

Canoe Fete to Climax Weekend

Grace Irvin, Lyle Nelson Win '40 Cups

Koyl, Gerlinger Awards Revealed At Prom Friday

Chosen as the outstanding girl and boy in this year's junior class at the Junior Prom last night, Grace Irvin, junior in English from Redmond, and Lyle Nelson, Eugene junior in journalism, were presented with the Gerlinger and Koyl cups, respectively.

The awards were made on the bases of scholastic achievement and participation in campus activities. The Gerlinger trophy was presented by Mrs. George Gerlinger of Portland, sponsor of the award, who collected the funds for the construction of Gerlinger hall. Nelson received the Koyl award from E. E. DeCou, professor of mathematics and member of the selection committee. This trophy is sponsored by Charles W. Koyl, member of the class of 1911 and secretary of the YMCA for several years.

AWS Chairman

Miss Irvin was chairman of the recent AWS convention, where guests from campuses of 11 western states were campus visitors. She is a member of Phi Theta Epsilon, junior women's honorary, and was pledged to Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, yesterday.

Emerald Editor

Nelson, recently elected to serve as editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald next year, has worked for three years on the student publication. During this year he filled the position of managing editor. As a junior he was elected to Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, and yesterday was pledged to Friars, senior men's honorary.

Choosing the Gerlinger winner really put the selection committee on the spot, Mrs. Alice Macduff, assistant dean of women, said yesterday, because of the number of talented women to pick from. Honorable mention was given to Barbara Stallcup, junior in journalism, and Margeane Glover, junior in business administration.

—“Springtime in Vienna”

To Queen Betty

Queen Betty is ruling her kingdom
With dignified regal sobriety.
Her court and her kingdom are acting
With the usual amount of propriety.

I have no fears for the kingdom
As the time to its ending grows littler.
She'll probably have finished her ruling
Before it is noticed by Hitler.

—J.W.S.

—“Springtime in Vienna”

The Reign of Beauty

(Photo by Ted Kenyon)

The reign of Queen Betty II officially began yesterday with her coronation at the campus luncheon. Jim Pickett, junior class president, is shown placing the crown on her head, where it will remain until after the Canoe Fete tonight. One of the princesses, Sue Cunningham, can be seen in the background.

National Convention Of ADS Will Be Here

Delegations from colleges and universities all over the United States will gather at the University of Oregon next spring for the annual Alpha Delta Sigma national convention.

This announcement was made

Pledges Chosen by Senior Honoraries

Winding their ways through the huge crowd at the campus luncheon yesterday, Friars and Mortar Board, senior men and women's honoraries selected nine girls and five boys as outstanding in the 1940 junior class. One honorary member, Mrs. Donald M. Erb, was chosen by the women. Asklepiads, pre-medics honorary, selected 11 members.

Coeds selected by the cap-and-gowned Mortar Board procession were: Aida Brun, Betty Buchanan, Janet Goresky, Grace Irvin, Donna Ketchum, Marge McLean, Sally Mitchell, Joan Riesch, and Barbara Stallcup.

The solemn and slowly-moving
(Please turn to page six)

yesterday by W. F. G. Thacher, professor of English and advertising, adviser of the local chapter, after he had received a telegram from Bob Rogers, chapter member, who is attending the national convention at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri.

The convention will be a four-day affair, and its dates have not yet been decided upon, Professor Thacher said. The local group has a rather unique plan, their adviser stated. It will be a motorized convention. The first day will be spent on the Oregon campus. The second day the convention will trek to the coast, ending up at Corvallis. The delegates will join with the annual spring meeting of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers in Portland on the third day. The last day the visitors will be taken to Timberline lodge, Professor Thacher said.

—“Springtime in Vienna”

IN TODAY'S EMERALD

News	1, 6, 7, 8
Sports	4, 5
Edits	2
Weekend Program	6
Campus Calendar	6

Viennese Floats Glide Tonight on Millrace

Queen Betty, Royal Court Will Review Entries From Stage; Accompaniment To Be Played by University Symphony

By JIMMIE LEONARD

At 8:30 tonight the canoe fete, the climaxing feature of Junior Weekend, will begin. Eleven floats, each representing one of Johann Strauss' waltzes, will open the brilliantly-lighted water pageant by passing through an immense rainbow-covered water curtain, Fred Ehlers, canoe fete chairman, stated yesterday.

The musical accompaniment will be furnished by the 50-piece University symphony orchestra, under the direction of Rex Underwood. Queen Betty II and her four princesses—Eleanor Collier, Suzanne Cunningham, Janet Foster, and Laura Jean Maurice—will occupy positions on the stage.

Moms Have Full Day

A full day has been planned for students and visiting mothers and guests, by the weekend committee, Chairman Lloyd Sullivan said. Mothers may register at Johnson from 9 until 3 o'clock. From 9:45 until noon they will attend the annual business meeting of the Mothers club in the Guild theater in Johnson.

Water Sports, Too

All seriousness will be forgotten during the soph-frosh tug-of-war which starts at 10 o'clock. At 2:30 John Warren's undefeated freshman baseball team tackles the Oregon State Rooks on Howe field. From 3 until 4 students may relax at the dance on the library terrace.

At 4 one of the outstanding features of the weekend—“Sunlight Serenade”—will be presented in the outdoor theater, behind the music building. At 5:30 sons and daughters will take their mothers to John Straub Memorial hall for the Mothers' Day banquet.

Crown Placed On Regal Brow Of Queen Betty

Duckings Feature Luncheon as Weekend Begins

“Springtime in Vienna,” or Junior Weekend at Oregon, was officially opened yesterday when the regal crown was placed upon the brow of gracious Queen Betty (Buchanan) by Jim Pickett, junior class president.

Sharing in the democratic sovereignty of Junior Weekend are Princesses Laura Jean Maurice, lovely brunette; Eleanor Collier, a captivating blonde; brown-haired and stately Janet Foster; and Suzanne Cunningham, brown-haired and sun-tanned royal lady. Seated on pillows before the court was little Joan Godfrey, flower girl, daughter of George Godfrey, news bureau director.

Many Draw Ducking

The coronation ceremony followed the friendly campus luncheon
(Please turn to page six)

Outstanding

(Photo by Kennell-Ellis)

Lyle Nelson, Koyl cup winner, and Grace Irvin, Gerlinger cup winner, who were honored at the Junior Prom last night as the outstanding junior man and woman.