

UO Nine Leaves for Inland Empire

Buck Berry Heads Regulars in Hitting

By JEAN SPEAROW

Buck Berry, Oregon's varsity slugging third baseman, maintains his sparkling high batting average after 25 trips to the plate to keep his .480 second only to Arba Ager's .600 for five times at bat. Mr. Berry's batting may look very good but his talents lie in other directions, too, as witness his total of nine runs batted in. And though Cece Walden's batting average is about as harmless looking as Buck's is formidable Cece has batted in eight Oregon tallies, followed by Dick Whitman's seven runs batted in.

Tough Hitters

One of the best "double bills" to come to Oregon for a long time is the Calvert-Carney combination. With averages of .455 and .406, respectively, these two run high third and fourth places in the batting list to keep the team almost to .300.

Jim Shimshak and Dick Whitman are two more boys who look plenty nice in the field and have kept their hitting over the .300 mark. And talk about psychological moments, Pete Igoe really did some tall picking when he chose the Washington game to make his lone hit of the season good for a run.

Webfoots Hold Second Position In Conference

Six Tilts in Seven Days Billed for Hobson's Crew

Oregon's varsity baseball nine opens defense of its newly acquired second spot in the northern division a long way from home Friday afternoon—the Webfoots play in Moscow, Idaho.

Coach Hobby Hobson plans to take 15 players and Student Manager Pete Mitchell on the journey to the Inland Empire which includes six games in seven days, a killing trip for any club with a weak pitching staff. The team will move over to Pullman for games against Washington State on Monday and Tuesday, and winds up the trip with Wednesday and Thursday games in Seattle against the Washington Huskies.

The traveling squad which pulls out of the depot today at 4:45 includes Cece Walden, Pete Igoe, Jack Jasper, Al Linn, Bob Rieder, Virg Haynes, Herb Hamer, Jack Shimshak, Bill Calvert, Johnny Berry, Arba Ager, Tommy Cox, Dick Whitman, Bill Carney, and Bill White.

Not counting games with Honest John Warren's very potent frosh baseballers, the varsity holds victories in its last four games. The Webfoots have won five out of their last six games. Tightest squeeze of that string was Tuesday's tough battle which Oregon won over Washington in the ninth inning by a low 2 to 1 score.

An anti-climax to the varsity's recent clouting ways was a 10 to 4 defeat suffered at the hands of the frosh team yesterday afternoon. Skipper Warren had his ace pitcher, Stew Fredricks, on the mound.

Art School Sends Aims to Conference

Dean Ellis F. Lawrence of the University art school has been asked, along with 10 other deans of art schools, to present a statement of his school's objectives which will be read at the convention of the American Institute of Architects.

The convention is slated for the tucky. Dean Lawrence will be unable to attend the conference, but he has submitted a formulation of the University art school's aims.
