Writing Society Closes Contest

N. Koch, R. Smith Selected on Basis Of Story's Merits

Neil Koch, freshman in architecture and allied arts, and Robert E. "Deacon" Smith, sophomore in Romance languages, have been judged winners in the recent "campus talent round-up" sponsored by Tabard Inn, University of Oregon chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national creative writing fraternity, it was announced this week by Glenn Hasselrooth.

As winners of the competition, Koch and Smith will receive free membership in the society. Tabard Inn at first had intended to give only one membership, but since entries in the contest were unusually good, co-winners were named for the round-up, Hasselrooth said.

The two winners will be initiated at a banquet Thursday evening at the Anchorage. At that time six other undergraduate pledges will be initiated, and an honorary membership will be conferred upon John Hawkins, Portland novelist, whose stories appear regularly in such magazines as Collier's and the American.

Smith's story was "Johnny Was the Best Man," a humorous narrative describing the activities of a young Oregon lumberjack. Koch, who was one of the three Oregon high school graduates winning University of Oregon Mothers' scholarships in 1939-40, won with "Storm-coming," a story of peasants on the coast of Norway in pre-Hitler days.

NO BED OF ROSES FOR THEM

While their fathers await a possible Nazi invasion, these little English children sleep on the concrete floor of a subway station. A woman with a baby and two little boys and a girl smile for some reason, but the others sleep. The Bundles for Britain committee, active on the Oregon campus, is campaigning for cots in order to better conditions like these.

Speakers Will Air ASCAP-BMI Dispute

ASCAP and the broadcasting systems of the country will undergo the scrutiny of three argumentation and persuasion speakers, Bob Macdonald, Bob Whitley, and Morell Sharp, Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 over radio station KORE, it was announced today by Marvin Krenk, instructor in speech.

Sharp will introduce the question to the radio audience by presenting the history of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, and the background of the present difficulties. Macdonald and Whitley will offer solutions to the problem which is causing considerable public comment at the present time, Krenk said.

Questions telephoned to the station during the broadcast will be read and answered by the speakers. Members of the argumentation and persuasion class will act as the studio audience.

Next week the bottleneck in the defense industry will be discussed.

Kappa Sig, Theta Chi, Superchargers Win

By FRED TREADGOLD Kappa Sigma's "Beef Trust" rolled to another effortless victory 30 to 5 Monday in trouncing Alpha hall in an "A" league intramural contest. It was Bill Jameson who provided the impetus for the rout, hitting the hemp for 11 markers. Fullback Marsh Stenstrom tossed in 7.

Superchargers, with Verlin Wolfe in the driver's seat, bounced Canard club 18 to 11, after leading narrowly, 8 to 7 at the half. The winner's forward connected for 10 points, one less than the Canard total.

Theta Chi rolled to a 21 to 13 win over Phi Kappa Psi in the third "A" encounter played on court 38. Harrison Berghold was top man for the victors with 6 in the scoring column.

MR. and MRS. NEWT SIDE PATTER By Pat Taylor

Ah me, sure and 'tis not without a pang we said goodbye to Baby ... Perhaps there are those of you that remember a small piece of Patter that was devoted to charmin' Charlie Eaton and baby ... That is, if there are any of those of you who read Patter ... well, seen' as how Charlie and Baby are two of the Campus' better known characters, we did write a wee article on them ... Well, Charlie, late of the ever-lovin' law school, returned last week end to get Baby (the SX great dane) ... he told Baby that a match had been arranged and that Baby was betrothed to some fascinatin' great dane in Long Beach ... Charlie said that when he told Baby, Baby jumped up and down and "was ever so happy"

We're inclined to believe its going to be a child marriage, though, for 'tis rumored that Baby's betrothed is ONLY EIGHT MONTHS OLD! Well, really! ... Congratulations and all that go to Russ Hudson and Betty Jane Biggs ... For a laddie who Seesall, this Humbert Boy gets the wrong slant on some things ... Mayhap its from trying to look through Yale locks ... Next time you're in the College Side come vittle time, try a swiss steak ... it won't be a miss-steak on your part. (Alright, so I ain't neat.) See you on the late shift ...
