Coronation Ceremony Opens Junior Class Festivities Today

Scabbard and Blade Officers Will Escort Royal Court; Luncheon Chairmen Expect 100 Per Cent Turnout

The 1940 Junior Weekend will officially open this morning with registration of visiting mothers in front of Johnson hall. Moms will continue filing their names this afternoon and tomorrow morning, according to Committeemen Virginia James and Bill Loud.

Opening the three-day festivities will be the coronation of Queen Betty Buchanan and her court of four princesses—Laura Jean Maurice, Eleanor Collier, Janet Foster, and Suzanne Cunningham—at the campus luncheon this afternoon. The royalty for "Springtime in Vienna" will be escorted to the stage by officers of Scabbard and Blade, military honorary, Chairman Lloyd Sullivan said.

Campus luncheon chairmen, Grace Irvin and George MacKin, report that tickets for the campus eating derby have been distributed to all living organizations, and in view of the fact that no meals will be served at the houses, a 100 per cent turnout is anticipated. Skull and Dagger and

Igloo to Have Blue Danube Atmosphere

Junior Prom Will Feature Mitchell's Orchestra Tonight

Nervy, but weak-kneed boys, shimmied around on McArthur court's maze of "cat walks" all day yesterday in preparation for tonight's Junior Prom.

The formal prom will begin at 9 o'clock, when Bob Mitchell's orchestra starts playing for the Junior Weekend sendoff. White coats will be in order for the men, and formals with flowers for the girls, Chairman Wally Rossman said yesterday. For the first time during spring term the dean of women's office has decreed one o'clock permission for dancers.

Mitchell's orchestra features the low voice of Virginia Wheeler, 18-year-old vocalist, whose home is Pendleton, Rossman said. The band has received much attention during recent months because it includes woodwinds not found in other bands, the dance chairman stated.

Highlighting decorations will be the blue canopy covering the ceiling. At each canopy support

The Morning After

They should let out classes on Monday,

But the plan for today has been aired.

When they hold their classes on Monday

They find all their students impaired.

Oh, they can have classes on Monday,

But who'll have their lessons prepared?

Prom Maestro

Bob Mitchell—he of "Precision Swing" fame—will bring his band to McArthur court tonight at 9 for the formal Junior Prom.

Anderson, Page, McCliment Win Co-op Positions

Vote Battle Writes History; Frosh Total 557; Sophs, 974

Out of one of the heaviest vote-barrages in Co-op board election history came majority counts placing Sophomores Jack McCliment and Emerson Page and Freshman Les Anderson on Oregon's student Co-op store administrative board for next year.

McCliment polled 224 votes and Emerson Page 186. Third high among sophomore candidates for junior board member was Bob Lovell with 155. Anderson, freshman class president, edged out Ruth Graham, class secretary, by a 15-vote margin, totaling to 153. Al Silvernail was third among the six candidates for the lone sophomore board position with 106.

A total of 557 votes were cast for the six freshman candidates, the winner representing the sophomore class for one year on the Co-op executive group. As all ballots were tallied, counting lists showed 974 slips deposited in sophomore member voting, electing two students to serve a two-year term starting their junior year.

Defendant Tichy Wins Moot Case

It was a winning case for the defendant, George Tichy, in the year's second moot trial held last night, with the jury bringing in a 9 to 3 decision in his favor.

Defense Attorneys David Silver and Lewis Hoffman based their winning argument on a denial of negligence by Tichy in the automobile accident involved and an affirmative defense in that they charged Plaintiff Jason Bai

'Sailors' Brave Save Fleet From A Watery Grave

Sabotage—either in the form of a German submarine, a depth bomb, or a boll weevil—threw Oregon's "canoe fleet" into a near state of disorder yesterday afternoon.

At any rate the Alpha Phi-Delta Tau Delta float entry in tomorrow night's canoe fete almost sunk to the bottom of the cam
