

Co-op to Trade Cash Dividends For Receipts

Deadline, May 20, Set for Students To Make Exchange

A survey of the books show that the student cooperative store has enough profit on the black side of the ledger to declare a dividend of five per cent to its patrons, Chuck Skinner, president, declared after the last business meeting of the board.

The board also declared legal all cash receipts issued since the beginning of fall term but those given out before September would not be honored.

May 20 was the deadline set for students to redeem their receipts for this year, Skinner stated. Purchases made at the Co-op after this date will be honored next year, it was decided.

Junior Fete to Draw Board Officials Here

With the prospect of junior weekend and Mother's day combined into one three-day period of spring festivities on the Oregon campus, many prominent Oregonians are to be in Eugene this weekend.

Among the visitors will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Sammons of Portland. Mr. Sammons, a member of the Oregon state board of higher education, will speak at the Mother's day banquet to be held Saturday, offering greetings to Oregon mothers from the board.

Vice-President Burt Brown Barker of the University of Oregon will be here from Portland. He will award the Vice-Presidential cups at the Junior Prom, one cup to the women's living organization and one cup to the men's living organization making the highest scholastic standing for the year.

Mr. Willard Marks, president of the Oregon state board of higher education, will be here from Albany for the Canoe Fete. Also to see the Saturday evening millrace exhibition will be another member of the state board, Mr. Charles D. Byrne.

Mrs. C. C. Wintermute, president of the University of Oregon Mothers' club, and Mr. Joseph F. Riesch, president of the Oregon Dads, will both be on the campus from Portland.

Chancellor Frederick M. Hunter will not be able to be here, but Mrs. Hunter is expected.

Also expected is Rev. George Swift, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Salem.

ROTC Rifle Team Gets New Trophy

A new plaque has recently been added to the already large collection in the ROTC shack. It is the William Randolph Hearst trophy won by the University of Oregon men's rifle team this year.

The Hearst rifle shoot is the only intercollegiate event in the world embracing so many institutions of all kinds. Last year, the University had the cup, first award, in their possession, but this year they took only second place.

The plaque is 26 by 18 inches on a wooden base. A spread eagle on the top and a rifle on each side are in bronze, and the silver center has University of Oregon inscribed with the names of the members of the team.

Tom Taylor won the coast individual championship.

“Speed wins in motor-cycle racing! Slow burning wins in the cigarette field!”

says Jimmie Kelly, Champion Motor-cycle Racer and Enthusiastic Camel Smoker

ON THE FAST SIDE—A 50-mile-an-hour skid, and Jimmie Kelly (No. 43) whips into the lead on the ocean beach at Daytona. On a racing motor-cycle Jimmie Kelly is a riding champion, but when it comes to cigarettes, this record-breaking driver is...

ON A MOTOR-CYCLE I GO FOR SPEED IN A BIG WAY, BUT I KEEP MY SMOKING ON THE SLOW-BURNING SIDE WITH CAMELS. THAT WAY I GET A LOT OF 'EXTRAS'—IN MILDNESS, COOLNESS, FLAVOR—AND CAMEL'S SLOW WAY OF BURNING MEANS EXTRA SMOKING PER PACK

“ON THE SLOW SIDE”—That's Jimmie Kelly's way—and the way of millions of other smokers—of saying that he prefers the slower-burning cigarette...Camel. “That's where the 'extras' are in cigarette pleasure and value,” explains Jimmie (above).

CHAMPION Jimmie Kelly (right, above) is just one of thousands of experienced smokers who have discovered that Camel's slower way of burning means several definite advantages. Being slower-burning, Camels are free from the drying, uncomfortable qualities of excess heat. They give you extra mildness and extra coolness... always so welcome. Slower burning makes the most of the full, rich flavor of Camel's costlier tobaccos. Camels give you extra flavor... don't tire your taste. The extra smoking in Camels is a matter of the smokers' experience as well as of impartial laboratory record. So get more pleasure per puff and more puffs per pack. Get Camels. Penny for penny, Camels are your best cigarette buy!

● In recent laboratory tests, CAMELS burned 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them. That means, on the average, a smoking plus equal to
