'We Need Furniture,' Houses Wait to Santa

By BOB WHITELEY
'Dear Santa—please send the house some furniture. Golly how we need it.'

Every fraternity and sorority houses on the campus can use furnishings for their house at any time of the year.

Within a boys' house the problem is quite a bit different than with girls. The gifts have to be of a very wearable nature, yet they have to fit in with the whole scheme of decorations.

A rich oriental rug will greatly enhance the beauty of any room, and the same principle works for the rug as the davenport and chairs.

Den Hints

Recommended furniture for the den includes huge leather upholstered chairs and davenports to match. They will have to be strong, because when 500 pounds of fraternity beef start wrestling around on them—they have to be 'built to take it.'

Draperies Good
Venetian blinds and floor length draperies will make the furnishings complete in any house, and are great assets.

For the living room, occasional chairs, end tables and pictures can always be used to a good advantage. Ash trays that just won't tip over, no matter how hard they are hit, are always welcome.

'Pokers' Help
There's nothing like a good fireplace fire, and something that will make it look just that much better is a good set of andirons.

By far the most welcome gift as far as studying is concerned is new lamps. New, indirect lighting will bring out the beauty in any room.

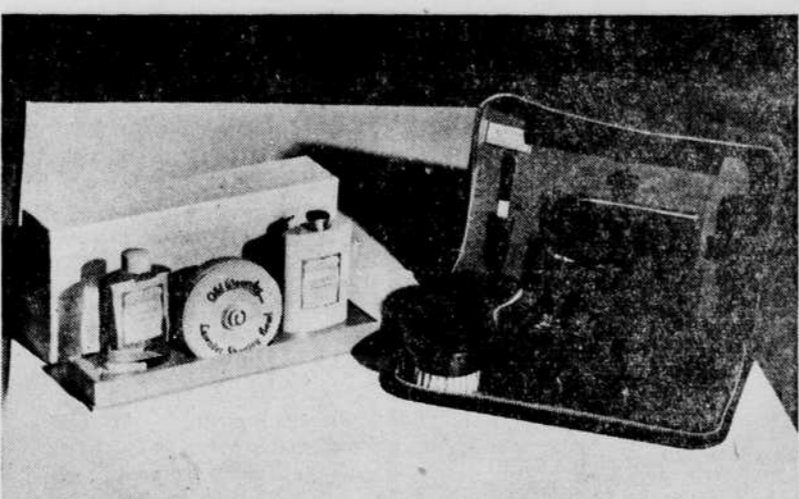

A new radio, pictures, any item of home furnishings can always be used by a house, and are always gratefully appreciated by those who live there.

PATRIOTIC ACCESSORIES

These accessories will light the patriotic fires in milady's heart: the bright red of the suede gloves in milady's heart; the round powder compact is splashed with stars and the American flag.

FOR THE ARMY MAN

Just the gift for that boy friend or brother in the army—a grained leather zipper toilet kit, or a distinctive shaving set with wooden bowl.

Sideshow

Lindbergh made his speech we put his mother-in-law (Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow) on the air—and was that a face card? It was.

'She said, 'Telegraph the White House and your congressman' and the next day... 15,000 telegrams came tumbling down on Washington, saying give the destroyers to Great Britain.'

Only Scolding
So brags Mr. White. The Times quotes him merely as an introduction to scolding him for his frankness, saying that such talk will needlessly arouse suspicion and injure the usefulness of his committee.

The Times is correct, of course, but that was not the reason why Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri had the editorial reprinted in the Congressional Record, nor is it why I am quoting it here.

There is a lot of other pertinent information in this issue of the Record that ought to be cried from the housetops. But space, and the energy of the energy of the Emerald advertising staff, doesn't permit.

Meanwhile, so long till next term, and Merry Christmas.

$19.95, will bring a six-tube super-heterodyne (don't ask what it means) AC and DC current Zenith. If you're a stickler for matching furniture, this one's in a walnut cabinet.

General Electric is peddling a midget radio—six inches high, nine and one-fourth across, and five and one-eighth deep—for $13.95. Works on either AC (alternating current, the kind that comes through the light sockets) or DC (battery stuff).

Then there's that novel combination bed lamp and radio for $21.95. Has adjustable brackets to fit any type bed, six tubes, and a tubular bed lamp enclosed.

Philco Compact
Philco blossoms forth with an AC-DC, attached aerial, no ground needed, five-tube thing for $11.95.

Maybe there's a plutocrat in the crowd. For him there are Philcos at $79.95, RCA Victor combination at $169.50, Zeniths for $79.95, General Electrics for the same price, and Stromberg-Carlsons for—take a deep breath—$220.

So there you are—$7 to $200 plus. That's enough for anybody. Or are you giving socks this Christmas, too.

College Coeds Crave Airplane Luggage

By HELEN ANGELL
Besides all those clothes that make life worth living, there are three articles that every Oregon coed thinks she has to have to be a success... wooden shoes, a string of pearls... airplane luggage.

It's funny about this luggage business... how it hit the feminine collegian with such force that it's now some sort of a tradition to see piles of like bags—light with gay stripes around their middles—stacked in the basements of places where girls hang their hats.

Eager for Luggage
We asked some typical coeds what they thought about bags for Christmas. They were all eager about the whole thing. Trunks aren't so important, they thought, because "you bring them down in the fall and hide them in the basement until spring... and mother's will do."

Why airplane luggage? was queried, "is it just a fad or is there really a reason."

Want Something Unusual
The little brunette being interviewed was disgusted. "College girls have some unusual ideas," she admitted, "but you can trace almost any of them to the fact that it is practical if a bit 'off the beaten track.' Wooden shoes are crazy, but they keep the rain out. And airplane luggage... we choose it!

because it's light, it's durable, it's inexpensive, it's colorful... and it has that sporty casual effect that is the ideal of every coed."

Most college girls like to have the small overnight case for hurried trips on weekends, and the larger weekend case with hangers. The big-size fortnighter, which serves as a small trunk is ideal for longer stays... and our brunette says they must all be matching "to suit the girl's personality."

For girls who live far away, small cases fitted with comb, brush, mirror, and bottles for lotions make an ideal gift. They'll be used on the train going home... and she'll never stop saying, "I love it."

To the Oregon student body. Good luck in your exams, too!

Christmas Worries? How About a Radio?
By JOHNNY KAHANANUI
Does your best friend have a radio? If he does have one, it probably gargles and splutters like yours. Or perhaps it yawns and relapses into spasms of delirium during Jack Benny or a Benny Goodman rampage. To be brazenly blunt, your friend probably needs a new radio, and it's Christmas time, you're beginning to realize, so...
