

Gulley to Speak on 'War, Refugees'

Prexy-Elect Of Pacific U Talks at 7:30

Other Assemblies Will Hear Visitor Speak Today

Professor Emmett W. Gulley, unanimous choice of the Pacific college board for the college presidency January 17, speaks at 7:30 tonight in the faculty room of Friendly hall on "War and Refugees."

He is a graduate of Pacific, 1917, and has since been a missionary in Mexico, field secretary of the New York yearly meeting of Friends, and on the force of Pacific college as professor of Spanish and in the social science and physical education departments since 1928.

Spanish Work

A year and a half was spent during 1939 and 1940 in refugee work in Spain and Cuba. He replaces President Levi T. Pennington, head of the college from 1911 to 1941.

Another campus meeting is scheduled this noon for Professor Gulley. He speaks at a Westminster luncheon meeting on "The Food Blockade." The luncheon costs 25 cents and reservations must be made at 2466, Westminster house, by 9 o'clock this morning.

YM Address

He addresses the YMCA frosh commission at 4:30 this afternoon. The topic is not announced for the "Y" meeting.

"The Significance of the Refugee Problem for Students" was his talk title at a speech for student religious leaders at the YWCA last night.

While attending Pacific the speaker was prominent in many extracurricular activities, especially in the work of the YM, in oratory, music, and athletics. He was a star basketball and baseball player.

US First Lady

Mrs. Roosevelt's lecture, which is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock in McArthur court, will be her first in Oregon.

Starting off her married career with two honeymoons, a brief one at Hyde Park while Franklin completed his law studies, followed by a summer in Europe, Eleanor Roosevelt spent the first few years of her marital life in the manner of the typical society matron.

Caring for her five children with the winters passed in the Manhattan town house or Hyde Park, and summers in Maine, the future first lady was little occupied with the social and civic activities which have since brought her prominence in her own name.

At the present time, Mrs. Roosevelt has a yearly round of duties almost as heavy as that of her husband. Thirty to forty lectures a season, a daily syndicated column, "My Day," as well as numerous magazine articles to be written every month, social duties as capitol hostess, and overseeing of her far-flung brood, fill out her annual schedule.

All students will be admitted to Mrs. Roosevelt's lecture upon presentation of their activities cards.

Campus Calendar

Heads of Houses will meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the AWS room of Gerlinger hall.

Kwama members must be at the Pi Phi house at 7:15 o'clock tonight.

Theta Sigma Phi meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Harriet Whalley, 446 1/2 Thirteenth.

Members of the Mothers' day committee will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Side.

There will be an important meeting of all varsity and potential varsity basketball players in room 101 of the physical education building at 7:00 o'clock tonight.

The YMCA student finance committee will meet at 3 p.m. today.

Freshman commission meeting at the YMCA bungalow today at 4 p.m. Plans for the ice cream sale will be made.

Fenton Hallers To Face Theta Indoor Team

With their traditional game with the BA school in the offing, Fenton hall's inmates have scheduled a practice game against the Kappa Alpha Theta lovelies for Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the field behind Gerlinger hall, according to Bob Recken, weekend head.

Says the law school pilot, Captain-Coach William J. "Goatball" Robert, "we need some good stiff competition to whip our boys into shape. I'm doing the pitching, and if my special 'goatball' delivery is breaking right and if the boys are hitting it will be a landslide in our favor."

Miss Nancy Latourette, Theta manager, says: "We are full of spirit over here since we beat the Alpha Gams today. To make the chances more even we are considering making the lawyers play left-handed."

Canoe Fete Head Suggests Desserts

"Houses sharing responsibilities in building Arabian Nights canoe fete floats could schedule picnics, dinners, or desserts with each other in order to become more canoe fete conscious," thinks George Arbuckle, chairman of the May 10 event of Junior Weekend.

In former years, Arbuckle stated yesterday, the building of the floats has been left to one or two in each of the houses represented on the float. He suggested that the matter be brought up at house meetings so that the plans may be surveyed and suggestions added.

Five More CPTs Report First Solo

Five new soloists have been added to the almost completely "soloed" spring term civil pilot training class, according to the CPT office.

The recent quintet, all instructed by Merle Robinson, are: Joe Gurley, Kenneth Gaines, Betty Jo Shown, Clyde Hollenbeck, and Howard Lawrence.

Ahoy You Coke Fiends You Take One Daily

By BOB WHITELEY

Did you know that three-quarters of the student body at the University of Oregon drinks at least one coke a day? Did you know that every day over 50 cases of coca cola are delivered to the living organizations? That's a neat little total of 1,200 bottles of refreshment that Oregon's students consume.

These figures do not take into consideration the eateries and hangouts. Just how many pounds of ice, and how much fizz water, is consumed would be a major undertaking that would require too much research... just guess at it yourself.

12 for Nickels

According to the big wigs at the coca cola bottling works here in Eugene, there are 12 big syrup plants in the United States, just for the sole purpose of producing the stuff that nickel dates are made of.

Each city has its own bottling plant, but the syrup is shipped in barrels to these bottling plants. In trying to find out just what the syrup of coca cola was made of, difficulty was encountered. It seems that the formula is a time-guarded secret... and they just wouldn't tell.

Your Choice

Modernism has taken its toll, according to the "Side" smoothies... There are lime, lemon, creme, cherry... cherry lime chocolate... marshmallow tutti fruttii... graveyard special and Gordon's Gin cokes... Once a coke was a coke... nice and plain. But nowadays, the Oregon students drum up new ways to drink the little devils... and you have to hold them up to the light to see what you have gotten... Which usually turns out to be the wrong one. With spring term coming up... watch the cokes go down.

Lawyers Prepare Annual Challenge

Buried beneath two closely typed pages of legal verbiage, the University of Oregon school of law last night announced its annual challenge to the "infants" of the BA school to a softball game at 2:30 Saturday afternoon on the diamond west of Hayward field.

The tilt will settle for once and all the alleged "loss of pride and reputation, together with extreme mental pain and anguish" suffered by the lawyers at the hands of the "commercials."

The challenge has been posted on the BA school bulletin board, and according to the wording, "if the infants fail to answer this complaint within 48 hours or if they chicken out of meeting us on the field of battle, we (the lawyers) will be given judgment of supreme and ultimate masters of intellectual, social, and athletic activities."
