

Dance Group Plans Weekend Program

The Master Dance group will present their annual Junior Weekend program Friday, May 9, at 8:15 in Gerlinger hall.

The program will consist of dances by the Master Dance group, which will feature highlights of Junior Weekend: "Presentation of the Court," "Campus Luncheon," "Junior Prom," and "Canoe Fete."

Another group of dances will feature the songs that Americans sing.

"Ground Bass Regale," for which Virginia Kerns is the choreographer, will be given by a group of Master Dance members, and a group dance of last year, "Gossip," will be repeated.

A number of solo dances will be presented by both Master Dance members and students of the intermediate and advanced classes of modern dance.

The musical accompaniment will be arranged and played by Kay Holman.

Admission will be free, and mothers on the campus for Junior Weekend are especially invited.

Students Offered Summer Training

Thirty selected students will have an opportunity for training for work in organizations composed of young people at the International Student Service of the United States' summer school at Campello, New Brunswick. It will also train students for work among European students after the war.

Quarters for the institute located off the coast of Maine on the U.S.-Canadian border have been made available by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Those active in student government bodies, in the YMCA and YWCA, on college newspapers, and in undergraduate newspaper clubs are to be selected.

Information and applications may be obtained by writing to ISS Student Leadership Institute, 8 West 40th street, New York, N. Y.

Personnel Service Offers Scholarship

The Western Personnel Service of Pasadena, each year offers a scholarship to the colleges which subscribe to its services.

This year again, one or more fellowships of $500 each for advanced training courses in personnel are being offered to men and women students who are graduating from these member colleges and who are interested in personnel work as a vocation.

The past two years have seen two Oregon students win these scholarships, Elisabeth Stetson and Ann Frederiksen. Students who are interested in applying for the fellowships may call at Dean Onthank's office for particulars.

Chosen 22 Like Sham Battles, Funny Papers

Ward 9 conscriptees resumed sham battle maneuvers Wednesday, much to the sorrow of their fellow inmates, who bore the brunt of the attack.

One of the female inmates was sent smiling down the road to recovery when she got a report that her comic strip heroes were all "doing very nicely."

Campus Calendar

An assembly of the law school student body will take place today at the regular 11 o'clock assembly hour.

Lutheran students banquet will take place at 7:30 Friday at the Central Lutheran church. Oregon State Lutheran students will be guests. Oregon students who will attend are to meet at the YW first.

Tea will be served today in the YWCA bungalow at 4 o'clock.

AWS council will meet first and third Thursdays of each month in the AWS room, Gerlinger hall.

The '41' club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the YWCA hut. Members will please bring their cars.

Ghent Announces New Math Pledges For Pi Mu Epsilon

Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics honorary, pledged 13 new members Saturday, Kenneth S. Ghent, assistant professor of mathematics, announced yesterday.

The new members are: Randall Caswell, Bessie Kamarad, Arline Lewis, John Wilson, Alice Trullinger, Ethel Sutton, Samuel Iwata, Leona Tyler, Edward Wiseman, William Reburn, Torlef Nelson, Clinton Paine, an Stanley Robinson.

Initiation for the new pledges will be held today at 5:30 p.m. in alumni hall of Gerlinger, with a banquet at the Anchorage at 6 o'clock. Guest speaker at the banquet will be Professor Thomas Greenwood of the University of London, here on a lecture tour, who will talk on "Inventions in Mathematics."

Two Oregon Grads In Army Air Corps

Two University of Oregon youths have just become a part of a class of 350 flying cadets completing the basic flight training program at Randolph field, Texas, the "West Point of the Air." Four and a half months ago these young Americans were civilians, and now are only ten weeks away from commissions as second lieutenants and flying officers in the army air corps.

They are John H. Enders, '38, of Ashland, and Raymond C. Houghton, '40, of Eugene.

Trade Film Opens Tonight in Condon

"Duty to Cargo," the foreign trade classes' lately-acquired film on modern methods of handling cargo on ocean vessels, will have its first campus showing tonight at 7:30 in 101 Condon hall.

Assistant Professor A. G. Dudley stated that the film, presented to the University by the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, will be used for years to come for teaching purposes in foreign trade courses. It cost $35,000 to produce.

Other films on, tonight's Condon hall program, which is also sponsored by the Propeller club, concern life in the navy. "With the Yangtze Patrol" shows naval maneuvers along the Chinese river.

"South American Cruise" shows navy life in the southern part of the western hemisphere, including pictures of mainland activity. All films are sound-equipped.

City Settlement Training Offered

From the National Federation of Settlements, Inc. of New York City, comes word that opportunities for work experience and neighborhood study are being offered by settlements throughout the country, to a limited number of students, teachers, and young workers during the summer.

Group leadership, study, and everyday living in communities faced with the complex problems of crowded and urban areas, yet rich with the color of old-country tradition and custom, are some of the experiences open to takers of these openings. Opportunities are limited and candidates should apply at Dean Onthank's office as soon as possible.

Pageant Committee Starts Sign Contest

A poster contest, sponsored by the Eugene pageant association in connection with this year's pioneer pageant, was announced recently by George Hitchcock, business manager.

Posters, 18 by 25 inches, will be used throughout the Northwest for publicity purposes.

Cash prizes of $15, $10, and $5 are offered. Entry blanks and additional information may be obtained from Room 13, First National bank building.

Social Chairman Form New Club

Chuck Putnum was named president of the social chairman club Monday, climaxing the formation of this new campus organization.

Kenny Bowes will serve as vice-president and Francis Watzig as secretary. The new president appointed Ray Packouz, Jack Cole, and Dale McKenzie as a committee to investigate possible benefits of such a group.

Class Surveys Campus Expenditures Shown

The amount of money Oregon students are earning and the approximate amount prospective students may expect to earn will, it is hoped, be revealed by the student earnings survey now being conducted by the economics statistics class under the direction of Miss Beatrice Aitchison, instructor in economics.

The survey will also show the average and the minimum student wage, the number of Oregon students who are partially or entirely self supporting, and the type of work being done.

Ten members of the class are interviewing 350 students classified by sex and by class. First estimates are expected next week.

Last year's class surveyed the Oregon campus to determine student expenditures. It was learned that $1,379,000 was spent by University students in Eugene in 1939.

"This is one of the very finest courses of its type," said Miss Aitchison. "Field work is actually done by the students themselves. Later, if we have time, we will analyze the results."

"It's interesting to find out what the students have been doing. And it's fun, too. In fact, I enjoy it so much that I'm doing some of the interviewing myself."

Driver Seeks Boy, Girl As Witnesses In Auto Crack-up

Al Miller, of Eugene, was driving two University students, a boy and girl, downtown last night, when the automobile of Charles L. Thompson, of the Eugene vocational school, struck his car at the intersection of Twelfth and Alder.

There were no injuries, but both automobiles were damaged. The two students who were riding with Miller left the scene of the accident before he could get their names.

Miller, anxious to secure his passengers as witnesses, requests that they telephone him at number 886. There will be no embarrassment to them, whatsoever, Miller said.
