BEQUEST FUND...

Howe Memorial Founded to Aid 'Injured Athlete'

Widow of Deceased English Professor
Donates Scholarship Fund to University
In Memory of Distinguished Athlete

By BOB FRAZIER

A "worthy athlete" who might be forced to quit school because of injury will receive an annual award from the new "Herbert Crombie Howe Scholarship," accepted for the University recently by President Donald M. Erb.

The fund was given to the University by the widow of Herbert Crombie Howe, long time professor of English and staunch supporter of the University athletic program.

A Hundred Stock Shares
It consists of one hundred shares of stock, valued at $981, "which will probably amount to $3,000 in principal amount," Mrs. Howe's letter of presentation stated.

Mrs. Howe further provides that the scholarship shall be granted from earnings of the fund "through interest or otherwise, and the principal shall remain intact." The recipient must be registered for a normal study load at the University of Oregon at the time the scholarship is awarded.

She declared that when "Mr. Howe was alive he had in mind the establishment of a scholarship that would help some worthy athlete who had been granted some form of financial aid by the institution, but as a result of an injury no longer received this aid, and thereby was unable to complete his education."

Football Players Preferred
The scholarship will be awarded annually by the University committee which normally awards "tuition scholarships and grants-in-aid." In granting the scholarship the committee will give preference to athletes participating in football, with next preference given to basketball, baseball, and track athletes, according to Mr. Howe's wishes.

At the time of his death, July 28, 1940, Professor Howe, 68, had served on the University faculty 38 years. He was head of English literature for 18 years, and from 1921 until 1925 was head of the English department.

Friends remember his unbroken support of the University athletic program to which they say he gave a great deal of attention.

SING. SINNERS...

$75 Cash Awaits Song Winners

ASUO Sponsored
All-Campus Sing
Opens Next Week

A $25 first prize will be given to the student who submits the best essay on the subject "municipal machine politics and free government," according to an announcement yesterday by Dr. Waldo Schumacher, chairman of the committee in charge of the contest. A second prize of $10 is also being offered.

Each year, under the provisions of a trust established by Philo Sherman Bennett, prizes are awarded for the best essay on a subject pertaining to "the principles of free government." Students who wish to participate in the contest must register with Dr. Schumacher, who can be reached in 103 Oregon.

The committee, which includes D. R. French, K. J. O'Connell, Gordon Wright, and Waldo Schumacher, chairman, has reserved the right to withhold either or both awards.

The essays must be typewritten and may contain 6,000 words or less. Two copies must be submitted to the chairman by May 10. The judges of the contest have been instructed to stress documentation in their decision.

NYA students at Stout institute, Menomonee, Wis., have installed a short wave radio station in their campus center.

HISTORIAN...

Costigan Likes Historical Angle Of World Events

Thursday Speaker
'Personal Friend'
Of University Editor

Dr. Giovanni Costigan, of the history department of the University of Washington, who is to speak Thursday at 7:30 in Friendly hall, is particularly interested in the philosophy of history—the historic interpretation of world events, according to George N. Belknap, University editor.

Mr. Belknap, a personal friend of Dr. Costigan, pointed out that more than most history professors, he is interested in the attempts of men such as Sorokin, Spengler, and Toynbee to find the general forms and principles in history.

English Politics
Mr. Belknap met Professor Costigan through Miss Florence Jones, instructor of English here, who knew the professor when he was teaching at the University of Idaho, Southern Branch.

Since he has been with the University of Washington, Dr. and Mrs. Costigan have visited Eugene often, and lived here in town four or five years ago.

"Dr. Costigan has a reputation for being a very excellent speaker and a very excellent teacher," said Mr. Belknap. The subject of his talk will concern some of the chief political and social trends in modern England. Professor Costigan has been to his native England four or five times in the past few years, (the last time—the summer before the beginning of the present European war) and is a recognized authority on the subject.

Talk Free
Dr. Costigan has B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Oxford, a Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin, and taught in the Universities of Wisconsin and Idaho, Southern Branch, before coming to teach at the University of Washington.

While here, the doctor will address a meeting of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce at noon Friday. Tonight's talk is free of charge to the general public and students.

Western Magazine To Have UO Pictures In February Issue

Pictures of two Oregon campus scenes and five Eugene homes are included in a two-page picture spread in the February issue of Sunset, the magazine of western living, on sale here soon.

The picture of the library taken from the top of the art museum as it appeared in the Oregonian last year and a picture of the millrace with the Chi Psi house in view are the two University photographs.

J. Warren Teter, manager of the University photography department, and the Carl F. Baker film shop took the pictures, according to D. D. Gage, associate professor of business administration, who submitted the pictures along with material.

Mr. Gage reports in the article on the unique features of the homes described and gives a brief hint as to the importance of the millrace

THEY'RE STILL PLANNING

STUDENT UNION...

Young Will Head Building Group

Frosh Committee
Plans for Building
In Initial Meeting

Oglesby Young was elected chairman of the newly formed freshman student union committee at its initial meeting Wednesday afternoon in the College Side. Young will lead the new group in efforts to arouse student interest in prospects of a student union building on the University campus.

John Cavanagh and Glenn Williams, chairman and assistant chairman of the main student union committee, explained the duties of the freshman committee and sketched briefly the history of the student union movement on the campus.

Blaming a lack of student enthusiasm for the absence of a building on campus Cavanagh said, "If students had shown sufficient interest earlier, we wouldn't be working for a student union building now; we'd be working in one."

He explained much of the lack of student enthusiasm by declaring that many people, particularly underclassmen, are ignorant of the "crying need" and the purpose of a building of this sort.

Williams told the committee of some of the sites now under consideration for situating the building when it is built. The block in back of Taylor's, the site of Dr. H. D. Sheldon's house on Thirteenth and University, the old campus north of the Y hut, a tract on the mill race, and the spot on Kincaid in front of the art museum were mentioned as the most possible sites for it.

Swink Will Discuss Radio Sound Effects Over KOAC Tonight

Don Swink, student sound effects man for the University studio of radio station KOAC will reveal secrets of his profession tonight during an interview conducted by Ruth Condon, Mr. Don E. Hargis, in charge of production, announced today.

This interview is part of the "Student Hour of the Air" which is presented to radio listeners each Thursday evening by the University speech division.

Don Swink, Eva Marquart, and Don Moss are cast in leading roles in this evolution of the seacraft of the nation.

Contemporary modern authors are honored in this evening's poetry hour which is being produced by Don Merrill. Edwin Markham's "The Man With the Hoe," and Carl Sandburg's "Smoke and Steel" will be presented by Eva Marquart, Don Moss, Ruth Condon, and the producer, Don Merrill.

Far East, Europe Fund to Solicit Faculty Heads

University Drive
Asks Donations
For $500 Quota

Oregon's campus-wide drive to raise funds for unfortunate students of the Far East and Europe will enter a new phase today when workers turn their concentrated efforts on solicitation of funds from faculty members, Janet Morris and Bob Lovell, drive co-chairmen, announced last night.

This does not mean that there will be any let-up on the student side of the campaign, Miss Morris stated, but rather that the final two days will mean a redoubled effort along both fronts.

Faculty solicitation is under direction of Phi Theta Upsilon, first year men working for Skull and Dagger, and members of H. H. Hanna's and W. A. Dahlberg's argumentation and persuasion classes.

Several contributions have already been received from faculty members, Ray Packouz of the faculty solicitation committee revealed Wednesday. He stated that students who receive donations should turn them in to Bob Calkins at the YMCA between 4 and 5 o'clock today and Friday.

A quota of $500 has been placed on this year's World Student Service fund drive. The four-day campaign opened Tuesday and will close Friday night.

Hawkins Feted For Tabard Inn

Writing Fraternity
To Honor Portland
Author at Banquet

John Hawkins, Portland author of popular magazine fiction, will become an honorary member and be guest of honor at an initiation banquet to be given by members of Tabard Inn, men's writing fraternity, at the Anchorage on Thursday evening, February 6, it was announced Wednesday night by Glenn Hasselroth, president.

Mr. Hawkins whose short stories appear as Collier's and the American, is a close friend of Ernest Haycox and Robert Ormond Case, two other Portland novelists who are listed among Tabard Inn's more famous alumni. In addition to being initiated into the writing society, Mr. Hawkins will give a talk on fiction writing for popular magazines.

He will illustrate his talk by using specific examples of his own recent work such as "Home Is the Sailor," which appeared in the December 14 issue of Collier's, and "Tryout," which was published in the September American.

Also to be honored at the banquet-initiation will be the co-winners of Tabard Inn's recent campus talent round-up, as well as six other undergraduate pledges. Names of these winners, and the pledges will be announced in a few days. Tabard Inn is the name given to the University of Oregon chapter of Sigma Upsilon, men's national creative writing honor society.

In his letter Dr. Needham said, "I hope you'll tell all the friends at Eugene, that life here is so far absolutely normal, with no outstanding incidents as yet worth mentioning, and a quiet, like that of Eugene, except for the ever-audible RAF overhead, which one would prefer not to be without around here."

Dear Dad:

Come to the campus for Dads' day. Your worries financial are dead. For a recent investigation reveals That your gates are now out of the red.

Committeemen Draw Up Plans For Hospitality

Kwamas Scheduled
To Meet Every Pop
Registration Day

By RAY SCHRICK

A note of welcome, approaching that of the old South in hospitality, will be the aim of the dads' day hospitality committee February 7, 8, and 9, when dads' weekend opens, Bob Whitely and Al Gray, co-chairmen, announced last night.

"We want every dad to feel at home the minute he arrives here," Whitely declared. "Nothing will be neglected in our attempt to put the campus at the service of Oregon fathers for this weekend."

"Nothing neglected" meant that five members of the committee have already plunged into the task of setting the campus in order for the weekend arrivals. Kwamas, members of sophomore women's honorary, have tentatively been scheduled to meet every father when he registers the first day, Whitely declared.

Following registration, many of the campus buildings will be thrown open to dads for their inspection. Halls which will welcome visiting fathers are the art museum, the law school, the art school, Condon museum, and the infirmary.
