Representatives of 69 Oregon Schools Arrive on Campus for Annual Conclave; Meetings Begin at 9 a.m. Today

By RAY SCHRICK

More than 200 delegates representing 69 Oregon high schools will officially open the sixteenth annual Oregon High School Press association conference this morning, Charles Hulten, meeting head, announced last night.

Thursday reports of enrollment indicated that the largest representation in the history of the association will be on hand when Bob

Banquet at Osburn

Three sessions are in store for delegates today with a banquet in the Osburn hotel rounding out a program of morning and afternoon discussion.

Entertainment for the banquet will include songs by a quartet, a skit by Pat Taylor, University student, on sorority girls answering telephone calls, and a magician act by James Wilson, freshman in journalism. Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, will be toastmaster for the occasion.

Election of Officers

Election of new officers will be part of the morning program, Hiatt stated. He announced a nominating committee of four students, including Jean Potter, Pendleton; Russell Bissett, Portland; Helen Cox, Klamath Falls; and Gail Murdoch, Astoria.

Conference meetings reopen Saturday morning and continue till noon in Chapman hall. Winning papers in this year's press contest will be announced at 11:40 a.m. Saturday.

The conference program is on page four.

"Ancient and Modern Whale Hunting" is the topic of the address which Dr. R. F. Heizer, anthropology instructor, will give before an open meeting of Sigma Xi, science honorary, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held in 207 Chapman.

Dr. Heizer plans to trace the history of modern whaling and tell the unusual methods which have been employed by whale hunters down through the centuries. The speech will be accompanied by 50 slides and both students and the general public may attend.

Law Students to Pass 'Bar' for Jumpin' Jive

By ANN REYNOLDS

Once again the campus is scheduled for a dust storm which will black out the horizon as the inhabitants of Fenton, future ambulance chasers, will shake from their hoary beards the reward of hard labor and research into the ancient archives.

Each year at this time those wretched creatures of slavery slip from their shackled brains and turn their blinded eyes toward the altar of the muses. Bowing before Lady Frivolity, they lace up their high-buttoned snowshoes and black mail partners into pounding the floorboards at the fairgrounds. The Legal Full Moon Festival dance sponsored by the law school student body this year threatens to be on November 2.

Pass Up 'Bar'

"In keeping with the present administration we have chosen 'National Defense' as the theme for our hard-time dance. All proceeds from the dance, including refreshments of questionable variety, will be donated to the oil-skin department of the national defense

UO Directory Ready Monday For 'Piggers'

Soph Honoraries to Aid Guide Editors With Distribution

The 1940 student directory will be distributed Monday, Helen Angell, copy editor of the book, announced Thursday.

The "Piggers' Guide" will list the name, campus address, phone number, home address, and major of each student in the school, both graduate and undergraduate. Faculty members will also be listed as will all campus living organizations.

Because of a shortage of the Guides last year, Miss Angell has printed a greater number of them this year, she said.

Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore honoraries, will distribute books in living organizations. Interested students may buy them at booths either in the College Side or at the Co-op. They will cost 25 cents.

George Mackin, advertising manager, has contacted merchants in both Portland and Eugene for advertising for the Guide. The Guide is produced by the educational activities department.

In previous years the entire publishing of the Guide has been handled by one person. In dividing the responsibility among Miss Angell, Mackin, and the sophomore service honoraries, the activities department hoped to speed up production of the manual. George Root, activities manager, originated the plan.

AWS Council Sets New Meeting Dates

A regular meeting date for the AWS council was set Thursday afternoon at the first business session of the year. President Betty Buchanan presided.

The next meeting was set for Wednesday, October 30 at 4 o'clock and regular council sessions will be called every other week after that. Fines will be imposed on absent members it was announced.

The method of handling "mum" sales for the football games was decided upon and reviving the Coed Capers was also discussed.

Dr. Erb Will Attend College Conference

Dr. Donald M. Erb, UO president, will leave this morning to attend the National Association of State Universities of America on November 8 and 9. He also will meet with Oregon alumni groups in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, and other cities.

Orchestra Kept Secret

A big-name orchestra, the origin of which is being kept a secret, is promised by Donald Richardson, chairman of the dance committee. Decorations, entrusted to Leon Olmstead, are to be patriotic in red, white, and blue.

The dance, one project of the extensive social program planned by the law school social committee, is an attempt, according to Recken, committee chairman, to encourage the development of the finer social arts among the students who are ivory-tower inclined.

According to the publicity department this year's delirium is said to be the greatest of a long series of successful barn dances. Anyone outside the law school will be admitted only by invitation.

Bad Poison Oak Necessitates 'Rash' Bandage

"The Phantom" is in room five of the infirmary. . . . We haven't been able to figure out whether Mary Jane Robinson has an Elizabeth Arden face pack on, or just a plain burlap sack. Hallowe'en is just around the corner, and if there are any unruly freshmen that need a good scare, just send them up to her. (pd. adv.) The story is this:

It seems that Mary Jane stuck out her chin and consequently received a generous coating of poison oak. The case necessitated covering the entire face with a dish towel sort of an affair, which makes her a raving beauty. She doesn't mind it tho—She's one gal with a sense of humor.

Outside of these trivial matters, everything else is going on according to Queensbury's rules. The campus honorary graduated six patients yesterday, leaving a total of 12 to carry on research. They include: Jim Bailey, Mae Lun, Emile Chan, Helen McKeen, Anita Goltson, Betty Klien, Betty Miller, Mary Jane Robinson, Jim Gibson, Jim Schiller, Tye Hutchins, Jim Grillo and Bob Herndon.

Rally to Precede Pullman Trip

Oregon Students To Bid Football Team 'Bon Voyage'

To the tune of "Mighty Oregon" an auto-serpentine of Oregon students will parade from the College Side at 3:50 tomorrow to the railroad station to see the Duck football team entrain for their Pullman trip.

Bannering their slogan again, "Come to the Side and we'll give you a ride," the ASUO rally squad promise there will be a "fender for everyone."

The University band under the direction of Leader John Stehn will be at the depot to add the musical note to the "bon voyage."

Chalk will be passed out among the students by the pep committee so they may take part in decorating the Washington State-bound train.

Yell directors Bob Greer and Earl Russell will be on hand to direct the cheering of the team as they arrive at the station at 4 o'clock.

UO Group Plan Rally For President's Son

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the president, will speak before Lane county Democrats at 4 p.m. today, Paul Plank, state president of the Young Democrats, announced last night. Arrangements have been made to secure a large turnout from the University of Oregon chapter of the Young Democrats, George Mackin, president, said.

A large rally is being planned by the downtown organizations for the president's son, it was announced. The rally will be at the Lane county Democratic headquarters on East Broadway.

It is planned that the campus organization will work with the downtown organization in order to coordinate the rally, Mackin said.

Noise Parade Heads to Start Ball Rolling

Committee Named: Women's Groups To Draw Partners

Details are being arranged and committee members have been appointed for the annual Homecoming noise parade, George Mackin, chairman of the parade committee, announced last night.

Mackin disclosed that the parade would start at 6:30 Friday, November 8 and would travel over a yet undetermined route. He asserted that it would be "The biggest and best parade that has ever hit the campus."

Pair Off at Side

House representatives should be at the Side at 4 this afternoon, Mackin said, for the pairing off. Sorority representatives will draw fraternity names to determine which women's organization will work with which men's organization, he explained.

Prizes will be awarded to the organizations presenting the best floats in the parade. Theta Chi and Alpha Xi Delta won last year's noise contest. It was the second consecutive victory for the Theta Chis.

The prize winning float was made up of chains mounted on a motor driven wheel, beating against a metal drum, acetylene guns, a huge bell, compressed air hammers and shouts of Theta Chi and Alpha Xi Deltas.

Junior Class Approves New Model Constitution

Kwamas Show Coming Events At Coed Meeting

Skits Introduced Activities Explained By Marge Dibble

Freshman women were given an opportunity to glimpse at this year's social calendar through a series of skits at an assembly given by Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, in Gerlinger hall yesterday at 4 o'clock.

Marge Dibble, president of the Kwamas, acted as master of ceremonies, introducing each number and explaining the social function to be burlesqued.

The Scabbard and Blade ball was represented by three girls attired in ROTC uniforms, who gave an exhibition of drills. Next was the sophomore Whiskerine showing the judging of the best whiskers and the shaving of the winner with a huge axe.

A fashion parade of six girls formally attired gave an idea of the suitable clothes to be worn to the Senior Prom. For Junior Weekend, a Kay Kyser quiz session was enacted with the 'ol' professor wearing a cap and gown. The Mortar Board ball with its traditional girl-take-boy custom was given.

Concluding the skits was one showing the Frosh Glee by an imitation of Benny Goodman and four of his talented musicians attired in every type of costume, with the maestro wearing rolled overalls.

The comical part of the assembly over, Marge Dibble explained that the purpose of the meeting had been to arouse interest in the events to come this year and also to explain how membership into Kwamas is gained on the basis of their scholarship and activities.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment.

'Y' Cabinet Elects Two New Members

Two new members were elected by the YMCA student executive cabinet Wednesday night to fill vacancies in the cabinet.

Ralph Harlow was elected chairman of the Bible study group that meets every Wednesday at 4 p.m. in cooperation with the YWCA. The group is under the supervision of Dr. J. R. Branton of the department of religion.

Leonard Farr was elected chairman of the commission on vocational guidance. This group has three functions: to locate and procure all available material and facilities of the University dealing with vocational guidance, to determine the types of vocation the various departments provide training in, and to conduct discussion on vocations, vocational guidance and the choosing of vocations to fit the person's ability and desire.

Press Delegates Air Views on University

The Woman Speaks . . . "It's a great school and a great house," Pat Layne, one of the girls attending the press conference at the University October 24 and 25, said last night.

Pat attends Roosevelt high school. This is the first time she has visited the University she said and she is "thrilled to death" with the campus and her assigned house, as well as all of its members.

'Pat' Has 'Super Time'

"I don't believe that I've ever had such a super time in my life," added Pat. "Everyone has been swell to me and I am certainly looking forward to the time when I may be a student here at the University."

Secretary Gone As Conference 'Goes to Press'

Allah help the poor reporter who misses a deadline, for having to endure a growling city editor's harrange is anything but pleasant . . . so they say. And "Reporter" Virginia Hoffman will miss a deadline unless she dashes in by 9:40 this morning.

A Winfield high school girl from McMinnville, Virginia is secretary of the high school press conference convening on the Oregon campus this morning. She was still among the "have-not-reported" up until a late hour last night.

CPT Class Open For Applications

Next Air Course Set to Start Work February First

"Students who desire to be included in the next civil pilot training class should put in a formal application immediately," J. C. Stovall, assistant CPT coordinator, said yesterday. The next class will start ground course work February 1.

Mr. Stovall said that the CPT was anxious to build up the list of applicants early so there would be no last minute rush to secure the full quota.

J.C. Necessary

Students in their sophomore year and upperclassmen at the present time are eligible for the course and all persons, between the ages of 19 and 28, who have secured junior certificates, whether enrolled in the University or not, may also fill out an application.

In clarification of a point which has aroused considerable comment Mr. Stovall stated that students were not obligated to take military training upon completion of their CPT course.

Good Eyes Required

Students desiring to be placed in the next class may secure an application in 314 Fenton hall any afternoon from 1 to 5 and Saturday mornings.

As a final important point, assistant coordinator Stovall declared that good vision is one of the first CPT requirements and people with defective eyesight will not be accepted for the course.
