

Duck Tracks

By KEN CHRISTIANSON, Co-Editor of Sports

Ineligibility. It's a disagreeable word to Messrs. Mike Hoyman, Tex Oliver, and Vaughn Corley this week. For it is ineligibility rulings which have caused a number of plans of these Oregon coaches to be tossed out the nearest window.

Three frosh swimmers took the Pacific coast conference rulings on the chin. But the worst blow to Hoyman was Stu Randall, the varsity freestyler from Annapolis. It was around Randall, Sherm Wetmore, and Jack Dallas that Hoyman was building his team. Randall was capable of a consistent :24 or :25 in the 100-yard freestyle. With Randall ruled out, Hoyman is left on the limb with no topnotch freestyler.

Contrary to popular thought, Hoyman's swimmers with one exception were not ruled out of competition because of poor grades. Bill Lyon, frosh freestyler, took the count because of a low GPA, but the other two freshmen and Randall were declared ineligible for other reasons. Randall has swum one year of varsity competition. His freshman year he didn't compete at the University of Hawaii. As a sophomore, he swam at Annapolis as a freshman. Any entrant can only compete on freshman teams. He swam one year of varsity competition. And the transfer rule held him out his one remaining year.

Freshmen Ruled Out

Bob Hunt, freshman, was ruled out because he swam with the Aero club of Portland against the University of Washington freshmen in March, 1940. That was before he even knew he was going to matriculate at Oregon. Tom Houston is ineligible for frosh competition but he may be eligible for the varsity. His three terms at Oregon have expired, so he is no longer a freshman. If he is ruled eligible for varsity competition, it will be an aid to Mike's varsity problems.

On the wrestling front Oliver is feeling low because of adverse rulings against Ray Foster, Henri D'Elba, and Mort Myers. D'Elba went down because of grades. Foster and Myers technically completed their three years of varsity competition. Meanwhile, Corley's boxing squad was momentarily weakened by a ruling on Pete Riley, state 145-pound AAU champ. Riley had taken incompletes in fall term's work, and was notified of his ineligibility too late to make up his work for last Saturday's OSC meet. Riley will be eligible for all fights to come, however.

11 Men Used to Beat Beavers

Bouquets to Hoyman! He used exactly 11 men to beat the combined varsity and freshman swimmers by respective scores of 42 to 32 and 38 to 36. Dallas, Wetmore, Al Sandner, Gerald Huestis, Cub Callis, and Dick Allen were the varsity men. Six men entered in nine events. Each man can only be entered in three events, so Hoyman could use only one man in some of the events. In fact, excepting the medley relay and the four-man relay, the 150-yard backstroke was the only event in which Hoyman entered two men—Wetmore and Huestis.

That was about all the men Hoyman had to use. Jim Marnie was suffering from the after effects of measles. Hoyman and his gang really had very little trouble beating the Beavers, but Washington will probably be a different story.

Hoyman says, "We've a 50 to 1 chance of beating Washington, but so long as we have that one chance of beating the Huskies, we'll be in there working." And it wouldn't be surprising if the Ducks managed to pull the meet out of the fire, for Hoyman showed more strategy in beating the OSC rooks Saturday.

Exactly five men were used in nine events although the medley relay was scratched. Bob Irvin, Chuck Nelson, Jack Robinson, John Mead, and Al Conyne were the few swimmers which Mike could use. The others were watching from above with bad cases of ineligibility.

Rhea Beats Cavagnaro

The standard athletic event of the whole day's festivities, however, was the heavyweight wrestling match between Oregon's Floyd Rhea and OSC's Virg Cavagnaro, national AAU champion. Rhea gave Cavagnaro one of his few beatings Cavagnaro is fast as a buzz saw and just as dangerous to someone not so strong as Rhea, but there was nothing the Beaver could do in this case. Each time Cavagnaro got behind Rhea, the Duck simply bounced to his feet, shook off the Stater, and rushed at him again.

Cavagnaro tired faast, long before the end of the fight—it went 13 minutes. At one time Rhea became irked with the way things were going. He was grappling with Cavagnaro in a standing position, then Rhea dropped his weight on Cavagnaro. The Beaver melted beneath the 221 pounds of Oregon grappling meat like a splat of butter on a hot griddle.

Near the end of the match, Cavagnaro could hardly hold his body erect; he was weaving all over the ring. An Oregon man yelled, "Stop this slaughter, Cavagnaro is too pooped to fight." An agrarian student piped up with, "That's the way he wrestles. He's wrestling for points." And all the time, Cavagnaro was at the point of collapsing from sheer fatigue.

Oregon Matmen Drubbed by OSC

Hal Kaschko, Rhea Win Only Matches As Ducks Fall, 6-2

An outclassed University of Oregon wrestling team Saturday took a 6 to 2 drubbing from the Orange and Black grapplers from Oregon State College.

Only two Webfoot wrestlers were able to gain wins and both of them were on decisions. Hal Kaschko, 175-pound veteran, defeated Pat Kelly, and Floyd

Duckling Five Crushes Vancouver, 53-14

Yearlings Run Up Victory Margin In First Period

Jackson, Sheridan Score 12 Points; Halftime, 36 to 9

A first scoring spree by the University of Oregon Ducklings yesterday was too much for the Vancouver, Washington high school team as the frosh hoopmen trampled the northern five by a 53 to 14 score.

The Vancouver boys were fresh really in the game as the frosh dominated the contest from the tip off to the final gun. The halftime score was 36 to 9.

Slow Start
Bob Sheridan and Lloyd Jackson walked off with scoring honors each accounting for 12 points.

The first few minutes of the game were wild, and Ken Simmens finally broke the ice with a dribble in shot. Finney evened it up with one from the front. With the scoring started, Jackson and Bob Wren added quick baskets to give the frosh the lead.

The yearlings continued to pepper the hoop and it was well into the second quarter before the visitors could score. Bob Sheridan got hot in the second quarter and (Please turn to page four)

MENTOR

Vaughn Corley, boxing coach and varsity line boss, watched his inexperienced mitt team take a 7-1 trouncing from Oregon State college. It was Corley's first attempt to break the Beavers' 14-year boxing supremacy.

Beaver Mittmen Down UO Squad

Shepherd Defeats Pruitt for Only Webfoot Victory

Jim Shepherd, heavyweight, was the only Oregon boxer to draw the judges' nod, as the Webfoot meet team lost a one-sided match to Jim Dixon's OSC aggregation. Shepherd pounded out a three round decision over Ken Pruitt. The Beaver heavyweight was forced to cover up for most of the fight and was an easy target for Shepherd's uppercuts to the jaw. Neither fighter displayed much polish, but Shepherd showed more stuff than he did in lifting the all-campus crown last week.

In the 135 pound tilt Marty Schedler was decisively beaten by Hal Peterson, one of the top-flight lightweights in the northwest. Schedler gained the plaudits of the crowd by the game fight he put up against an opponent who has almost as many years of boxing experience as the combined Duck squad.

Merle Hanscom looked gun-shy as he was completely outclassed by Don Hawkins, 155-pound boy from Corvallis.

The Orangemen won two fights by forfeits when Pete Riley was knocked out by scholastic ineligibility and Willard Heath, 125 pounder, was kept out by a cut lip.

The only knockout of the day occurred when George Thorpe walked into a right-cross handed out by OSC's 120-pound Hawaiian boy, Jiro Yasudo.

The results:
120 pounds: Jiro Yasudo of Oregon State knocked out George Thorpe of Oregon; 127 pounds: Dick Livingston of Oregon State won by forfeit from Willard Heath (Please turn to page four)

Chuck Gilmer, Bob Lindh, Dalthorp, and Bob Voelker tried to keep up with Oregon, but the Huskies began to fade at the close of the half. Halftime score was: Oregon 28, Washington 19.

Bill Borchner, Townsend, Andrews, Jackson, Kirsch, and Fuhrman were the best on the floor for Oregon. Bob Voelker, Wally Leask, and Dalthorp were the greatest aid to Washington.

Townsend's 18 points coupled with 74 in seven games gives "Slick" Vic a total of 92 points in eight games. This is two behind the amount necessary to break Oregon State Wally Palmberg's 16-game record of 187.

The rugged Ducks dominated the backboard as well as the other departments of the game. Washington grabbed 44 rebounds, while Oregon collected 66. The Webfoots took 38 off the Husky boards and 28 off their own. Washington speared 24 off its own backboard and 20 off Oregon's. Washington's Bob Voelker took 10, while Townsend of Oregon picked up 14 and Bill Borchner nabbed 12.

Frosh Hoopers Win Two More

Astoria, Hood River Downed by High Scoring Ducklings

The University of Oregon frosh outran, outguessed, outshot, and just naturally outplayed two formidable high school opponents in the past weekend, winning over Astoria preppers, 70-36 and Hood River's Apple Pickers, 51-18. Newland of the frosh took high scoring honors in the Astoria game with 20 points in his credit and his running mate Wren followed with 14. Wirkkunen was high for Astoria with 15 points.

The game was a running affair all of the way, the frosh playing their usual run and shoot game and ASTORIA using the same tactics.

Roger Dick fouled out of the contest in two minutes of the second half in the wild passing, running and pass grabbing fray.

In the second game the frosh outclassed their smaller Hood River opponent and galloped to another easy victory. The frosh were not hitting the basket, attempting 78 shots at the bucket and hitting 23 for field goals for an average of .294 dropping .103 points from the Astoria game average, which was .397.

Gissberg led the frosh in scoring with 12 points and Roger Dick followed close behind with 10. Samuel was high for the Apple-Pickers with 6 points.

Ducks, Frosh Drown OSC in Swim Meet

Both the University of Oregon varsity and freshman swimming squads dunked the Oregon State college Beavers in a dual tank meet in Corvallis Saturday. The varsity won by a score of 42-32 and the frosh, 38-36.

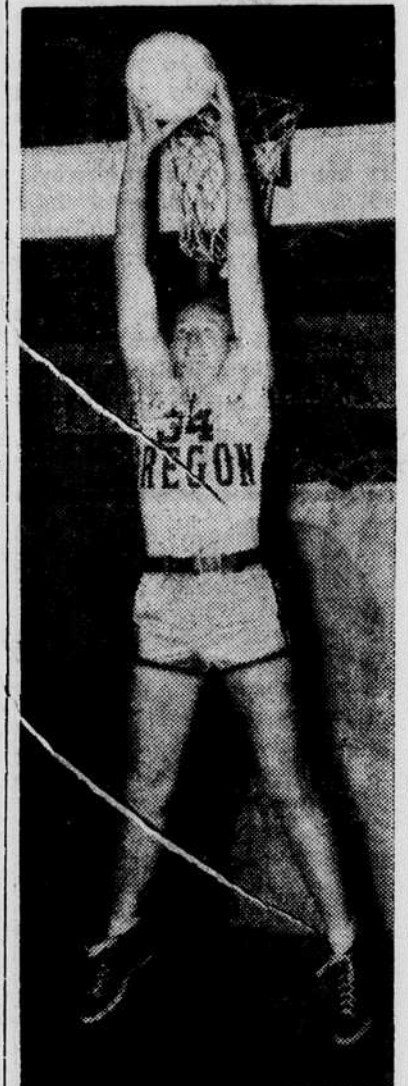

Despite the fact that the six man varsity is the smallest team to ever represent Oregon in a dual meet, they won both relay events and three other first places to post the 10-point victory. Mike Callis, sophomore free-styler; Sherm Wetmore, backstroke; and Jack Dallas, ace breast-stroke swimmer, won first places for Oregon.

Frosh Edge Rooks
The five-man freshman squad barely nosed out the rook swimmers in a dramatic win, by taking the relay, final event of the morning program. Individual stars for the ducklings were Bob Irvin who won the 50 and 100-yard free style events and Robinson who won the 220 and 440 free style events. Both swimming in the last event, the 400-yard relay, which won the meet for the frosh.

Tall and powerful member of Hobby Hobson's comeback Webfoot basketball team is Archie Marshik. Marshik saw action in the encounter as the Ducks polished off the Washington Huskies last night, 57-35.
