

Versatile Alec To Play at 8 On Igloo Stage

Pianist to Feature Classic Numbers, Musical Parodies

Presenting a program versatile as his reputation promised, Alec Templeton will appear tonight on the stage of McArthur court at 8 o'clock. Featuring the classic composers in the first section of his program, the time after the intermission will be devoted to the improvisations and parodies for which he is noted.

Templeton's concert is as follows:

Prelude to Alceste, Lully-Templeton.

Chorale—Prelude "Sheep May Safely Graze," Bach-Templeton
Sonata in B-Flat Major, Mozart.

Prelude in B Minor, Rachmaninoff.

Prelude in C major, Pokofieff.
Slow air from Charterhouse suite, Vaughan-Williams.

Poissons d'or, Debussy.
Jardins sous la pluie, Debussy.
Intermission.

Ghost Rhapsody, Templeton.
Griegs in the Grove, Templeton.
Impressions and Improvisations, Templeton.

Concert Waltz in D Flat, Templeton.

Wednesday Night Set for Deadline On NYA Time Slips

The first NYA payroll period of spring term ends Tuesday, April 15, and time cards must be signed and turned in at the payroll window in Johnson hall by Wednesday, April 16, at 5 o'clock.

Supervisors and students are requested to notify the NYA secretary of hours which students are unable to work and which will be held over for the second period.

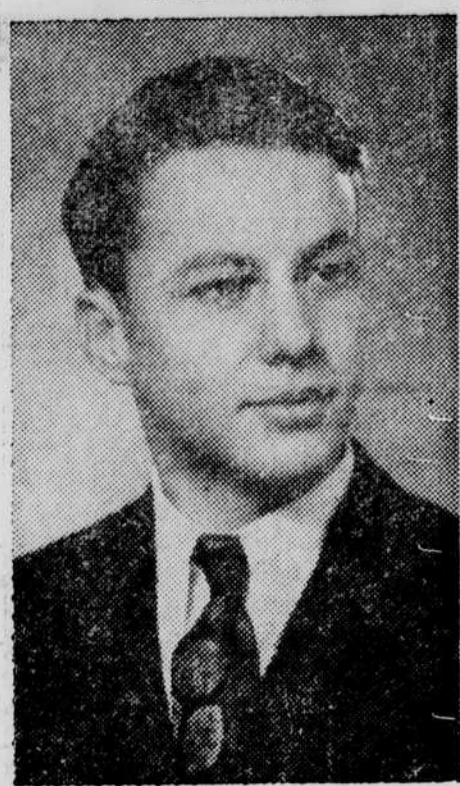

The NYA secretary must be notified of any hours which the student can't work in order that other students may have them. There is at present a shortage of hours so failure to comply with this request will deny students the chance to work unused hours.

Women Adwriters To Give Tea Today

Zeta chapter of Gamma Alpha Chi is holding a tea today at the Alpha Delta Pi sorority house from 4 to 4:30.

Mrs. Spencer Collins will pour at the tea which honors women students active in advertising activities on the campus.

VILLAIN

Parker McNeil, University theater actor, will portray the role of the villain, Commissar Gorotchenko, in the Guild theater production of "Tovarich" April 17, 18, and 19.

'Shack-Dwellers' Of Emerald Staff To Banquet Today

Oregon Daily Emerald news staff workers will banquet at the Anchorage at noon today. Those who intend to go are asked to sign in the Emerald newsroom some time this morning. Editor Lyle Nelson said.

Upper news staff for five special editions will be named at the banquet, Nelson said.

These issues are: Sigma Delta Chi-Theta Sigma Phi, April 19; women, April 26; sophomores, May 3; men, May 10; and frosh May 17.

First Oregon Flyer Trains Intensively

"We're really getting a thorough training down there but I'm enjoying the work very much," declared Pierce Mallory, first student to solo under the CPT program here last year. Mallory stopped at the CPT office last Thursday to talk to J. C. Stovall, assistant director of the local air program.

Taking advantage of a government scholarship awarded him last fall, Mallory is studying meteorology at UCLA. Under the present arrangement, he revealed, he receives his room, board, clothes, and instruction, plus $75 monthly. In addition he will be commissioned as second lieutenant when he is graduated next June.

As to his future plans Mallory revealed proudly, "I plan to go into some part of the navy as meteorologist. I'll still be connected with the air corps, but working in the navy division."

In connection with his study at the university Mallory added, "There are 30 fellows in the group and they are all enthusiastic about the work—it isn't easy but extremely interesting."

He added that he would be glad to hear from any of the boys at Oregon who are interested in going on in some particular phase of aviation.

"I'll answer all the questions as well as I can," he concluded.

'Pan-America' Title Awarded to Senior

Janice Johnson, senior in journalism, was named Oregon's "Miss Pan-America" in a broadcast last night sponsored jointly by the Spanish department and Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish national honorary group.

Also competing for the title won by Miss Johnson were Marie Gabel and Veva Peterson. Knowledge of Pan-American affairs was stressed in the selection.

The program also featured a skit, "Makers of South America," with a cast consisting of Howard Speer, Ray Dickson, David Stone, Betsy Hanchett, Betsy Steffen,

More Gatherings Asked by Alums

Continuance of "A Day at Old Oregon," held in Portland last Thursday, was requested by many of the alumni, said E. C. Fansett, secretary of the Alumni association. "The idea of forums and discussions added to the original banquet was exceedingly successful," he said.

Another unique plan this year was no campaign to sell tickets to the banquet, but extensive advertising made the alums take notice and they then called for their own reservations.

Individual afternoon sessions as scheduled were attended by an average of 35 persons each. The evening banquet, conducted by George Hopkins because of Dean Theodore Kratt's illness, was attended by 225 alumni.

Clarence Coddling, '35, was elected president of the Alumni association; Mrs. Lowell Paget, '19, vice-president; Milton Rice, '28, treasurer; Virginia Hartje, '34, secretary.

Alan Foster, Phyllis Sanders, Norman Evonuk, Art Hillbold, and Beauford Clemens.

Jim Davidson acted as narrator.
