

Duck Bats to Face Pacific, Portland

Webfoots Trek To North Today

Three Games Included in Weekend Trip; Badger Doubleheader Billed Today, Portland Tomorrow; 18 Players Go

Coach Anse Cornell and an 18-man squad leave today for a three-game schedule in Portland and Forest Grove. Today the Ducks play a double-header with Pacific at Forest Grove and move on tomorrow for a single tilt with Portland university there.

In commenting on the chances of winning over the smaller schools, Cornell said, "We have the hitting power if our pitchers hold up." He plans to start Bob Rieder in the first Pacific tangle and Pete Igoe in the second. Nick Begleries will top the mound against Portland university. Carlo Apa and Monroe Karterman will be in the bullpen waiting the nod.

Golf, Tennis Open to All

Anyone interested in tennis or golf tournaments may sign up in the entrance to the gym before Saturday noon, Elmer Olsen of the intramural department announced yesterday.

The original deadline for entering the tournaments was today but so few had signed that the opportunity was extended. The tournaments will be called off unless at least ten sign for each, Olsen said.

The intramural department invites all who are interested to enter the golf singles and doubles and the tennis singles and doubles. Any student is eligible except varsity or frosh lettermen.

Oregon Hitting
Last Tuesday the Duck nine stretched three hits into as many runs and held the Pacific squad to three hits and no runs on Howe field. The Badgers slapped three of Begleries' pitches across the soggy diamond.

It was hardly the kind of weather even for Ducks to play baseball, however, and the game was called off. This scant preview of the respective teams hints that the Oregon backing can give a substantial backing for the man on the mound.

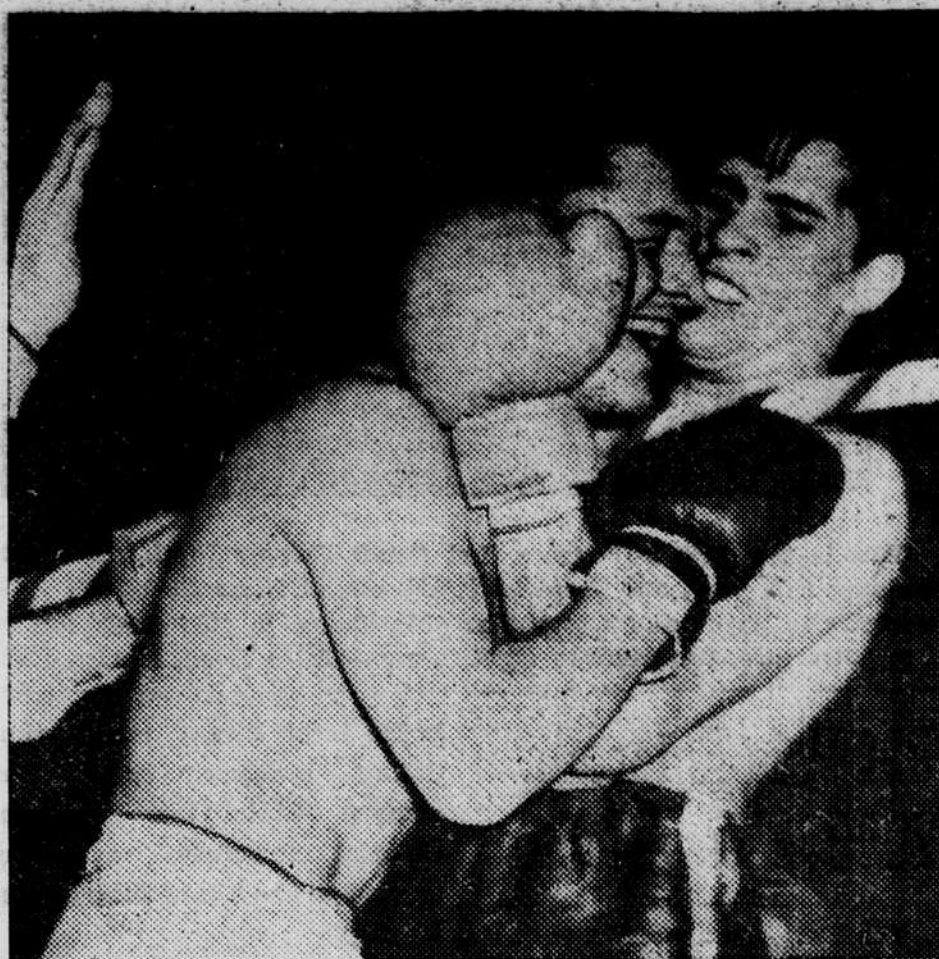

These five pitchers will be feeding their specialties down the groove to Bill Calvert, Jim Rathbun, and Bud Walker, taking turns behind the plate. If they don't get too much interference from the northern slugers, the Duck batsmen can well be expected to put pepper on the pill.

Poor practice conditions and sore pitching arms have put gum in the Duck feathers but sound hitting power and experienced fielding should comb it out today and tomorrow.

The traveling squad includes: pitchers—Carlo Apa, Nick Bebpitchers—Carlo Apa, Nick Beglers—Bill Calvert, Jim Rathbun, and Bud Walker; infielders—Chuck Clifford, Tini Smith, Burke Austin, Jack Shimshak, Bill Hamel, and Buck Berry; outfielders—Hank Burns, John Bubalo, Bill Carney, and Captain Dick Whitman.

COED GOLF
Attention coed golfers. Today is the last day to sign up for the annual spring golf tournament. See your WAA representative.

MAULER'S FUN

These two boxers would rather clinch in the ropes and grin than fight, but they can swing, too.

I-M Swim Advances

Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, and Kappa Sigma swimming aggregations washed through opponents yesterday in intramural swimming meets. Ed Sandman paced his Sigma Chi water mates in a 41 to 6 victory over Gamma hall. Sandman was far and away the top swimmer in the tank of the six teams showing in the afternoon.

Sigma Nu clamped the screws on the ATOs and came out 25 to 17 victors. The Sigma Nus had the game won, 25 to 12, without the last event which they forfeited to the hotelmen. The ATOs played without Jack Boone, one of their point winners.

The Kappa Sigs thumped the Theta Chi team, 23 to 19. The Theta Chis were little opposition to the Kappa Sigs who breeched on toward the finals with the Sigma Chis and Sigma Nus.

Steers Takes Crack At Record Tonight

By JOHNNY KAHANANUI

Tonight Les Steers takes a fling at the world high jump record. He jumps in Portland during the annual Hill Military academy relays. Coach Bill Hayward, Steers, and the latter's jumping mate, Bill Beifuss, left Eugene for Portland yesterday.

Steers has already unofficially erased the 6 feet 9 3/4 inch indoor mark held by Mel Walker and Ed Burke, and has done the same for the 6 feet 9 3/4 outdoor world mark hung up in 1936 by Cornelius Johnson and Dave Albritton. Taking off in the Igloo between halves of a recent conference basketball game, the prodigious Webfoot jumper did near seven feet "off the record."

Record in Seattle
In Seattle last week he got up to 6 feet 7 3/4 until a bruised heel forced him to retire, that mark was good enough for a new pavilion record. In his record try tonight, Steers will be wearing an aluminum brace perfected by Hayward to protect the former's sore feet.

Other members of the Webfoot track team take it easy today after abbreviated workouts yesterday, the first decent day for rehearsals in three. Saturday, cindermen from the University of Portland trot into Eugene to apply a preconference test to the Ducks.

High Jump Cinched
Oregon appears a cinch in the high jump, with Steers and Beifuss on schedule to perform here after their Portland exploits tonight. The broad jump is in equally capable hands, Captain Ehle Reber to look after business there.

Bill Regner will take "five" from spring football practice to hurl the discus and appears a certain winner in this event. Bob McKinney, ace frosh middle distance man last year, is good enough to knife the piece of string in the 880. Bob Hendershott should vault higher than anyone Portland can scrape up.

Kenny Oliphant will shed football pads and cleats and team with Bob Keen in the sprints.

Spring, Golf Lure Alphas

The coming of spring has turned the fancy of the Alpha hall boys to green lawns, sand traps and water hazards, as 17 members plan to participate in the hall championship competition.

Dusting off their drivers for the first stages of elimination today or tomorrow, Alpha's divot diggers plan the turf slicing fray according to strict tournament rules.

The finals will probably be played off Saturday, April 19. Officials of the contest are Al Powers, chief judge; Frank Briggs, and Bill Endicott, co-chairmen.
