TALKS ... Roseburg High Wins Trophies

Beaverton's Team Beaten in Debate On Duck Campus

Roseburg high school captured the Burt Brown Barker and E. E. DeCou cups last Saturday night by defeating Beaverton high school's debate team in the first annual debate tournament held on the campus. The topic of discussion was "Resolved, That the Power of the Federal Government Should Be Increased."

Bob Scott, Salem high school, won a cup in the extempore speech division, and Ilona Batson, also of Salem, took first in the after dinner speech division.

The group discussion trophy, presented to the student who showed, to quote one of the judges, "the most intelligence in his conversation" was taken by Clark Robb of Dallas.

Cups given by Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, and E. E. DeCou, professor of mathematics and founder of the Oregon high school debate league in 1907, were won by Roseburg. Beaverton was also given a Barker cup for runner-up position.

Approximately 80 students participated in the two-day tournament which was judged by W. A. Dahlberg, speech professor; J. L. Bangs, Mark Hanna, M. A. Krenk, and Don Hargis, speech instructors; Jack Blankinship, graduate assistant in the speech department; Roy Vernstrom, Old Oregon editor; Elmer Fansett, alumni secretary; and W. G. Beattie, assistant extension director.

Construction Begins On Intramural Field

These two coeds, members of the coed rifle team, show here that they could "get their man" in more ways than one. Members of the team will be presented with awards soon. Members of the boys' squad suffered extreme humiliation at the hands of the lasses this year, when they were outscored in a shooting match. The two dead-eyes in the picture are Alice Giustina (left) and Barbara Todd.

Rule-Violators Lose Unregistered Cars

Several students had their cars impounded for violations of rules and for failing to register their cars, according to Professor Lawrence Hartwig of the automobile committee.

The University requires that each student who operates an automobile register at the automobile office with the campus policeman, O. L. Rhinesmith. Professor Hartwig said that many students, through carelessness or forgetfulness have failed to register their cars, failed to reply immediately to letters from the automobile committee, or have not worn registration stickers on their cars. If a student's car is impounded for any of the above reasons, or for violation of driving rules, he must then petition the committee and give good reason for getting the car back.

"I don't smoke and I don't gargle Hi Octane, but I do insist on NOT drinking malted milks anywhere near time to go on the air."

Don Forbes, Richfield news reporter who talked to journalism students here Wednesday, is touring the Northwest with his fellow announcer, John Wald, on a good will tour for Richfield gasoline, grinned as he explained the old radio bug-a-boo about "malted milk" voice.

"It's a fact that they make your voice fuzzy," said Wald, and it's also a fact that keeping your voice in good condition is very important for an announcer who must read 200 words a minute as is required of the Richfield reporters.

EXCESS NYA Arranges Spring Work

Unworked Hours Can Be Held Over After Short Period

The first NYA payroll period of spring term is a short one, so NYA students will be permitted to "hold over" unworked hours and work them during the second period, April 16 to May 15, provided that the number they hold over plus their regular second period's assignments do not exceed the federal limit of 57 hours. Students should notify the NYA secretary of the number of hours they want held over.

At the end of the second period, students must have their hours worked up to date for they

Library Addition To Hold Collection Of Philip Brooks

Hammers tap steadily in the spring sunshine as the new addition to the library, financed by Mrs. Lester Brooks, in memory of her husband, Philip Brooks, grows from a gangling structure into a graceful part of the building.

Into the addition will go a collection of about 2000 books, also a gift from Mrs. Brooks. Most of them are sets of standard works of American and English authors in English translations. According to M. H. Douglass, University librarian, many of the books are first editions, but they were bought by Mrs. Brooks not as collectors' items, but as live, dusted books to read by the fireside.

Graduate students will have first choice of the new 40 by 14 feet Brooks room. This is a stipulation made by Mrs. Brooks, who feels that graduate students will use the books more than anyone else. Entrance to the room will be guarded by wrought iron gates from the home of the late Mr. Brooks, which will open into the Brooks room from the graduate reserve and special collections room.

Construction is expected to be completed by May 3, Library day.

The first section of a concrete retaining wall on the athletic field just west of the bleachers was poured recently, according to F. A. Cuthbert, University landscape architect. The wall will make the new intramural field level so that a track can be constructed. It will range from about one foot at its lowest level to six feet in height.

Aside from the constrution of the retaining wall, little landscaping is planned for spring term. The mall will be seeded and some planting work will be done. Grading is being done north of the music building. Trees for the mall area will arrive in about a week. Several varieties of English oak will be planted in the mall region.

No walk construction is planned for spring term, but some will be built next summer, it was announced.

Seven Girls Join Sorority Houses

In the first week of spring rushing women sorority houses pledged seven students. Rushing will continue informally for the rest of spring term.

They are as follows: Marilyn Campbell of Portland, Alpha Chi Omega; Leone Spalding, Salem, and Mary Lois Dana, Milwaukie, Phi Beta Phi; Elsie Jane Brownell, Grants Pass, Alpha Gamma Delta.

Audrey Fields, Portland, Alpha Delta Pi; Barbara Todd, Palo Alto, California, Alpha Chi Omega: and Adele Say, Salem, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Students Must File For Teaching Jobs

All students who expect to complete their work for a secondary certificate next year and have not had supervised teaching, are requested to file their applications for student teaching with the school of education at once.

Forms for applications may be secured at the office of the secretary of the school of education. All students concerned are urged to file their applications at once because assurance of an opportunity to meet the state requirements for a teaching certificate can only be given qualified students if these applications are on file before the close of spring quarter.

Ward Jobs Open

Student help is at a premium at the local Montgomery Ward store, announces Bill Martin, advertising manager of the establishment. Boys wishing to work should report to him at the downtown store. Goods are being moved into a new addition of the building between 6 and 10 p.m. every evening. The work will last about a week, he reports.

The gates of the main barracks of The Citadel, South Carolina military college, have been in use for 118 years.

Portland is headquarters for the news broadcast this week. Each day Wald and Forbes travel to some town in Oregon to talk to a group of people. Next week Seattle will be the base from which they will cover Washington.

All roads may not lead to Hollywood, as the saying has it they do, but there must be at least one from St. Paul which Mr. Wald traveled and another from Vancover, B. C., for Mr. Forbes to use.

Wald, who is jokingly referred to by his cohort as "the matinee idol," will soon be seen in "Washington Melodrama," a moving picture. Both the reporters have been in pictures, Forbes working in "Yesterday's Hero," and both of them appearing in "Public Deb No. 1."

Seabeck Rally Stars YWCAers in Movies

Movies, starring local members of the YWCA, will be shown at the Seabeck rally to be held at the bungalow April 3.

After the showing of the movies, which were taken at the last Seabeck convention, organization of the plans for the delegates to this year's convention will be discussed. Genevieve Working and Virginia James will be in charge of the women's discussion group and Charles Peetz will represent the men.

Singing of Seabeck songs will conclude the early evening's entertainment.

may not carry them over into the third period. That is, if a student has a 30-hour assignment each month, on May 15 he must have 60 hours worked.

If it becomes apparent that a student is not going to be able to work out all his assigned hours, he should report that fact to the NYA secretary immediately. Failure to do so will result in the University's losing the hours and some needy student's losing the chance to work them.
