Dr. Townsend Addresses Igloo Group

OARP Originator Deplores Economic Status of Youth

By BILL FENDALL

Putting more force behind the simple expression "by jolly" than this writer could sum up for terms that would keep this edition out of the mails, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, leader of the national recovery plan, emphasized in an after-speech interview last night in a downtown hotel his claim that "The present economic condition into which people of your age enter from universities constitutes the base of the atrocious crime in the history of the world's civilization."

Speaking before 1500 people in McArthur court last night, some of whom wore Townsend club ribbons from towns up and down the coast, Dr. Townsend pointed out how Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal had failed as an answer to the current economic problem.

"Here's an economic situation which ruins thousands of young men and women," the doctor asserted, switching the theme of his speech to the evening to correspond with problems of collegiate youth.

Dr. Townsend revealed by statistics how young people of America will profit by the opening of professions which will come through the acceptance of the recovery plan.

"We are going to be overloaded with talent that has no opportunity," the 74-year-old economist, who is still as tough as leather, exclaimed.

Robert Monaghan, secretary to Dr. Townsend, prefaced the doctor's talk with a speech on the current progress of the Townsend recovery plan in congress and throughout the country.

The doctor will leave for Grants Pass today where he is to be initiated into the nationally-famous Oregon Cavemen. His plans will carry him on a complete circuit that ends up in New York just prior to election day.

Nurses Rescue Freshman From Inhaling Bag

Laff of the week—Today some unidentified freshman whooped into the beauty room of the campus infirmary to get his bi-weekly facelifting treatment via the paper bag method. He tackled the job with such fervor that it took three nurses and half the staff to get him out of the paper bag before he suffocated himself. Handy tip—If no one else is around while you are taking your inhaling treatment, just slip a few tea leaves into the next tea kettle and have your four o'clock shot while you're at it.

Fred Hill couldn't stand prosperity this weekend when they let him out to go home and see the game. He's back in again and plans to take all his finals in bed.

Colds and poison oak still lead on the infirmary scoreboard.

Those who are on "that" list include: Marilyn Beltz, Marion Sherman, Anita Golten, Dorothy Stauffer, Betty Klein, Fern Nutting Dan Lewis, Glenn Mitchell, Dorman Alford, Dominic Valpiani, Lynne Bockes, Thomas Phillips and Fred (I don't want to go to bed) Hill.

One Day Left In Homecoming Slogan Contest

Five Dollar Prize Offered for Best "Catch Line" Idea

The 1940 Homecoming slogan will be chosen Friday and all slogans must be turned in by 6 p.m. Thursday either at the College Side or the Co-op.

A prize of $5 will be given to the student whose slogan is used this year, according to Joe Gurley, general chairman of the event.

"The slogan need not be elaborated, all we want is a catch line to base our promotion program about," said the chairman.

The program for this year's reunion will be officially announced later, but according to Gurley it will be nearly the same as in the past. Friday evening will feature the noise parade, a rally following it, and the frosh-rook football game. "This year," stated the chairman, "we will have two football games instead of one and we hope to keep that idea and introduce it as a tradition."

New Picture Series Set for UO Showing

Educational Films To Cover Varied Subjects

Steps to bring a series of educational motion pictures covering a variety of subjects, to the campus were initiated yesterday by the new educational features committee in their first official meeting.

Films Discussed

The committee discussed several types of films, finally determined on a well-rounded series covering the arts and music, economics, political and social sciences, history, etc., as the best way to make the series appeal to all the students.

There will be no charge to students on any of the pictures, the entire cost being covered by a special allotment of $300 in the educational activities budget. This budget will also make it possible for the committee to bring several noted lecturers to the campus.

Plans Indefinite

No definite announcement of the films available under the series was made, but tentative plans list several pictures of national and international importance for the year's program. The names and fields covered by these films will be announced at a later date.

Students and faculty members wishing to recommend pictures for the program are requested to contact Karl Onthank, chairman of the committee, or one of the members. The members are: Dan E. Clark, Theodore Kratt, Marjorie McLean, and Lyle Nelson.

Actress Will Acquire Scotch Accent to Play Wife in 'Touch Wood'

University Players Production Comedy, Tragedy Featuring "Husband Trouble"; Given October 18, 19, 23 at Gerlinger Hall

Gerda Brown will take on a Scotch accent when she appears as a wife with "husband trouble" in the University players production of "Touch Wood," October 18, 19, and 23 at Gerlinger hall.

Mrs. Brown has been in numerous campus productions: "Our Town" is the most recent. She has also been very active in the Very Little Theater shows with prominent parts in "The Women," and "The Drunkard" which were presented last season.

Scotch Setting

"Touch Wood" by Dodie Smith is a new comedy about English resort life. It takes place in a Scotch hotel where the characters are guests. It is not trivial since near tragedy threatens the happiness of the main characters who are saved only by the strength of others involved.

Director Horace W. Robinson has made the play unique with his idea of a perambulating production, which means that the audience moves instead of the scenes. This novel idea provoked sighs of (Please turn to page four)

Frosh Defer Constitutional Meeting Date

No Hall Available For Scheduled Adoption Balloting

The freshman class will not meet tonight as previously scheduled, because there is no place to hold the meeting, John Cavanagh, first vice-president of the student body announced yesterday. He said that the class might meet Thursday if a hall could be obtained.

Villard assembly, where the class met last Wednesday, is not large enough to hold the large group expected, he explained, and Gerlinger and Music are both being used.

The class was scheduled to meet to vote on the proposed constitution which Cavanagh read to them last Wednesday night. Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, and Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, were to have been present.

When the class met last week they adopted an amendment to the proposed constitution which would extend voting privileges to all freshmen, whether or not they were class card holders.

Williston Wirt of the First Congregational church. Afternoon sessions will be held from 2 to 4:45 p.m. The visitors will be divided into sections according to the offices they occupy.

At 4:45 they will be assigned to fraternities and private homes for the weekend and will adjourn for the afternoon.
