Boosters Gather To Support Team

Dopesters Concede Edge to Washington in Multnomah Field Feud; Reported Hurts May Bench Duck Standbys

By JOHNNY KAHANANUI

Will Oregon's football team bounce back after the 13 to 0 Stanford thumping last Saturday and vent its wrath on Washington? Or will the Ducks, smothered in the sod and sawdust of Multnomah stadium, be emitting a few forlorn quacks when the final gun barks sometime near sundown Saturday, while proud, panting Huskies tower over them with quizzical eyes?

Thus uncertainty, coupled with a rivalry nearly as keen as that between Oregon and OSC—it is said that trouncing Washington is one-half of a "successful" Webfoot season and bashing their Aggie brothers is the other half—is sufficient impetus for a 25,000 capacity crowd to storm the Portland field tomorrow for the Duck-Husky battle.

Roadman Stars In 'Touch Wood'

UO Players to Open First Production, Starting October 18

Prominent in the cast of "Touch Wood" the University players' first production scheduled for October 18, 19 and possibly 23 is Wilfred Roadman, an old favorite who has proven his worth in numerous campus plays.

Roadman played in the summer production of "Touch Wood" as well as Rachel Crother's "As Husbands Go" two years ago under the direction of Horace W. Robinson who is also directing Dodie Smith's English comedy. Roadman has played in numerous other campus successes, but his most outstanding work has been his writing the music, lyrics and dialogue for the all-campus musical show "With Fear and Trembling." The title song for the show now in rehearsal, "Touch Wood," is one of his catchiest. In "Touch Wood" (knock on wood) he will play the part of a third rate Noel Coward named Julian Chance . . . witty, glamorous, and a not-too-successful playwright.

"Touch Wood" is a comedy. It is set in a little Scotch resort hotel where the characters are guests. It is not trivial since after a short time near tragedy threatens the happiness of the main characters, who are saved only by the strength of others involved.

The cast includes a veteran group: G. T. Smith, Helen Parsons, Mary Staton, Gerda Brown, Florence Shumaker, Wilfred Roadman, Trudy Harland, Adrian Martin, Roberta Quigley, Jimmy Toner, and George Turnbull.

The performance will be in the lounge of Gerlinger hall with one scene played in the Johnson hall theater. Due to a limited seating capacity, seats will be limited to one hundred persons for each show. All seats will be reserved.

French Classes Top Romance Languages

Although French is still the most popular language in its department claiming 415 of the 740 students enrolled in the romance language department, an increase in Spanish was noted by Dr. Ray P. Bowen, head of the department, from 196 students of last year to this year's list of 300. Twenty-five students are registered in Italian courses.

Five new instructors, three of which are graduate assistants, are working in the language department. Dr. Larrence Lesage comes from the University of Illinois to replace Lewis B. Ellis who has a fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania. He is in the French department.

Anibal Vargas comes from Colombia, South America, to teach Oregon students to speak Spanish. Graduate assistants include Clifton F. Hart from the University of California at Berkeley teaching French, Lewis Earl Richter, Spanish instructor from Minnesota, and Robert Knox, Oregon graduate in the Spanish department.

Not until early Saturday morning will Tex Oliver and his Webfoot warriors entrain for Portland, while via the "grapevine" it is reported that Jimmy Phelan and his pack of Huskies start "mushing" south to the Rose City from Seattle today.

Stuart May Be Out
Webfoot stoc kslid into reverse yesterday and Oregon money plungers turned a shade on the morose side, when it was learned that Big Jim Stuart, All-Coast Duck tackle, may be out of the battle tomorrow. Slightly de-commissioned in scrimmage Wednesday, Stuart wasn't in uniform when the Oregon eleven rehearsed yesterday, 215-pound Ed Moshofsky holding down his berth.

Not a hangover from the Stanford game, and, according to Coach Oliver, nothing too serious, still the injury may keep Big Jim on the bench.

National forecasts tab the Ducks 10 to 7 underdogs, Stuart or no Stuart.

Browning Elected Willkie Club Leader

The campus Willkie-McNary club will be headed by Dave Browning, junior in business administration, as president; after an election last night in Villard hall. Other officers are Roland Rodman, vice-president; Janet Rieg, secretary; and Bob Rogers, treasurer. On the executive committee Wendell Brooks, Dolores Davidson, Joe Gurley, Jack Hay, Ed Luckey, Katherine Thompson, and Virginia Tooze will serve.

The group heard James A. Rodman, president of the Oregon Realtor's board and former speaker of the house in Nebraska, denounce the policy of a third term for any man.

"It is my firm conviction," Rodman said, "that if Franklin Delano Roosevelt is reelected in 1940, there will be no election in 1944!"

He pointed out that many people say a man is better able to run the affairs of the nation after two terms in office. Then after three terms the president would be still better suited to handle the affairs of the nation, after four terms even more able, and there would be no end to it, he declared.

Gurley summarized briefly the work of the organization has done on the campus to date in registering voters, and plans were laid for a meeting to be held next week.

Stanard Leaves

Major Del Stanard, University of Oregon alumni, who is serving a year's duty in the national guard, has recently been transferred to the 116th medical regiment as second in command. Dr. Stanard is president of the Oregon alumni association and, according to Elmer Fansett, secretary of the association has been very active for several years.

Oregon Batters School Quotas

Educational Group Reveals Efficiency in Expenditures

Four of the Oregon state system of higher education's departments bettered the national average for their expenditures during the biennium 1939-40, according to Willard L. Marks, president of the state board of higher education.

Only 8.8 per cent of the local system's income went for administration and service departments, compared to the national average of 10.3. This state would have to expend $120,000 more to equal the average.

A saving of .8 of one per cent was effected in the costs of physical plants.

Stating that instruction costs were one of the chief factors in determining a school's effectiveness, Mr. Marks said that the six schools in the Oregon system spent $37,000 more on this division than if they had been "average" in their percentage.

The local schools invested 4.8 per cent of their income on libraries, almost half again as much as the national average of 3.4 per cent.

Tickets Selling Fast For Concert Series

Reserved seat tickets to the Greater Artist series are selling rapidly, George Root, educational activities manager, announced yesterday.

Root reported that 443 season tickets were sold last year and that 374 had been sold already this year. This means that with the drive only half over, the office has sold nearly as many tickets as were sold all of last year, he said. "And they are still selling," he added.

Tickets sell for $4, $5, and $6 and admit the holder to all five of the features of the series which will be held this fall and winter in McArthur court.

Order of 'O' Plans Homecoming Lunch

Orders of the "O" alumni will be gathered at a luncheon Saturday noon, November 9, given in their honor by active members as a feature of the annual homecoming.

Committees appointed by President Jim Rathbun include: lunch, Al Linn, chairman, Sherm Wetmore, Vic Townsend; publicity, Pete Igoe, chairman, Bill White, Ehle Reber; entertainment, Boyd Brown, chairman, Paul Jackson, and Earl Sandness.

Infirmaries Holds Bad Eyes, Colds, Even Poison Oak

The eyes have it—that's the general consensus in room seven of the campus infirmary. It seems that Byron Mayo and Don Wilson are spending all their time playing childhood games such as blind man's buff, etc. Each has one eye closed and both are in a bad way.

Mayo rushed the season a bit, went out on a picnic, and wound up with poison oak spread all over his cranium. Wilson is the proud possessor of a minor eye infection. Done one door in room eight, Bruce Crichton is dubbed as the infirmary enigma. He's just down there for general principles.

Others who reside in the 13th street institution include: Maxine Sherman, Mary Heron, Jane Kaarbal, Leota Whitecock, Carol Fries, Betty Klien, Jean Etkley, Alex Kindig, Fred Hill, Alan Foster, and Dorman Alford.

Saturday Last Day To Change Courses

Change cards to add or change course or petitions for late registration must have gone through the registrar's office by noon this Saturday, October 12.

While new courses may be entered until October 19, the academic requirements committee of the faculty has determined that notice must be on file by this weekend.

This regulation also applies to cases in which students wish to change from one term of a subject to another—viz. from BA 112 to BA 111. Withdrawals may be applied for at any time until December 14, the weekend before final examinations.

UO YMCA Will Begin Annual Drive Soon

The University of Oregon YMCA's annual membership drive will begin Tuesday, October 15, and continue through October 23, Paul Sutley, Y secretary, announced last night. Plans as to details are now being formulated by Bob Lovell and Milton Small, co-chairmen of the drive.

The University group is organized under its own student officers and acts under programs formed by student members.

Membership is open to all men who are interested in the program, Mr. Sutley stated. The drive will be centered both in the houses on the campus and with students who do not live in organized living groups.

Girls to Discuss Value of College

Symposium Group Will Collect Data For 1940 Speeches

"The value of college to women," was chosen as the subject for this year's girls' symposium team which will tour the state.

This all-campus group, which held its initial meeting at the speech division earlier this week, offers experience to girls interested in public speaking.

Work will begin immediately on gathering facts and figuring a solution for the subject chosen. The material will be ready for presentation to audiences of Oregon, Washington, and California winter term.

About 1200 books pertaining to this question are available at the University library and they will serve as a source for material.

At present the group includes Dorothy Dunham, Genevieve Working, Jean Person, Lois Nordling, Elva Jane South, Darlene Warren, Michi Yasui, Marge Dibble, Lois Becholdt, Jane Hooker, and Betty Stuart. It is open to additional women students.

FBI School to Draw Officers to Campus

Seventy-five Oregon policemen will arrive on the campus Monday, October 14, to attend the Federal Bureau of Investigation school for police officers. The League of Oregon Cities, located in the University law school is sponsoring the school in connection with the FBI and the Oregon association of police officers.

President Donald M. Erb will give the opening address to the visitors during the elementary course which will last one week. Other members of the faculty who will speak during the week are: Dean Eric Allen and Dean Wayne L. Morse. The group will be addressed by J. D. Swenson, special agent in charge of FBI instruction, on the subject of national defense responsibilities of the municipal police.

The school is open only to registered city policemen and an advanced class will follow this session on October 21 for men who attended the school last year.

Cavanagh Says:

Liberty is the birthright of all, E'en freshman, so they teach, But coices be upon the mug What gave them freedom of speech. J.W.S.

The Three O'clock club, Emerald workers honorary, held its first official meeting of the year last night.

Wallet Still Lost; Jobs Help Youth Stay in School

Vincent Yardum is still in school. For a while it looked as if he would have to drop out if he didn't find his wallet. He lost it on a trip down town last week. In it was $23, all he had.

He was working for his room, but he had no money for food, until his NYA check would arrive late in the month.

The Emerald printed a story about Yardum's plight in the hope that his wallet would be returned. So far, it has not, but Mrs. Evangeline Morris, housing secretary, reports that the story brought him enough jobs to enable him to stay in school.

Webfoot Rally Cheers Players On to Portland

The Oregon student body shook the lead from their feet and the cobwebs from their lungs yesterday and joined in a pep assembly that jammed Gerlinger hall. The gathering's purpose was to start the fire burning for the Webfoot-Husky grid battle in Portland's Multnomah stadium Saturday afternoon.

Coach Tex Oliver took the stage and drew the cheers of the studentry, as he "assumed the blame" for last week's defeat at the hands of the Stanford Indians, and expressed the team's and his gratitude for such enthusiastic backing.

Happy because it was the biggest football pep assembly in years, ASUO President Gleeson Payne announced that the living organization showing the most spirit at future assemblies would be rewarded with a trophy.

The ralloers had two types of musical entertainment—the band and Eddie Gibson's swing band. Cheer Leader Woody Slater and his rally squad led the crowd in yells and introduced two new ones, to be used at the game Saturday. Pat Taylor demonstrated three female telephone techniques to the students. She, and the crowd, were disturbed by the escapades of stooges who strolled around with potted plants, teapots, and blank-cartridge pistols.

Payne asked students to be in the student section at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon so as to insure their getting seats and to relieve possible congestion at the Multnomah stadium gates.

Rates Announced On Student Specials

Two special trains will leave Friday for Portland, one at 12:20 p.m. and one at 4:20, and one will leave Saturday morning at 8:30 to take Webfoot rooters to the Oregon-Washington game. Round trip fares for the specials Friday will be $2.75, and the Saturday fare will be $2.50. The returning special will leave Portland Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

Conscription Topic Of Two Broadcasts

To stimulate the cause of conscription and the interest of national defense, Lt. Colonel Elmer V. Wooton, state director of selective service, yesterday announced the addition of two lectures to be broadcast at 3:15 p.m. on Pacific coast stations Friday and Saturday over the Red network of the National Broadcasting company.

The Friday broadcast will be a talk by Lt. Colonel Victor J. O'Kellier. The Saturday broadcast will be by Captain Ernest M. Culligan.

Pep Squad Plans Weekend Rallies

Serpentine Parade, Saturday Game, Dances Complete Three-Day Schedule Of Activity in Portland

Fur and feathers will fly over the Rose City this weekend as Oregon and Washington pep squads and fans make the trip to Portland to urge their respective football squads on to victory.

As hosts of the three days of gridiron festivities, the Webfoot school, under the leadership of Pat Keller and his rally committee, have planned a "big three" entertainment program.

The imported University of Oregon student body will meet at the Benson hotel at 8:30 for the serpentine march up Broadway behind their Lemon and Green uniformed band. The Webfoot pep squad and the visiting Washington rally team will lead the parade to the central rallying point.

Carson to Speak
The short pre-game open air pep meeting will feature a short welcome address by Mayor Joseph K. Carson and Tiger Payne, ASUO president. Woody Slater, chief yell leader, will be master of ceremonies of the program.

All students who expect to sit in the reserved rooting section are asked by the yell king to be in their seats by 1 o'clock as that part of the grandstand will be thrown open to general admission at that time. Boys are also asked to wear white shirts and the Oregon-colored rooters lids.

Dance at Jantzen
The grand finale of the Portland weekend will be the rally squad-sponsored dance at Jantzen beach where students from the northern and southern universities will intermingle and twirl to the music of Bob Mitchell's orchestra. Mitchell's orchestra is well-known to campus audiences for his Military ball and Junior prom appearances. Bids will sell for 75 cents.

The registration cards, samples of which are in view on the bulletin boards in Johnson hall and the Journalism building, contain 11 main questions. Registrants must swear to the truth of their answers. Assisting Colonel Lyon will be second-year advanced ROTC students.

All males between the ages of 21 and 36 will be required to register for service, except those subject to call in various reserve forces or those taking advanced ROTC under contract. Eugene residents are requested to sign up in their local office.

Cards will be forwarded to the students' home draft board so that registrants will be called only to fill their home quotas. College students enrolled before January are exempted from service, but not from registration, until July 1, 1941.

Choral Union Starts 'Messiah' Rehearsal

An enthusiastic chorus of "Allelujahs" started the University Choral union on its second year Thursday, with Dean Theodore Kratt directing 450 student voices in a preliminary rehearsal of George Frederic Handel's "The Messiah."

The Choral union gave the biggest musical performance of a classical work ever offered to Eugene audiences last April in McArthur court when Mendelssohn's "Elijah" was presented.

Present plans call for "The Messiah" to be given in McArthur court the last week in February under the auspices of the ASUO. Negotiations are under way to bring nationally known soloists to the campus for this production, as was done last year.

The University symphony orchestra will provide the orchestral background. Eugene townspeople who would like to take part are asked to register at once, and to attend the rehearsals at three o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Handbooks on Sale

Handbooks providing basic information about the University library are on sale at the circulation desk in the library for five cents.

The purpose of this book is to acquaint new students with the arrangement of the library and to assist them in using various rooms for their studies to the best advantage.

Grad Fills Position

Rosalind Gray, Oregon '35, has recently taken over the duties of records clerk and secretary at the alumni office.

This position was held by Vivian Foley '41 who left during the summer to join her husband Bill Foley '40 in Palo Alto.

Draft Registry Set for Igloo

UO Men, Ages 21 To 36, Will Sign For Conscription

Registration of Oregon students under the selective service act will take place Wednesday, October 16, in McArthur court. Men may register from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., according to Colonel R. M. Lyon, in charge of University registration.

All males between the ages of 21 and 36 will be required to register for service, except those subject to call in various reserve forces or those taking advanced ROTC under contract. Eugene residents are requested to sign up in their local office.

Cards will be forwarded to the students' home draft board so that registrants will be called only to fill their home quotas. College students enrolled before January are exempted from service, but not from registration, until July 1, 1941.

The registration cards, samples of which are in view on the bulletin boards in Johnson hall and the Journalism building, contain 11 main questions. Registrants must swear to the truth of their answers. Assisting Colonel Lyon will be second-year advanced ROTC students.

Singing Contests Return to Campus

The interfraternity council has recently adopted a plan to bring the annual sing contest back on the campus, according to Tiger Payne, ASUO Prexy.

This plan is in accordance with the policy of keeping student activities on the campus and away from commercial enterprises. Wally Rossman will handle the business arrangements for the contest and Les Ready the actual singing.

The council will promote the idea through the heads of the women's living organizations and the representatives of the council from the men's. Those who will be in charge of the promotion will be Eggert "Dutch" Rohyer and Barbara Pierce.

Amphibian Club To Stage Tryouts Next Thursday

Membership tryouts for the Amphibian club will be Thursday, October 17, and the next Thursday, October 24. Any girl who wishes to join may try out. The women's pool will be open every afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, so that applicants may practice.

Last night the Amphibians initiated six new members. Red roses and the gold Amphibian "A" went to Initiates Frances Jackson, Lisabeth Dagggett, Jeanette Neilson, Elizabeth Rowe, Jane McCurdy, and Mary Anderson. Miss Josephine Persicano, exchange physical education major from New York university, was voted honorary membership. Cider and doughnuts were served.
