

Speedy Distribution Planned for Lunches

Jim Davidson Will Act as High Sultan For Coronation Proceedings in Gay Arabian Nights Floral Setting

Paris in the spring, even at its pre-war best, would have nothing on the University of Oregon campus which turns host to 3,700 Mothers Friday, May 9, at an opening campus luncheon for Junior Weekend. Brightly colored canopies carrying out the Arabian Nights theme, Fred Beardsley's orchestra, conoration of Queen Annabelle Dow, and food for at least 5,000 will form a background for the afternoon which will set a gay spring pace for the annual big weekend of the year.

Jim Davidson will step into the position of High Sultan and master of ceremonies for the luncheon, Bette Morfitt, chairman, announced last night as she released a complete list of plans.

"Arabian Nights," fete theme, will be spelled out in flowers on a floral background and an ethereal color scheme of yellow, green, and purple.

Miss Morfitt last night promised the best in service for the luncheon. She said there will be more serving tables and the crowd will flow quietly and quickly through.

Additional luncheon attractions will include pledging of Mortar Boards, Friars, and Asklepiads. A traditional attraction will feature dunking of men and women who talk with members of the opposite sex.

COS Formal Party For Baptist Students Planned for May 1

"Ship Ahoy" is the theme of the annual formal spring party sponsored by the Baptist COS class, which is set for Friday, May 1, at 8 p.m. in the social hall of the First Baptist church at Broadway and High streets.

All senior members of Baptist church organizations are invited to the party, which is the largest held during the year. Chairmen in charge of the party are: Irita Chase, Grace Campbell, general co-chairmen; Marshall Mobley, Nelson Sandgren, decorations; Rendell Aldredge, program.

Library Receives Unbound Shipment

A large shipment of unbound periodicals has just been received by the University library from the H. W. Wilson company.

The magazines will be used to complete the library files and include issues of magazines such as Catholic World, Public Utilities Fortnightly, Safety Education, World Affairs Interpreter, Dublin Review, Mecure de France, and many others.

Hostel Group Asks Student Attendance At UO-OSC Meeting

Students interested in youth-hosteling are invited to participate in a joint meeting of the University and Oregon State college groups today at the Eugene hostel east of Hendricks park.

The University delegation will leave by bike from in front of the YWCA at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. E. E. Boushey of the physical education department will lead the party.

Dr. Eva Seen will lead the Oregon State group, which will stay overnight at the local hostel. Dr. Seen will show slides this evening of Oregon coastal points.

The following have entered the graduate division of the contest: Walter Kraft, Bob Dent, Mary Hughes, A. Freeman Holmer, Robert Knox, Clinton Vincent, Gene Edwards, Phyllis Ricketts, Don Castanien, Mary Failing, and William Trimble.

Pacific College Prexy to Speak

'War and Refugees' To Be Subject of Talk Tuesday in Friendly

"War and Refugees" is the topic a speech to be given 7:30 Tuesday night in the faculty room of Friendly hall by E. W. Gulley, president of Pacific college, Newberg. The meeting is open to students, faculty, and townspeople.

The college president spent two years in American Friends' refugee service in Spain and Cuba.

An essentially student meeting with Mr. Gulley talking on the "Significance of the Refugee Problem for Students" is scheduled for the YWCA at 8:30 Monday night. Leading officers and members of all campus religious groups are especially urged to be present.

A noon luncheon meeting will be held at Westminster Tuesday at 12 o'clock at which the refugee authority will discuss the "Food Blockade." Those in charge request that reservations be placed at Westminster house by Monday evening for the Tuesday luncheon. It will cost 25 cents.

Museum Will Open

The museum of Oriental arts will be open Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4, in observance of Library day, attendants stated.

Hours will be as follows: May 3—3 to 5 and 8 to 10 p.m.; May 4—3 to 5 p.m.

Architects Prepare 30th Anniversary Festivities for May

Students and faculty of the school of landscape architecture will take part in the celebration of the 30th anniversary of the teachings of landscape work in the Oregon system of higher education. It will take place on the ninth of May in Corvallis in connection with the garden festival.

At the present time students who take this course attend both the University and Oregon State before graduation. Fifty or sixty graduates are expected to return to honor Professor A. L. Peck, head of the department since its founding.

Baseball is a sport that requires very excellent eyesight, and ball players are always careful to take the best possible care of their eyes. They never strain them unduly.

You, too, should take just as good care of your eyes as the professional athletes, because the strain of study puts a great exertion upon them. Always remember that your eyes are your most valuable possession.

Drop in tomorrow for a free examination.

Be sure that your eyes are examined by a registered optometrist.

ADS Chapter Attends Meet

Northwest Conclave Draws Advertisers From All Over State

About thirty students and four or five faculty members, besides alums and associate members of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary, will attend the Northwest conclave in Portland today.

The program will begin at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon with advertising exhibits.

Mr. Bob Smith, advertising manager of Lipman & Wolfe, who is highly recommended by W. F. G. Thacher, adviser of Oregon ADS chapter, will discuss "How to Get a Job and Keep It" at a job panel later in the afternoon.

A banquet at the Multnomah hotel will mark the formal installation of the Portland alumni ADS chapter. Clyde Robinson, regional vice-president from the University of Washington, will install officers.

Toastmaster is Leith Abbott, ADS alumnus and advertising manager for the Southern Pacific railroad.

Principal address of the evening will be delivered by Don Belding, president of the Pacific Advertising Clubs association, and an Oregon alum. Don Belding, Jr., freshman at the University, who will be present as a pledge, is his son.

Climaxing the conference will be the announcement of the winner of the W. F. G. Thacher scholarship at the banquet. George Luoma, former business manager of the Emerald, won the scholarship last year. Valued at $100, it will be given to the best all-around junior man in advertising at the University.

New pledges are Don Belding, Bob Broderick, Ken Bowes, Doug David, Bill Ralston, Bob Rudolph, Jim Thayer, Bill Wallan, and Howard Vierling.
