to appear again Monday in the Guild theater at 3 o'clock. Admission is free.

Mr. Lytton, a Bostonian by birth, made his theatrical debut at 14 in the role of Osrice in "Hamlet." He then joined the Castle Square stock company.

In the recent Broadway hit, "Merry Wives of Windsor," Mr. Lytton, an average-sized man donned some extra padded poundage to fit the role of Falstaff, who in his own words claimed to be "In the waist two yards about."

In a comment concerning his acting in that production, William John Tucker, Shakespearean authority of the University of Arizona, said "His elocutionary work sinks and rises apparently without effort, for his art is perfectly concealed."

During his career of touring, acting, and directing he has played with George M. Cohan in "Welcome Stranger," has appeared for three years in "Othello," and has undertaken the portrayal of Dr. Stockman, one of his favorite parts, in Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People."

Horace Robinson, assistant professor of the Oregon drama department, made arrangements for his appearance on the Oregon campus.

UO Total Sets Record

Total enrollment in the University has reached an all-time high of 3300 students this spring term, C. L. Constance, assistant registrar, declared.

Up to date, there are 2082 men and 1280 women, making 740 more men than women. The freshman class has exactly 1000 students, and except for the sophomore class which has an enrollment of 1179 is the largest class in the University. These two classes make up two-thirds of the whole campus enrollment.

In return for the privilege of serving with the other three candidates for the executive committee, I offer, first, a tremendous interest in student government, second, well-rounded experience in campus activities, and, third, a strong desire to work for better and more adequate student government.

that merit attention are, in my opinion, fundamental constituents of sound government.

My political experience serves as a reminder of the responsibilities entailed in the executive committee. As I am prepared to assume those responsibilities and execute them progressively and fairly for the general welfare of the University, your consideration of me as a selection would be appreciated.

This Week's Church News

By B. J. THOMPSON

The two major activities for spring term in youth groups, electing next year's officers and holding weekend retreats, are battling for supremacy this week.

At the Baptist church newly elected officers will be installed at the 6:30 meeting. Truman Chase will be installing officer, Dr. A. J. Harms will give a dedicatory talk, and the Guild Girls will lead the worship service. Rollin Calkin and Charles Devereaux are in charge of special music.

New officers are Rollin Calkin, president; Marshall Mobley, first vice-president; Betty Nicolaides, second vice-president; Lillian Kutz, secretary, and Prentice Weber, treasurer.

In other church groups weekend trips seem to have the upper hand. Wesley clubbers left yesterday for the Oregon Folk league recreation grounds at Florence for the weekend. Lutheran students, too, will spend the weekend near Florence.

Plans for the trip up the McKenzie with the Oregon State group will occupy the time of Newman club members at their meeting Sunday evening, to be held at 7:30 in the men's lounge in Gerlinger hall. Jean Ann Semling, newly elected vice-president, will give a short talk. Other new officers include John Schreiner, president; Jane Partipilo, secretary, and Charles Frazee, treasurer.

The series on philosophy of religion at Westminster house will continue at 9:45 Sunday morning. The discussion will be student led. Dr. John T. Ganoe, associate professor of history, will be main speaker at the 6:30 meeting. Tea hour will begin at 6 o'clock.

Instructors Go to Meet

J. L. Casteel, director of speech, Don Hargis and Marvin Krenk, speech instructors, Mrs. Otilie Seybolt, head of the drama department, and Victor Phelps, principal of Francis Willard grade school, will attend the tenth annual convention of the Oregon State Speech association in Portland today.

Mr. Hargis, president of the association, will be in charge of the convention as a whole, while Mr. Krenk will conduct a panel, Mr. Casteel will preside over one of the morning sessions, and Mrs. Otilie Seybolt will be one of the speakers.

At the convention banquet at the Portland hotel, Mr. Krenk will stage a magic act.

Co-op Wins GPA Cup

The Women's cooperative club has won the cup for the highest GPA in women's living organizations for the third consecutive time and will no retain permanent possession of the cup.

This cup was previously won by them in 1937, 1938, and 1939. The house attaining the highest GPA for 1940 will be presented with a duplicate cup sometime this term at a campus affair.

The cup for the men's living organization was won by Campbell co-op last year and by Canard club in 1938.

Classes Edit City Papers

Journalism classes of the University school of journalism will put out Tuesday's Eugene Daily News and Wednesday's Eugene Register-Guard, according to George Turnbull, professor of journalism.

Reporting will be handled by reporting and copy-editing classes, while editorials will be written by Dean Eric W. Allen's editing class.

Heading the Register-Guard staff will be: Douglas Parker, managing editor; Helen Angell, city editor; Buck Buchwach, sports editor; and Mari Medill, society editor. Student editors of the Daily News will be: Lowell Dick, managing editor; Doris Murphy, city editor; and Bill Phelps, sports editor.
