Super Ducks Take SOCE Twice; Gard, Sandness Set Pace

By DOC HENRY
While the varsity is on its 18-day road trip, the Super Ducks, carried on Oregon's basketball activities by trouncing the Southern Oregon College of Education in two games played last weekend.

The first game was won by the Super Ducks by a score of 35 to 32 and the second game was dominated entirely by Ducks, who won by the margin of 46 to 38.

During the two games the offense of the Super Ducks was sparked by Leonard Gard, hold-over reserve of the varsity, Bill Borchert, reserve on last year's varsity and Earl Sandness, another reserve of last year's varsity.

Triano-Piippo
Joe Triano, J.C. transfer from Auburn, California, and Toivo Piippo, a varsity reserve from last year, dominated the court during both games, with their accurate passing and ball handling.

Tonight the Super Ducks meet the McKees Bakers in a maple court tilt at the Igloo. December 20 they meet Pacific university at Forest Grove and on the 21st they play either Linfield or Oregon Normal. December 26, they play in Portland, December 27 in Salem, and December 28 in Eugene, all three opponents are as yet unnamed.

Among those out for the Super Ducks at the last practice were Cliff Anet, former Astoria high star, Dick Horne of football fame, Don Mabee, of McMinnville, Stan Short, former numeralman and star from Roseburg high, Marsh Stenstrom, and Buck Berry.

Duck Divoter Sinks 'Dodo' at Laurelwood

By WALLY HUNTER

That elusive little god of good fortune who singles out a fortunate few to occupy a place in his hall of good luck, Sunday picked Clay Jones, a University sophomore, to fill a niche in the golfing hall of fame.

Jones playing in a threesome with Paul Hoppe and one other unidentified golfer, made a hole-in-one on the 125-yard hole number three of Laurelwood golf course in Eugene.

A golfer for about seven years, this is the first time that he has been able to achieve the goal of all golfers—the coveted and revered hole-in-one. "I came close several times but never had one that dropped that extra inch," he explained while stumbling for the correct and most descriptive adjectives he could utter. "That hole-in-one was my biggest golfing thrill and I'm just sorry that I wasn't in a match."

Clay said that he couldn't believe that it went in at first. After the shot he addressed his playing partners with "Did that darned thing go in." He then jumped up on a nearby bench so as to see the green better. "I thought that there might be a dip in the green hiding it so I hurried up closer to the cup. I couldn't see it (the ball) around the pin so I looked in the cup and hollered, 'Whoopie!!!"

Although this ball has done one of the most prodigious tricks in golfdom it is not yet assured of an easy old age. "I put the ball back in my bag to use for my next hole-in-one. It's a pretty good ball." Clay murmured in a tone that was close to reverent. Jones was last year a member of the Webfoots' freshman golfing squad. He made his numerals and plans to try out for a spot on the Duck varsity this year.

Wally Clark Added To Crack Terry-Evans-Hagen Trio

The Portland Day trail races at Mt. Hood this Christmas vacation will mark the initial appearance of Oregon's ski team this season.

Prospects for this year's team look bright, especially since it is possible that last year's trio of Hank Evans, Bert Hagen, and Tom Terry may remain intact. Severe leg fractures sustained at a ski meet in Nevada last spring forced Burt to put his waxed slats up for the rest of the season.

The requirements for a four-way meet is a four-man team, three of whom must be jumpers. Evans, Hagen, and Terry are all jumpers of proven ability and this year Oregon welcomes a promising newcomer in the person of Wally Clark, who may prove an ace in the hole besides stepping right into a varsity position as fourth member of the team.

Wally, son of the late Professor R. C. Clark and graduate of University high, will probably be the team's top man in slalom. He has an outstanding record as a junior skier in spite of the fact that he is extremely handicapped when bad weather fogs the lenses of his glasses.

In any four-way meet Oregon's longest and strongest point is jumping. Last year the Ducks placed first in the jumping event in the Coast conference championship at Snoqualmie Pass, with Tom Terry chalking up the longest jump of the meet—116 feet.

With possible meets scheduled all over the Northwest from Reno to Yosemite, the Oregon ski team voices only one desire. "All we want from Santa Claus is one top notch skier with a nine-passenger car to take us to and from the meets."
