

Frosh to Bring Lee for Dance

Glee Will Feature 11-Piece Orchestra And Novel Theme

Johnny Lee's 11-piece orchestra has been signed for the Frosh Glee May 24, Ted Hallock, Glee orchestra chairman, announced Monday night.

Hallock described Lee's band as a "definitely up-and-coming outfit" with a "distinctly powerhouse style of playing."

Decision to sign Lee for the Glee came after it was apparent that the frosh would be unable to obtain a "big name" band for the May affair. The dance will be "built around a theme," instead of featuring a certain band, Hallock said. He explained that such an arrangement would make for a "University dance for the University."

In justifying the idea of a "theme dance" Hallock promised "beautiful background, harmonious with the type of band we have chosen." He did not divulge what the theme would be.

Allied Arts of Portland will furnish decorations. Hallock observed that this concern also did the decorating for the senior ball in January.

Barristers Ready For Moot Trials

All parties involved in Thursday's law school moot trial have arrived at an issue of fact and are now ready to go to court to settle the case, stated Brock Miller, one of the attorneys for the plaintiff.

To be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening in the circuit court room on the Lane county court house the trial, first of four, is open to the public.

The case, an accident suit involving Dave Rementeria and Hugh Collins, will be defended for the plaintiff by Dick Bryson and Brock Miller, and for the defendant by Jack Dunn and Jack Hay.

All students who wish to serve on the jury may turn in their names to Bob Recken, clerk of the court, before Thursday afternoon.

Shelley Wins First With Psych Paper

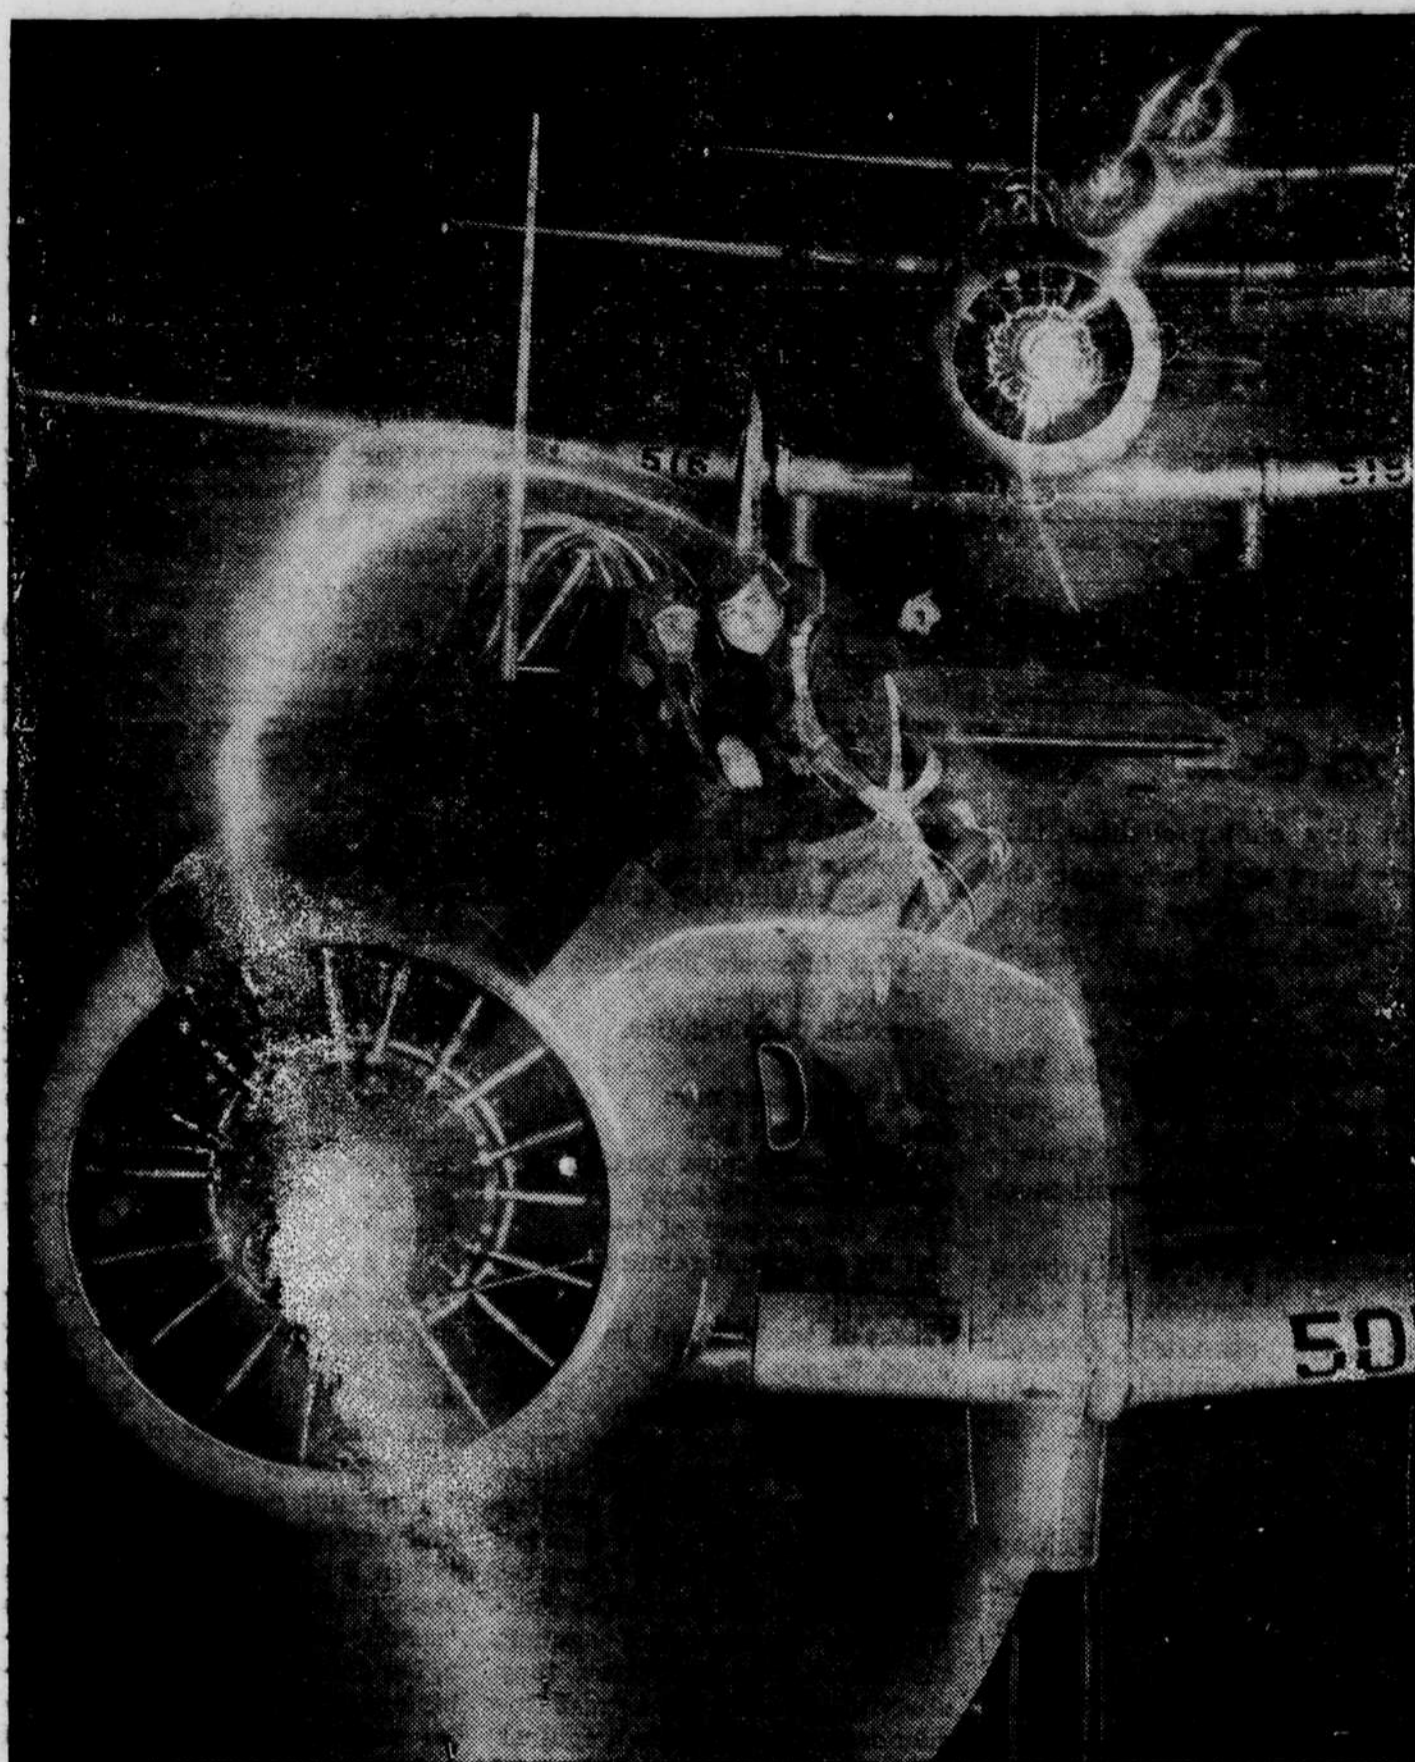

Monroe Shelley, senior psychology student, was awarded first prize in the psychology and geology section of the Student Science conference held Saturday at Linfield college. His paper, "Adaptive Behavior in Golden Mantled Ground Squirrels," was accompanied by movies on the same subject.

Interesting sidelights of the conference were talks given by two foreign students who recently returned to the United States: Fred Klepetar, who came from the University of Prague in Czechoslovakia, and Kuno Veller, from Vienna.

Dr. A. H. Kunz, associate professor of chemistry, spoke at the general session Saturday morning on meteors and meteorites. James Goffard, Abraham Carp, and William Cass, psychology students, presented papers during the afternoon.

At the business meeting Saturday afternoon, Oregon State college was chosen as the location for next year's conference, and Martin Packard of Oregon State was elected president for the coming year.

HE WENT THAT WAY—

Flying cadets of Uncle Sam's West Point of the Air (Randolph field) stand ready to take off on the trail of an "enemy" ship. Randolph, located in Texas, is the largest of three basic flight training schools and will instruct 7,000 pilots annually for government service.

European Art Shown Students Wednesday

By MARY WOLF

About $3000 worth of folk art from several European countries was shown by Mrs. Nelbert Chouinard, head of the Chouinard art school in Los Angeles to University students and townspeople Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the art school's little art gallery.

Recently returned to the United States from central Europe, where she was detained for many months because of the war, Mrs. Chouinard talked informally about conditions in Europe as she displayed her collection.

Most valuable among her possessions was an exquisite madonna carved in wood by Anton Lang, who until his death had taken the part of Christ in the Passion Play for many years.

"People in those countries like lovely things," Mrs. Chouinard said. "They spend long winters decorating their furniture, dishes, and cooking utensils. She warned that if a traveler sees something he wants, while traveling in Europe, he should purchase it immediately because there is a chance that he will never see that Each peasant family in these countries specializes in some particular art object. As an illustration of this Mrs. Chouinard pointed out that the design of a big ladle which she had bought in Norway had been used for over 500 years.

"The Czechoslovakians have the purest colors of any country in Europe, and at the time of the invasion of their country by Germany they sent their dye secrets and their dyes to Poland. On the invasion of Poland these experts went into Switzerland. Now these people are unable to get the necessary materials with which to work," she informed her audience.

Mrs. Chouinard said that she considered Hungary the most colorful country in its peasant art.

Alpha Gamma Delta Host to OSC House

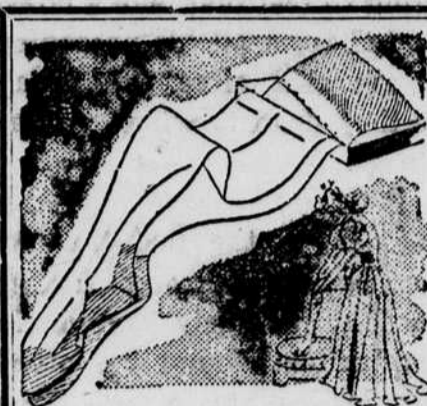

Over 35 members of the Oregon State chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta were overnight guests of the Oregon chapter Saturday and Sunday as the two chapters observed International Reunion day.

Saturday evening the two chapters held a formal banquet at McCrady's. Mrs. Hazel P. Schwering, dean of women, spoke to the group on the value and purpose of fraternities in their international scope. Mrs. Alice B. Macduff, assistant dean of women, and Mrs. Mabel Munger, house chaperon of the Oregon chapter, were also guests.

Dean Morse Rules Union May Submit

In a decision affecting every port on the Pacific coast from Port Townsend to San Diego, Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University law school and Pacific coast arbitrator of longshore disputes, ruled last Monday that, under the agreement between the longshoremen and the waterfront employers association, the union had the right to submit 92 proposals for coastwide working and dispatching rules to arbitration.

At a hearing on the matter held April 15, the employers challenged the jurisdiction of Dean Morse to consider 34 of the union's 92 proposals.

The dean ruled that he "must do the best he can to give present agreements force and effect in keeping with the spirit and intent of the parties."

It is expected the case will require several weeks of hearings, but Dean Morse plans to recess from time to time in order to take care of his teaching and administrative duties at the University.

Endicott Will Lead Forum Broadcast

Les Endicott will lead the discussion of the seventeenth weekly Campus Forum of the Air Tuesday evening at 9:15 o'clock over radio station KORE.

The present-day system of education will provide subject matter for this week's broadcast. Tonight's program will feature a discussion of the adequacy of the American educational system.

John Busterud will act as moderator for this evening's program, Marvin Krenk, acting director, announced last night. "Comment on the discussions presented thus far has been on the whole favorable," Mr. Krenk added.

Listeners are invited to call the station and submit questions for discussion during the program.

Six new members were initiated recently into Phi Delta Kappa, men's professional education fraternity.
