Rules for Dads' Day Contest Announced

COEDS ONLY ...
Junior Women
Plan Assembly
At 4 Thursday

Phi Thetas Feature
Men on Program
For Freshman Girls

For their first assembly of the winter term Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, has chosen an idea that is completely different, according to Elizabeth Steed, president. The assembly, one of a series given for the freshman girls, is scheduled for Thursday from 4 to 5 in Gerlinger.

Leaders to Speak
The program, designed to help the freshmen meet campus leaders, will feature the outstanding men on the campus.

"Of course the main guest will be Dr. Donald M. Erb," said Elizabeth Steed, "and we hope all the girls will come and meet our guests of honor."

Following the talks of the men will be a musical program by the Delt quartet and Les Ready, Phi Thetas in charge of the assembly are Betty Plankington, refreshments, and Helen Angell and Mary Kay Riordan, publicity.

YWCA Membership
Drive Under Way

The YWCA membership drive for winter term began last night, under the chairmanship of Carolyn Kortge, and will last for a week.

According to YW president, Jean Crites, the membership cards will sell for $1.00, and will include participation in very extensive programs for both winter and spring terms.

Representatives will take charge of the card sales in their own organizations.

Sour Grapes No. 5
This one thing I'd like to say. You cannot change a G. P. A. G. P. A.'s accumulation. Strun by our Administration. And so the girls in the co-op Always end up right on top. The cynic in me surely shines. As I write these closing lines. Bet they'd sure be in a fix. Were they run by politics.

Oreganas Go To Winners

By RAY SCHRICK
Style, originality, conciseness, and interest in asking dad to the Oregon campus February 7, 8, and 9 will set the basis for awarding prizes in the Dads' weekend letter writing contest, Buck Buchwach, chairman of the promotion committee, announced last night.

Complete rules at a committee meeting yesterday set a limit of 250 words on all entries and declared that January 24 will be closing date for the contest. Judges will be R. D. Horn, associate professor of English, Robert Leeper, associate professor of psychology, and George Turnbull, professor of journalism.

Contest winners, one boy and one girl student, will receive Oreganas autographed by President Donald M. Erb. Buchwach stated that copies of the prize-winning letter will be distributed on the campus January 28 by the publicity committee.

Some Entries In
Entries have already begun to trickle in, and all students writing letters may turn them in to Stan Staiger, general weekend chairman, the ASUO office in McArthur court, or to Buchwach.

"We want all students whether they officially enter the contest or not, to write home to their dads," Buchwach declared. "Contest entries are encouraged, but we hope that each student will make it a point to see that his dad comes to Oregon for this year's weekend."

Program Listed
A tentative program for the three-day celebration has been outlined and will start with registration 1:30 to 3 p. m., February 7. Six o'clock Friday night there will be an executive committee dinner in the Regent's room of John Straub Memorial hall.

Registration continues Saturday morning and afternoon from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. At 10 a. m. the annual business meeting of Oregon dads in the guild theater in Johnson hall is scheduled. At 11:30 Oregon's new dads' dates will officially open.

Program Varied
At noon campus organizations will serve luncheon for the dads. Afternoon programs will continue with open house from 1 to 4, a meeting of the newly-elected executive committee with the outgoing committee in Dr. Erb's office at 4, a banquet at 5:30, presentation of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" in Gerlinger hall at 7:30, and the basketball game with Oregon State at 8.

Master Dance tryouts tonight at 8 o'clock. All members be present at 7:30.

Order of the "O" will meet today at noon at the Beta house. Pictures for the Oregana will be taken, so wear sweaters.

The Frosh commission of the YMCA will not meet today as scheduled.

The executive council of the YMCA will meet tonight at 9 in the "Y" hut.

PROMOTE PEP ... Rally to Revive Civil War Spirit In Gerlinger Hall

First Winter Term
Assembly Planned
Thursday Morning

Timed to promote pep for the Friday night "civil war" basketball game at Oregon State, the first ASUO assembly of the term will flare in Gerlinger at 11 a. m. Thursday.

"Tail Firs"
Coach Howard "Hobby" Hobson and the players will appear in front of the decorated stage backdrop which will portray various of the "Tail Firs" in action. Bette Christensen, Oregon only girl yell leader, is recovered from the flu and will be on hand.

Wallace Heider and his 11-piece all-campus band will play "Five o'Clock Whistle," "Woodchoppers' Ball," and "There I Go." Ed Burtenshaw will present a skit with the game as its theme.

Lulu and ATOs
Songs by the Hawaiian club and a dance by Lulu Pali will mix with the Alpha Tau Omega quartet, numbers by the University band, and an address by Joe Gurley on the Senior Ball.

Fanning the coals to arouse spirit for the game, freshmen will be rendered class-conscious again as the first-year boys sport rooters' lids and the girls green ribbons.

Houses Serenade
Three fraternities and three sororities have been selected to serenade the assembly. Chosen were Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, and Kappa Kappa Gamma sororities and Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Theta Chi fraternities.

YW Bible Lectures Begin Today at 4

The first of the series of six Bible lectures under the direction of Dr. J. R. Branton will be held this afternoon in the YWCA Bungalow at 4 o'clock. Dr. Branton will discuss "How We Got the Bible."

Next week's Bible period, Wednesday, January 22, at the YW will be taken up with a panel discussion by the students on the previous lecture, it was announced yesterday by Billie Wade, chairman of the group. This will be an entirely new project of the Bible group members.

On Wednesday, January 29, Edith Sage Armstrong, accredited teacher of Bible Literature, History, and Ethnology, will lecture at Gerlinger Hall on "Modern Flights into Biblical Backgrounds." Mrs. Armstrong has lectured for twenty-five years throughout the country on Bible subjects. Her lecture will be open to town people as well as students and faculty members on the campus.

SIX FINALISTS HELP THE SEVENTH IN HER TURN TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED

This group of seven beautiful coeds is as far as the committee to select a University of Oregon "Valentine Girl," could go. Deadlocked at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, after two days of considering, the judges decided to send photos of all seven to the editors of Life and let them settle the controversy. While Eleanor Sederstrom holds the panchromatic make-up, Carolyn Chapman prepares Jean Morrison for the camera. The other four girls are (from left): Dorothy Havens, Edie Bush, Emma Verdurmen, and Jean Hoover.

HOMEWARD ... Kratz's Sister Reported Safe

The crippled American freighter West Kebar, bearing the sister of Dean Theodore Kratts of the music school, Mrs. Paul Gebauer and her husband, is reported by wire dispatch yesterday to be within 240 miles of New York.

It was believed at first that the ship would have to be abandoned in the North Atlantic gale and four ships rushed to her aid. Capt. Benjamin Bogdan of the stricken vessel reported the ship leaking badly but able to proceed under her own power. A convoy of four coast guard boats have gone to her assistance, however, and will escort her to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Gebauer were returning from Kakaland, Cameroons, Africa, where they have been stationed as representatives of the German Baptist missionary board of North America since 1935.

Mrs. Gebauer is a native of Portland and a graduate from the Lincoln high school and the Art Institute of Chicago. Her husband was born in Germany, but received his education at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky.

Dr. J. R. Jewell, dean of the education department, will speak to the midwinter convention of Lane county parent teacher associations, at their annual conference

English Words Too Hard Flustikoff Nonplused

By JEAN SPEAROW
Behind the scenes at the Igloo last night, in a dizzying atmosphere of Russian double talk which sounded like something cooked up in a samovar, Wassily Flustikoff smiled as he tried valiantly to twist his tongue around our English language.

The courteous, dark-haired Mr. Flustikoff, business manager of the Cossacks, shook his head when asked how much vocal training the Cossacks had received. None, was his answer . . . or as near as this typewriter can come without developing a Russian accent.

Started in 1920
At the close of the war in 1920 the Cossacks, accompanied by their priest, left the prison camp and went to Bulgaria where they sang every Sunday in the church. In 1923 they left Bulgaria and began to tour, their first appearance being in Vienna.

When asked how the Don Cossacks manage to keep their figures, Mr. Flustikoff really chuckled. "Do we?" he asked. "That is the first time anyone has ever honored us by asking us that question." He went on, good-naturedly, to explain that those of the Cossacks who are inclined toward a waistline "do exercises in the morning." Hmmm . . . reminds us of a sorority house.

Summer Training
Every summer for six weeks the Cossacks go into intensive training. Eight hours a day they practice—four in the morning and four in the afternoon. It is then that they learn new songs and prepare for their tours.

The dancers, whose gyrations delighted everyone, Mr. Flustikoff shrugged at. "In Russia everyone used to do it," he said. "The boys and girls would get out in the streets after church on Sundays and dance and dance . . . I don't know what they do now . . ."

As to food favorites, Mr. Flustikoff had none. He thought a moment, shook his head seriously, and then said slowly, "I am very easy to please . . . my wife, she is very happy."

Jasper, Mascot Of Sigma Chi, Buried in State

Sigma Chi gave a one gun salute at 3:45 Monday afternoon to pay respects to their dead brown terrier mascot, Jasper.

Injured by a hit and run driver at 13th and Alder in the morning, the dog has been seen at many social functions, around the Side, in classes and at the libe, was taken to the fraternity house in great pain. The fellows held a consultation at lunch and decided that they should put him out of his misery.

They held a funeral service in their back yard and solemnly placed a wood cross at the head of a small grave.

DANCE ... Ball to Stress Formal Theme

Strictly formal decorations will be carried out at the Senior Ball to be held January 17, according to Stan Staiger, decoration chairman and Joe Reig, his assistant.

The Igloo will have a blue and gold color scheme with silver trimmings. There will be a blue canopy at the west end of McArthur court for spectators, and several large flood-lights around the band-stand.

Crosby Effect
"We're trying to centralize around the band-stand, because of the students interest in Bob Crosby," said Staiger.

The Allied Arts Studios of Portland are in charge of the decorations.

O'clock Permission
One o'clock permission will be given for the dance which will last from 8:30 to 12:30.

Tickets for the Senior Ball are on sale in campus living organizations and at the educational activities office in McArthur court. Students with senior class cards will be charged $1.50, other students buying their tickets before the dance will pay $1.75, and admission prices at the gate will be $2.00.

The senior class is spending more money on this ball than on any held in the past.

Leaders Plan Evening Rally At Villard Hall

Freshmen to Hear
Revised Charter
Read, Interpreted

By STEVE WORTH
"With equality as its platform, the new freshman class will meet tonight in an attempt to establish a new democratic order among freshmen," Chuck Woodruff, "Rebel" leader, declared last night in outlining plans for this evening's organization assembly.

Like a snowball rolling downhill, the freshmen will start at the men's dorm at 7:15, pick up the University house delegation a few minutes later, add coeds of Hendricks and Susan Campbell halls on a swing through the campus to the steps of Johnson hall, where this nucleus will meet Canard clubbers, Kirkwood co-op, Campbell co-op, Highland and Hilyard Houses and Ordes and Yeomen at 7:30.

Headed by a brass band, this contingent, will storm into Villard hall, where the foundations for the proposed new freshman class will be laid.

Four student leaders will speak on the class card question and a revised "model" constitution will be read and presented for adoption. This new document, prepared by Uly Dorais, chairman of the constitution committee, is a revision of the constitution drawn up last year by Phil Lowry and Roy Verstrom.

Verstrom will discuss the benefits to be derived from this new organization, as will John Cavanagh, first vice-president of the ASUO. Dick Williams, business manager of the Oregana, is scheduled to speak on the "preservation and promotion of class activities." Lyle Nelson, will clarify the Emeralds' editorial policy.

In announcing the meeting, Woodruff said that the group offers membership to any person recognized as a freshman by the University. No fees will be charged for membership or for voting privileges, he said. The same will apply to admittance to tonight's assembly.

Working with Woodruff on plans for the new class are: Ann Eynolds, Jim Thayer, Elaine Quinn, Ted Hallock, and Nancy Ames.

Lars E. Bladine Dies From Heart Attack

Lars E. Bladine, publisher of the McMinnville Telephone-Register and former president of the Oregon Press conference, died of a heart attack Monday night. He was 66 years old.

Mr. Bladine was elected head of the Oregon Press conference in 1936 and was well-known among the students and faculty members of the school of journalism. He had attended this year's session of the Press conference which closed last Saturday. His son, Phillip Bladine, graduated from the Oregon school of journalism last year.

Mr. Bladine came to Oregon in 1933, from Iowa, where he had published several newspapers. He has been president of the Oregon editorial association and was a prominent worker in the Republican party.
