NUMBER 118

Law School Weekend—a la cart

Oregon's law students cut "fancy didoes" as they stage their annual law school weekend parade. Left, Dr. Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school, and Prof. O. J. Hollis, professor of law, are "taken for a ride." Center, the law school student body blossoms out with their own band for the parade—and a drum majorette, too. Right, Cecil Wright holds the umbrella as he acts as escort to Queen Meyer N. Kroopnick. Story on page 3.

Election of ASUO Heads Slated Today

Polls to Be Open
From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in YMCA

The annual political tiff for the four ASUO exec committee positions narrows down by necessity in today's election to a hard-fought battle for the number one post, the student body presidency. For only four candidates for four positions makes the proxy job an even tastier morsel.

Harrison Bergtholdt, John Cavanaugh, Marge McLean, Tiger Payne climaxed their political campaigns early this morning, in anticipation of the opening of polls at 9 o'clock.

Preferential Voting

Student votes will give the four candidates the jobs of president, first vice-president, second vice-president, and secretary, according to the number of votes obtained by each. Preferential voting will be used, with voters naming their first, second, third, and fourth choices.

On the same ballot, student body card holders will mark their choices for the two junior positions on the University Co-op board, and the one sophomore job. In the running for the sophomore post are Les Anderson, Ruth Graham, Doug Fabian, Ted McMurren, Jim Roots, and Al Silvernail.

Elections at 'Y' Hut

Seven class of '42 members are up for the two junior class Co-op positions: Emerson Page, Bob Cherney, Bob Lovell, Bill Loud, Jack McCliment, Morry Stein, and Cullen Murphy.

Elections are to be held in the YMCA hut, and polls will close at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Students not engaged in voting are asked by election officials to remain away from the polls during the day. Two educational activities staff members will be in charge of the balloting to avoid slip-ups, according to Verdi Sederstrom, first vice-president of ASUO and election head.

All Organizations To Eat on Campus

Since all University students will be invited to the campus luncheon, a Friday feature of the annual Junior Weekend, no lunches will be served in any campus living organization that day, states Grace Irvin, chairman of the event.

Tickets for the special luncheon will be delivered soon to all houses. Independents and visitors who wish to attend may get their tickets at a booth in front of Johnson hall Friday morning, she says. The cost is 25 cents.

Miss Irvin asks all who have questions concerning tickets for the annual affair to contact George Mackin, Phi Delta Theta, ticket chairman for the luncheon.

Yesterday was the Junior Weekend pinafore day. Campus coeds wore pinafores to all their classes.

Plans Formed For Installation Of New Officers

Ceremonies to Be Directed by Snell Tomorrow at 11

With the smoke of ASUO elections hanging heavy in the campus air today, final plans for installation of new officers will speed to completion this afternoon, John Dick, student body president, announced yesterday.

Earl Snell, Oregon secretary of state, has already been contacted to direct ceremonies that will see the chosen candidates mount to their new offices, and the program is scheduled to start tomorrow at 11 a.m. in Gerlinger hall.

To Be Announced

Dick stated last night that election finals will be announced early this evening, and that four students will take oaths of office for their respective positions.

Those who will be installed are Harrison Bergtholdt, John Cavanaugh, Marge McLean, and Tiger Payne. They will take the positions of president, first vice-president, second vice-president, and secretary.

First on Campus

Mr. Snell's appearance will be his first on the University of Oregon campus and his talk will strike an official note of welcome for the office holders. He will make a special trip to Eugene for the installation.

All Wednesday 11 o'clock classes will be moved ahead to Thursday, Dick announced, and the assembly will be open to all University students.

Phi Bete Election To Be Wednesday

Spring election of new members to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, has been set for Wednesday night in the faculty room of Friendly hall, according to Orlando J. Hollis, president of the local chapter.

Those honored with the Phi Bete key each year are students of outstanding ability. Minimum GPA requirement is 3.19.

Pinafores to Have Second Official Day In Week's Program

Despite the threatening skies and the chilling wind, Junior Weekend's official Pinafore day was so successful Monday that the committee has decided to declare Wednesday another Pinafore day, Lloyd Sullivan, general chairman of the Weekend, declared.

Wednesday's Pinafore day will

Ninety Students Win Scholarships

Sixty-six new students will enter the University of Oregon next fall with state tuition scholarships, and 24 present students will receive renewal of previous fee awards, E. B. Lemon, chairman of the state system committee on high school relations, announced yesterday.

Scholarships total $64.50 and are applied toward tuition. They are based on scholastic ability and participation in school activities and are given each year by the state system of higher education.

The 24 attending the University who received scholarships are Buck A. Buchwach, Carol Cook,

Dr. Smith Honored In 25th Year Here

By MILDRED WILSON

Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology and geography departments, has a new set of golf clubs and a leather-bound booklet full of letters and telegrams from his friends all over the world, congratulating him on the anniversary of his 25th year of teaching at the University.

The gifts, given by friends and former students, were presented to him at a banquet at the Osburn hotel Saturday night, which was attended by 80 of his friends and associates. The whole proceeding was a surprise to Dr. Smith, who thought he was attending a dinner of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, which also met here last weekend.

follow the program of the first day, with a picture being taken of every twentieth girl dressed in the Viennese passing the College Side between 12:30 and 2 o'clock by the Emerald staff photographer, Ted Kenyon.

Four girls received a free photograph of themselves in the Junior Weekend dress, which signifies that more than 80 Oregon women passed the Side in the colorful costumes, Sullivan declared.

"The committee is grateful for the way the coeds have cooperated in dressing to advertise the Weekend and we hope that they will remember to wear them for the mothers Friday, Saturday, and Sunday to create the atmosphere of 'Springtime in Vienna,'" Sullivan said in expressing his thanks.

Whoops to Knots

Yesterday the campus Took on a festive air. Pinafores and pretty girls Were dashing everywhere.

We ought to have another day For girls to wear those clothes. It really was a lot of fun To untie their pretty bows.

Juniors Vote On Officers For Next Year

Keene, White in Running for Post Of Class President

Juniors will march to the polls today to do a double duty, to vote for ASUO officers and to select the rulers of their class for the coming year.

The polls for both elections will be in the YMCA hut and will be open from 9 to 3 o'clock.

Petitions for next year's offices have been filed by Bob Keene and Wally White, president; Joan Hoke and Florence Kinney, vice-president; Donna Ketchum and Doris Ann Neely, secretary, and Bill Knight and Ehle Reber, treasurer.

Plans for Prom Well Under Way

Depending upon years of tradition, the junior class is preparing for one of the oldest of campus dances—the Junior Prom—Friday night, Bill Senders, publicity chairman, said last night.

Invitations to the prom have been issued to several prominent persons, including Governor Charles A. Sprague. Queen Betty Buchanan and her court of Princesses Laura Jean Maurice, Suzanne Cunningham, Janet Foster, and Eleanor Collier will rule over the spring formal, Senders said.

Bob Mitchell's orchestra, direct from Hollywood Bowl in Portland, has worked out several arrangements especially for the prom. Mitchell features a girl vocalist. Friars, senior men's honorary, will pick the Viennese setting for "tapping" new members. The outstanding junior man of the year will be presented with the Koyle cup; the Gerlinger cup will go to the outstanding junior girl.

Tickets on Sale

General admission tickets for the Junior Weekend annual Canoe Fete are now on sale at the ASUO ticket office. Tickets sell at 75 cents.
