

EDIT PAGE:

Keep the Campus
Accident Toll
Within Bounds

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

SPORTS PAGE:

Duck Tracks
Frosn Ball
Intramurals

VOLUME XLII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1940

NUMBER 17

'Trek the Oregon Trail' Wins Contest

Frosh Retain Cards For Vote Privilege; Adopt Constitution

Action Invalidates Proposed Document Read at Initial Meeting of Class; Call for Question Brings Climax

By ANN REYNOLDS

Freshmen last night voted to adopt the constitution used by previous freshman classes, thus retaining class cards as a basis for voting privileges in class meetings and elections.

This action invalidates the ASUO-sponsored "streamlined" constitution introduced at an initial meeting Wednesday, October 9, which proposed free voting privileges to all members, regardless of class card ownership.

Question Called

After short debate the question of free vote was settled by an almost immediate call for the question and vote on the motion adopting the traditional constitution.

A second motion calling for immediate action in the furthering of plans and appointment of a committee to work on the annual freshman bonfire at Homecoming was defeated, thus deferring action until after election of officers. Definite expression of enthusiasm was evidenced by several speakers for continuing the tradition of the freshman bonfire.

Nominating Assembly

Chairman John Cavanagh, ASUO first vice-president, announced at the close of the meeting that the nominating assembly for class officers for the coming year will be held some time next week, the date to be announced in the Emerald.

Carl G. Hambro To Speak Here

Norwegian to Talk On Native Country And World Peace

Dr. Carl G. Hambro, former president of the Norwegian parliament and the last president of the League of Nations will give a free lecture on "What Happened in Norway" at 8 o'clock in Gerlinger hall assembly room Tuesday, October 22.

Dr. Hambro will be honored with a dinner in St. Mary's Episcopal church's parish hall the night of his speech. Sponsored by All Saints guild of the church, the dinner begins at 6 p.m. Tickets are available for faculty members of the University at Dean Karl Onthank's office in Johnson hall. Anne Dean will sell tickets to students at Westminster house. The charge is 65 cents.

Attorney Tells Club Of Wendell Willkie

H. V. Johnson, Eugene attorney and friend of Wendell Willkie, addressed the Willkie-McNary club on "Willkie the Man" last night in Villard hall.

Plans were made for the group to attend ex-Governor Martin's address at 8 p.m. Wednesday evening in the Eugene armory. The speech will be sponsored by the Eugene Pro-America club. Dave Browning, president of the Willkie-McNary club, extended an invitation to all University students to attend.

Browning said that Willkie will speak to the nation's youth Monday, which he has named as "National Youth Day." Time and station will be announced later. Plans to stimulate student interest in the speech were discussed at the meeting.

Tabard Inn To Sponsor Talent Hunt

Campus Writers To Enter Original Stories in Contest

A "campus talent round-up" to stimulate creative writing and to encourage literary talent in University men was inaugurated Thursday night in the men's lounge in Gerlinger hall at a closed meeting of Tabard Inn, men's writing honorary, it was announced last night by Glenn Hasselrooth, president.

Tabard Inn, which is the University chapter of Sigma Upsilon, men's national literary fraternity, asks that campus men submit original manuscripts which will be read before the group and voted on with the cooperation of an advisory committee composed of W. F. G. Thacher, professor of English and advertising; George Root, educational activities manager, and Kenneth Shumaker, assistant professor of English.

Honorary Membership

"Winner" of the round-up, adjudged by the group to be the most talented entrant, will be awarded an honorary membership in Tabard Inn. Entrants showing promise will be considered for membership. Any male student enrolled at the University is eligible. Rules for the competition are as follows:

Contest Rules
1. Manuscripts must be original, typed double space on one side of paper, and must not be more than 5,000 words in length.

2. Short stories, "short shorts," plays, and poems will be accepted. No essays will be accepted.

3. Manuscripts should be turned in to Glenn Hasselrooth at the new bureau, 1259 Fourteenth avenue, east, not later than November 13.

Further details about the contest and Tabard Inn's plans for the year will be announced in Saturday's Emerald.

Church Groups Plan Open House Tonight

Both Westminster and Wesley house are featuring dancing, table games, and singing tonight at their regular Friday evening open house.

Murray Adams has charge of the social at Wesley house which begins at 8 p.m. Westminster house will be open from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

Unequal to the Occasion (An Editorial)

IN one stroke last night members of the freshman class nullified their previous action to extend the vote to all and went back to the age-old system of requiring class cards.

By almost the same majority the frosh voted to use the constitution which has served classes for so many years—voted this constitution although no one had a copy or could remember having read one.

The meeting was obviously politically pre-arranged. From all appearances there were two sides, well versed in how to vote. The arguments on both sides were feeble and had little effect on a group which had already made up its mind.

The freshmen had a serious decision to make, a decision which should not have been made on purely political grounds—yet it was just that.

The constitution which the freshmen turned down was prepared by a special committee headed by several prominent law school students. It was prepared at the request of one executive committee and was accepted by another. It was an attempt to get away from some of the bad features of politics on the campus and as such received the support of the entire ASUO executive group.

BOTH executive committees realized the need for a little house cleaning in campus politics. For years there have been demands for reform. The constitution was the executive committee's answer.

In turning down the new constitution the freshmen ignored all demands for reform—voted to go back to the old political system. Their action should cause them to wonder.

The class of '44 had a chance to follow the executive committee's lead in attempting to clean up politics, they had a chance to initiate the program among the classes. In the final analysis they had an opportunity to do something for the University.

That they shirked this responsibility is evident.

Oregana Sales Drive Nears Seven Per Cent Raise; Ends Saturday

Yearbook Will Go on Sale for Last Time At Winter Term Registration; Williams Appoints Business Staff

The Oregana sales drive which terminates tomorrow has resulted in an approximate seven per cent increase in Oregana sales, Dick Williams, business manager, announced yesterday. Exact figures were not revealed.

The drive has been carried on intensively for the past two weeks with Oregana representatives in each living organization, he explained.

Last Chance Nears

He said that students would be offered a chance to buy the annual again at the beginning of winter term, but that that would be positively the last time it would be offered.

Students holding ASUO athletic cards are entitled to a one dollar discount on the regular $5 price. A one dollar deposit may be paid now, one dollar at the beginning of winter term, one dollar at the beginning of spring term and balance taken from the student's general deposit, he continued.

Business Staff Named

Members of the Oregana business staff were named by Williams early this week. They will help in all work of the business department. They are Bettie Morfit, Betty Workman, Doug David, Edgar

(Please turn to page four)

'Touch Wood' Opens Tonight In Gerlinger

Informality Reigns As Players Issue 'No Dress' Decree

Informality will be the keynote when first-nighters attend the opening of "Touch Wood" tonight in Gerlinger hall. Although the absence of dress clothes shatters campus tradition of formal attire for theater openings, it is believed that due to the informality of the play it will rate audience approval.

Resort Comedy

"Touch Wood" is an English resort comedy, and playgoers sans evening clothes are expected to gain an equal footing with the atmosphere of the play.

Tickets Sell Fast

According to Adrian Martin, business manager, tickets are selling rapidly. Admission is fifty cents, and tickets can be purchased at the Johnson hall box office, or in the Campus shop on Thirteenth street. All seats will be reserved, but due to limited seating capacity, attendance will be restricted to one hundred persons for each performance.

"Touch Wood" is the University players first performance of the season. It is directed by Horace W. Robinson.

Thief Assesses Watches, Coat At SAE House

Sigma Alpha Epsilon have not lost their pledges—yet, but $70, one overcoat, and three watches walked out some time Tuesday evening.

The SAE's, purely by accident, had an active posted until 3 o'clock in the morning but between that hour and 6 o'clock, someone assessed the belongings and "took a powder."

SAE members have taken necessary steps in informing campus officials and city police of their loss and hope to welcome their "truant" property soon.

Faculty Members Place in Art Exhibit

Miss Brownell Frasier and David John McCosh, of the art school faculty, and Mrs. David McCosh, were three of a small group of artists to have their work judged as the best in the All-Oregon art exhibit, held in Portland last spring.

Every faculty member of the University art school entered the exhibit, which included work from 320 different artists from all over the state. A group of twenty paintings, etchings, sculpture, and lithographs, which were considered the finest by judges, toured the state and were shown at all the WPA art centers in Oregon.

Portrait of Mrs. Charles Thompson, of Eugene, named by critics as one of the best paintings in the show, was Miss Brownell Frasier's contribution to the top twenty.

Miss Frasier is an associate professor of interior design in the University of Oregon art school.

David McCosh, instructor of drawing and painting came to the University in 1934.

Beer on Draft

We've at last found a use for the draft card. (We're glad that our long search is done.) If you now want a beer You can make it quite clear That your age really is twenty-one. —J.W.S.

Slogan Chosen For Homecoming

Christianson, Miss Spearow Write Motto for Early November Fete; 50 Ideas Entered in Competition

By BILL FENDALL

"Trek the Oregon Trail" is the 1940 University of Oregon Homecoming slogan!

Jean Spearow and Ken Christianson, Emerald sports writers, entered the winning slogan which was picked last night by Homecoming committee officials from over 50 entries.

The slogan will be printed on posters, hung in windows, stamped on Homecoming stationary, painted across banners, used in house signs, broadcast throughout the state, and run in Homecoming news dispatches sent from the campus between now and Homecoming weekend November 8, 9, and 10.

Other slogan entries considered by the judges were "All Oregon—Eyes Oregon," submitted by Eula Elwood; "A Bruin We Will Go," handed in by Melvin Holt; "Ducks—Come Home to Roost," by John Callahan and V. A. Meyer's "Homebruin Oregon."

'Sweethearts' Vie for Honors

Sigma Chi Eyes Cuties of Campus In Quest for Beauty

All eyes in women's living organizations are focused on one spot on the campus as two girls from each house are being entertained at the Sigma Chi house as the fraternity begins their annual "sweetheart" campaign.

The first round of the "getting acquainted" period ended last night when the last half of the forty contestants were guests of honor at an informal dessert at the fraternity house.

Each of the coeds will be invited back for a formal dinner next week according to co-chairmen Hank Wagner and Jeff Kitchen. The five finalists will then be selected by the members.

Formal announcement of the adopted "sweetheart" will take place over radio station KORE.

Vying for the honor of wearing the white cross are: Georgia Hartman, Jean Huff, Betty Chambers, Elna Ramey, Betty Mae Wiegand, Eula Baird, Yvonne Torgler, Dorothy Flannery, Bette Reymers, Marjorie McClung, Mary Thomas, Rylla Hatten, Emma Verdeeman, Doris Emory, Betty Kincaid, Jane Furrow, Carol Johnson, Aythelia Smith, Mary Robinson, Bonnie Townsend, Blanche Svoboda, Ann Reynolds, Bette Hunt, Aldne Gates, Joan Supple, Carol Boone, Mary Bentley, Dorothy Havens, Anne Voderberg, Bette Anne Leomon, Fern Fwanstrom, Emma Jean Hossmaster, Roberta Sinclair, Mary Ellen Butts, Ardell Boender, Ruth Revell, Zolo Dykaman, Barbara Rundell, and Bette Dunivan.

Hudson Will Speak At Religious Council

Howard Hudson, instructor in architecture, will speak on "Living Creatively" at the weekly meeting of the University Religious council next Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. at Westminster.

All interested students are invited and urged to attend any and all of the council's meetings. Pauline Pengra and Genevieve Workhig are in charge of music and devotion.

Helen Horner will play several selections on the violin for the group.

Libe Maps Shown

A directory of the University library building showing the location of all rooms and their contents has been placed at both main entrances to the library.

Piggers' Guide Goes to Press Early in Week

Skull and Dagger, Kwamas to Handle Student Director

By JEFF KITCHEN

Oregon classified directory of who lives where—the Piggers' Guide—will roll off the press early next week, according to a statement made Thursday by Helen Angell, editor of the 1940 edition of "Date Dope."

Final proofs will be taken today on the list of nearly 4,000 student and faculty names that will go into the directory, and work of printing and binding will be completed over the weekend.

Honoraries Handle Sales
Distribution and sales of the popular booklet will be handled by Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore service honoraries. Representatives will be appointed in each living organization to handle sales and the guides will also be sold from special booths in the Co-op and at the Side.

In addition to listing the name, living organization, and telephone number of each student, the guide will contain information on the home address, major and class ranking of every one now registered in school.

Supply Limited
George Mackin, business manager, said that only a limited number of the guides will be printed and students who desire a copy should purchase one as soon as possible after they are placed on sale. In former years the booklets have usually sold out the first day they were offered for sale, and no second printings have been made.

Young Democrats Hear Committeeman

Young Democrats of the University met last night at 7:00 in room 105 journalism and adopted the constitution submitted by constitution committee chairman Hal Olney.

Tom Warlick, former chairman of the Lane county central Democratic committee, spoke to the group, describing the background of the Democrat and Republican parties and tracing the growth of each.

Students Living Out Total Nearly 1000

Approximately 1000 University students are living out this term, according to the most recent records compiled by Mrs. E. M. Morris, housing secretary.

Girls not in any organized campus living organization total about 225. The compilation shows that nearly 750 boys are in boarding houses, private homes, or some other rooming place this term.

With more rooms still available for University students and no more needing a place to stay, the housing situation is well arranged for now, Mrs. Morris said.

OVER THE MANAGER'S SHOULDER

George C. Root, educational activities manager, Dick Williams, business manager of the Oregana, Wilbur Bishop, editor, and Edwin Turnbull, Eugene printer of the annual, inspect a copy of the All-American yearbook soon after hearing of the 1940 award.

Freshman Mothers Invited to Tea

The Portland Mothers' club is giving a tea for mothers of all University freshmen Friday, October 25, at the home of Mrs. William M. Ehrm on 2040 S. W. Laurel, Portland.

All Portland freshmen are asked by the dean of women to write home and urge their mothers to attend the affair.

Delegates Return

Representatives of the University chapter of Gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising honorary, at the national convention of the organization included Marilyn Ashley, Majeane Glover and Dorothy Barclay. The convention was held at Pullman, Washington October 11 to 12.