Webfoots, A Sandwich, And The Pit

Three years on the Oregon campus, and during those three years University students have developed the habit of dropping in to the Pit for one of their barbecued sandwiches.

Mr. C. D. Foster, manager of the Pit, during those three years, has sold several tons of beef and pork in the form of barbecued sandwiches. Another feature which has gone over well with Oregon students has been the Pit's Boston-baked pork and beans.

Since the Pit stays open very late in the evening, students have found it a delightful place to drop in to for that "after the show" snack.
