

WAA Begins Fall Schedule; Volleyball Up

Practices, Playoffs Start Immediately 'Checks' Explained

Launching the program of the Women's Athletic Association for the new year, coeds in every living organization this week will begin club meetings and intramural contests listed on the 1940 schedule.

Volleyball schedules for fall term are almost complete, according to WAA President Joanne Reisch, and girls will begin immediately to practice and play ball as the preliminary part of a check system which leads to WAA membership.

Checks Explained

A girl who receives the check given for participation in any one sport is entitled to membership in the organization. Girls who do not make their organization's intramural team, or who prefers not to participate in the sport, may earn her check by officiating at intramural contests or by serving on WAA committees, Miss Reisch said.

The WAA program for the new year includes the following team games: volleyball, basketball, baseball, and swimming. Individual players are offered a chance at cups in tennis or golf, Badminton, rifle, hockey, and fencing clubs are also supported by the organization.

Girls advanced in a single field may become members of Amphibian, swimming honorary, or Master Dance honorary if they pass the initiation requirement test.
