Jackson's 11-Point Spree in Second Half Leads Webfoot Scorers; Team Leaves Friday on Eastern Tour

Rubenstein's Oregonians, captained by Bob Anet of Webfoot fame, sent a badly organized University of Oregon basketball team to defeat Monday night before approximately 800 Eugene fans. It was the second defeat in as many pre-season games for the Webfoots and the first win for the Rubes as the opened their campaign for the Oregon AAU title. The Oregonians are 1940 state AAU champions.

The final score read Rubenstein's 47, Oregon 40.

During the entire first half, play was listless, shooting erratic, and neither team was coordinated. It was supposedly the second practice for the Oregonians. However, experience made up for lack of practice, and the Oregonians scored the points when they were needed and were effective on defense as compared to the Ducks' defense.

ALL-AMERICAN

Vic Sears, Oregon State tackle, captained the Beaver team against Oregon Saturday. Sears was named all-American by the New York Sun Sunday.

THROUGH

Len Isberg, Oregon halfback, will no longer wear the Webfoot colors. It was he who raised Oregon's punting average with the aid of Frankie Boyd and Curt Meham. Isberg played the greatest game of his life Saturday against Oregon State. The Beavers lost to Oregon, 20 to 0.

Coach Howard Hobson last night named Guard Don Kirsch and Forward Quentin Sidesinger to complete the ten-man traveling squad which leaves on a basketball tour of the East Friday. The other Oregon players making the trip are: Vic Townsend, Hank Anderson, Archie Marshik, Evert McNeeley, Paul Jackson, George Andrews, Warren Taylor, and Wally Borrevik.

Paul Jackson, dynamic little Oregon guard, was the mainspring on offense during the second half for the Webfoots. Captain Vic Townsend aided a drowning cause with his ball-hawking. But the Oregonians simply couldn't cope with the experience of the Rubes. The ball-handling of Jack Butterworth, the shot-making of Ted Sarpola, and the all-around effectiveness of John Dick was just too much for Hobby Hobson's team.

Sarpola captured high point honors for both teams with 14 points. Jackson scored 11 marks. Dick of the Rubes and Oregon's two forwards, Hank Anderson and Warren Taylor, tied for third with 10 points each.

The Oregonians made a 35.4 percentage on their field goal attempts. Anet's boys shot 65 times and made 23 of their attempts good. While Oregon could only make 18 of 75 attempts for an ineffective 24 percentage.

Oregon started three sophomores and two seniors in the lineup. These sophomores were Don Kirsch, Wally Borrevik, and Taylor. Borrevik was filling in for Archie Marshik who is slightly ill with a cold, but it is expected that he will be ready for the University of Oklahoma next Monday.

Listless Ball
Matt Pavalunas started the Rube scoring. Townsend tied up the score. Then came an Oregonian spurt. Oregon settled down and began to play listless ball which was matched by Anet's gang. The Ducks slowly forged into the lead like a barge going down a stream.

With seven minutes left in the half, the Oregonians tied up the score at 13 to 13.

Then the Oregonians kept on rolling slowly. By halftime, the count had reached 23 to 16 in favor of the Oregonians.

The Rubenstein inertia was enough to hold it up during the first part of the second half. Anet's gang still poured in points and Hobson's crew showed little in the way of defense which is perhaps natural in pre-season games.

Jackson Sparks
Then Jackson entered the picture. He had previously made no points in the second half. He scored them all at this time going hell-bent-for-election down the sidelines or slipping through the Rube defense near the key. Oregon gathered itself together and pulled to within three points of the Rubes, but the clock was moving on toward the end of the game. The Rubes began to bring stalling tactics into play. Time and again Townsend would steal the ball, and an Oregon man would sink a basket.

But, it was all to no avail, and the Oregonian lead was lengthened to seven points when the gun sounded.

ZIVIC SAMPLES DAVIS' 'TECHNIQUE'

A terrific hook to the groin doubles up Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh world's welterweight champ, in the second round of a bout with Al "Bummy" Davis in New York. Davis has taken a severe lacing in the first round and then came out in the second swinging leather below the belt. The fight was awarded to Zivic by Referee Cavanagh. Oregon's boxing season will be in full swing during the first part of winter term.

Rivals Vie Before 190,000

Over 190,000 fans up and down the coast saw Oregon, Stanford, Washington, and USC sweep to victory over their ancient rivals in the outstanding Pacific coast games of 1940.

Only upset of the afternoon was the charging University of Oregon team's impressive win over Oregon State 20 to 0.

Before a booming crowd of 80,000 people the University of California in California State's "big game," vainly strived to take the mighty Stanfords, but succeeded in scoring only one touchdown.

Stanford Picks Nebraska
It was announced after the game that the undefeated and untied Stanfords were officially selected as the Coast conference Rose Bowl representative. They in turn selected Nebraska to be their opponents.

The Golden Bears valiantly put their heart and soul into this game but apparently it wasn't enough for Stanford, although they had to fight desperately, managed to score twice. There was no individual star in the victorious Indian lineup, but as usual that tremendously speedy backfield of Frank Albert, Pete Kmetovic, Hugh Gallarneau, and Norm Standie teamed up for the win.

In Seattle a surprisingly small crowd of 25,000 watched Washington State and Bill Sewell for three quarters lead the powerful Washington Huskies, and then saw that lead blasted sky high in eight minutes of the fourth period.

Sewell Sparks

It was all Washington State during the first half as they registered a safety and a touchdown, on a 19-yard run by Sewell, to lead at half time, 9 to 6. At the end of the third quarter the score was the same, but within eight minutes of the stupendous fourth the score had changed to 33 to 9, Washington.

Never this season had the brilliant Huskies been so hot as in this period when their determined backs made runs of 6, 38, 87, and 40 yards.

Trojans Win

Down Los Angeles way, USC finally came to life to slap UCLA's faltering Bruins, 28 to 12.

In the cross-town grudge match, nine-time loser UCLA, never had a chance as the Trojans, led by Quarterback Bobby Robertson, went to four touchdowns. His terrific smashes and open field runs dominated USC's play and even outshone Jackie Robinson, who couldn't do anything against the hard-charging Southern California linemen.

Cards' Shaughnessy Is Grid Miracle Man

NEW YORK, Dec. 3, 1940.—Stanford's losers of 1939 have turned into the winners of 1940—and a losing team plus a losing coach have proved that in collegiate football two failures can still make a success. So declares an article published in Look magazine today entitled, "The Coach Who Came Back."

"When he arrived at Stanford," said Look, "the authorities were amazed. Here was a man who claimed to be a football coach, yet he had a soft professorial voice and when you talked to him he listened without interrupting."

Miracle Man

Look's article then proceeds to tell how Clark Shaughnessy, the man who twelve months ago was the prize failure and a laughing stock of football America, set his team on the road to a national championship, and gave the nation its football miracle for 1940.

Some of the ingredients of Shaughnessy's success formula included the building of a great backfield; teaching them more football than they ever knew existed; analysis of Stanford's opponents until they knew everything there was to be known about them.

The offense which Shaughnessy introduced at Stanford, says Look, is based on that used by the Chicago Bears professional team and is so complicated that enemy scouts laughed at the idea of collegians attempting to master a plan of attack designed for the best pros. But Shaughnessy did his job.

Halfback Warren Panushka, a 22-year-old senior at Macalester college who never played football in either high school or college, is in the Macalester starting lineup this year.

HIS BOYS LOST TO ANET'S GANG

Howard Hobson's 1940-41 basketball team lost its second game in as many attempts Monday night to Rubenstein's Oregonians, a team composed largely of ex-Oregon players and headed by all-American Bobby Anet. Hobson takes ten players Friday and heads eastward for Madison Square Garden in the third eastern trip in three years for the Webfoots.
