

Phipps Elected To Head Law Student Body

Olmstead, Wiener Also Win Positions In Annual Ballot

By unanimous ballot Chuck Phipps, Leon Olmstead, and Norman Wiener were chosen president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the law school student body at an election yesterday.

Phipps, replacing Jack Hay, will be inaugurated at a ceremony in connection with the law school weekend, May 3 and 4.

Queen of the lawyer's celebration will be Wendell Wyatt, who beat out Don Richardson and Bob Recken by a large majority. The two losers were named princesses of "Winsome Wennie's" court.

Water-Warmers

Meyer Kroopnick, Dick Phillippi, John Winkler, Robert Carmichael, and James Buell were designated water-warmers. They will function at the weekend as pre-heaters of the mill-race before the queen is dunked.

Jeanette Hafner was named as barber to shave the head of "Queen" Wendell at his inauguration. She will be assisted by all able-bodied members of the student body.

Practice Game

Bob Recken, general chairman of the weekend, announced a practice softball game with Kappa Alpha Theta for next Tuesday at 4 p.m.

The parade committee, headed by Don Richardson, announced the selection of Jeanette Thatcher, Mary Wormser, Helen Clarke, Ross Perry, and Jeanette Hafner as drum majorettes. The band at present consists of four instruments, three clarinets and a flute, but the committee is sure of a wider variety before the parade.

Men Look Alive As Coeds Plan May Skirmish

The members of Mortar Board today issued a warning to aspiring men about the campus to be on good behavior at least until May 17, for that is the date set for their annual girl-date-boy dance, to be held in McArthur court.

Art Holman and his 11-piece band have been signed to play for the affair, it was announced by Joanne Riesch, general chairman.

Miss Riesch appointed the following committees to make preparations for the dance:

Decorations, Marge McLean; programs, Aida Brun; tickets, Betty Buchanan; patrons, Donna Ketchum, and publicity, Sally Mitchell.

Hair-stylist Speaks On New Coiffures

Care of the hair and hair styling were the subjects of a talk given by Miss Imola Mitchell, hairstylist, to a meeting of the clothing selection class in Gerlinger Tuesday night.

Illustrating with living models, she described the new trends in hair styles, which mainly follow the inspirations of old statues, Roman styles, and seventeenth-century paintings.

However, the trend is toward "what looks well on you, not fads or the current rave in New York," Miss Mitchell said.

She discussed the best shampoos and hair health, emphasizing the part that vitamins and correct food play in hair beauty.

Designed by Don Shirley, freshman art major, it will be used for all of the weekend's official correspondence.

Bob Deverell, assistant general chairman of junior weekend, will be in charge of distributing the stationery and envelopes to the living organizations today.

Group to Attend Science Meet

Students, Faculty To Leave Saturday For Annual Confab

A number of faculty members and students will leave Saturday morning to participate in the annual student science conference at Linfield college in McMinnville.

At the morning session, beginning at 9:30, Dr. A. H. Kunz, associate professor of chemistry, will speak on meteors and meteorites. In the afternoon the group will be divided into several sections, with student papers being presented in competition for prizes. Dr. L. F. Beck, associate psychology professor, will be one of the judges, and Al Carp, James Goffard, and William Cass, graduate psychology students, will present papers. Ula Weight and Monroe Shelley, seniors in psychology, will show a film, "Adaptive Behavior in Golden-Mantled Ground Squirrels." Wilbur E. Greenup, graduate assistant in geography, will be chairman of the geology and psychology group.

Saturday evening there will be a banquet followed by a meeting of student delegates, to arrange for next year's conference. There will be an evening program with speakers and entertainment.

Highlighting the conference will be a paper, "Fluorescent Light and Its Applications," to be given by Jack Dement, co-

Crissy Conducts Drill for Last Time

For the last time acting in his capacity of University military staff officer, Lt. Col. J. W. Crissy conducted the regimental drill of Oregon's ROTC unit Thursday afternoon.

A communication from Washington summoned Colonel Crissy to active duty at Fort Lewis beginning about May 1. Over 900 officers and men passed in review and then stood at attention while the colonel reviewed the troops following the regular Thursday parade.

Col. R. M. Lyon, head of the military department, indicated that since there will be no competition with the Oregon State unit this year, the rest of the term will be devoted to parades on the home field and training graduating officers in the handling of troops.

By the latter part of the term, Colonel Lyon said, public exhibitions will be given on the local drill area for the benefit of visitors. Officers and men alike indicated that a marked improvement has been made in the parades and the colonel said that the results of this year's training are "something to be proud of."

author of a recently published book on that subject.

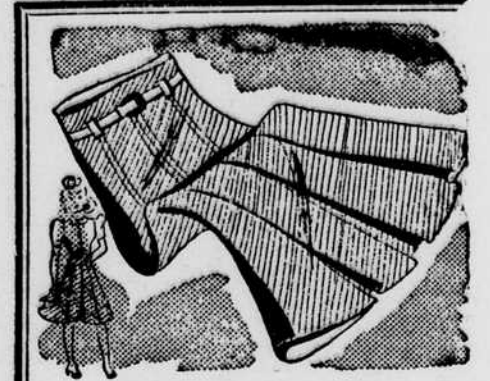

Students interested are invited to attend the conference. Registration will begin at 8 Saturday morning on the Linfield campus. Anyone in need of transportation may contact Wilbur Greenup in Condon hall some time Friday.

Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Delta Thetas Sing Over KORE

Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Phi Delta Theta fraternity choruses sang on the University Student hour, broadcast over KORE last night at 8:15.

The Gamma Phi Beta group, under the direction of Jean Burt, sang "An Indian Prayer" and "Piggers' Serenade," written by Fred Beardsley, University student. The quartet (Elizabeth Steed, Jean Burt, Peggy Myll, and Fran Roth) sang "The Way You Look Tonight."

Phi Delta Theta was directed by Les Ready, singing "Drums of Phi Delta Theta," "Friendship," and "Phi Delta Theta, We Love You."
