

Libe to Give Special Show Of Rare Books

Saturday, Sunday Display to Include Burgess Collection

A special exhibit will be given at Library day ceremonies May 3 and 4, of the most important early works in the Burgess collection of rare books and manuscripts, together with recent gifts and books loaned by Mrs. Julia Burgess, administrator.

Manuscripts and illuminations, sixty-five or more in number, will include examples from the time of the Norman conquest to the 19th century. The earliest, a monoastic MS. of the 11th century, a fine example of Gothic script and initials with grotesques, contains works by St. Augustine and is in perfect preservation.

A special table will exhibit some of the recent gifts to the collection, including a French miniature from the Eugene chapter of Chi Omega, and a volume of facsimiles from Portland alumnae of Psi Alpha of Chi Omega. Another de luxe volume of facsimiles is the gift of a group of Eugene women, and a Kelmscott, printed in Troy type, was given by another friend in Eugene. Some of the miniatures and Homer volumes are gifts from eastern friends.

In the first floor collection room will be modern works in the generous Barker gift to the library. Here may be seen Shelleyana and Byroniana, first editions of Tennyson and Browning, autograph letters of Wordsworth and Emerson, with Americana and association volumes.

A Greek vase of the early fourth century B.C. has been placed in a specially designed niche above the bronze tablet in the Burgess collection room on the first floor. This vase (oinochoe) is in honor of the original collector, Edward Sandford Burgess, "a lover of things Greek."

YWCA to Sponsor Tea for Presidents

A tea honoring both the new and retiring presidents of AWS, WAA, and YWCA, will be given today at 4 o'clock in the YWCA bungalow.

Mrs. Clara Van Tassel will pour, and the Foreign Foods group will serve international delicacies for refreshments.

Nancy Allen is general chairman of the tea. For entertainment, Alice Trullinger will give piano selections, and Jean Morrison will sing.

This is the last big Thursday tea to be sponsored by the YWCA this term.

Postponement of the proposed Theta-law school softball tilt was sadly admitted today by players on both sides.

Official announcement of reasons for the action was promised in the near future.

Campus Calendar

University students are invited to attend a free lecture sponsored by the University Christian Science organization this evening at 8 o'clock in the Roosevelt junior high school on 1787 Agate street. Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, C. S. B. of New York, will speak.

University students from Long Beach, California, will hold their annual picnic Sunday, May 4. Anyone interested in going may call Jim Leonard at the Beta house or Pat Cloud, Phi Delta, for further details.

There will be a very important meeting of Gamma Alpha Chi members and pledges this evening at 7 o'clock at the Side. Please be prompt.

The Amphibian club picnic scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed. The picnic will be discussed at the club meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 at the pool in Gerlinger.

Junior-Senior Feed Tickets on Sale

Mrs. Jane Thacher will be the guest speaker for the annual junior-senior breakfast at 9 o'clock Sunday at the Osburn hotel.

Tickets are on sale at all women's living organizations or at the YWCA bungalow, for 50 cents each. Ticket salesmen are asked to return unsold tickets to Marilyn Marshall tonight.

Mrs. Thacher, well known for her piano artistry, will speak on "Music As a Part of Our Life Philosophy."

Pi Phis Celebrate 74th Anniversary

Oregon's Pi Beta Phi celebrated the 74th anniversary of the founding of their sorority Monday with a banquet at the chapter house for their alumni.

Mrs. Vern Callison, alumni adviser, told of the founding of the sorority. Grace Irvin, on behalf of the active members, gave a response. Mary Louise Vincent, vice-president, was toastmistress.

Ruth Hall Selected Panhellenic Prexy

Ruth Hall was selected president of Panhellenic for the coming year and Margaret Ann Jackson and Lora Case were chosen vice-president and treasurer, respectively, at the last meeting of the group.

Representatives from northern colleges are observing Panhellenic day today at Oregon State college. Several Oregon representatives will take part. Among those who will attend from Eugene are Miss Hall, Janet Goresky, Dean Hazel P. Schwering, Mrs. Marge Reynolds, and Chancellor and Mrs. Frederick Hunter.

The Panhellenic group will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Gerlinger hall to formulate next year's rushing rules.

McClain Attends Co-op Convention

At the fifteenth annual meeting of the Western College Bookstores association held last week in San Francisco, M. F. McClain, store manager of the University Co-op, met and exchanged ideas with managers of 25 college stores on the Pacific coast.

The main object of the convention is to get the managers together so that they may buy material in large shipments, McClain said. About 50 manufacturing concerns had representatives at the meeting.

ROTCs Take Shots

As an ROTC summer camp prerequisite, 60 juniors recently received three typhoid shots each at the health service. Camp requirements also include a successful smallpox vaccination.

Students will go to Fort Lewis about June 20 and will remain in training for six weeks. Three officers from the military department faculty will go to camp at the same time.

Nuns Get Degrees

Two nuns from Mt. Angel, Oregon, will receive master's degrees from the University this term after taking their last exam Saturday, May 3. They are Sister Joeine Darington, O.S.B., who

Cleaning Pullman cars and working on a ship are the jobs of two people who have answered the economics statistics lab's questionnaire for the survey on student earnings.

After a summer's work, the ship's steward had earned $500 for school expenses. One freshman does some surveying during the school year, and is also a volunteer fireman at $1.00 per fire. However, he says that isn't enough to encourage arson.

A local graduate student remarks that he took care of "all the brats within a radius of two blocks, but got no pay."

The survey, which is under the direction of Dr. Beatrice Aitchison, instructor in economics, is partially completed.

will receive her degree in business administration, and Sister Seline Schuster, O.S.B., whose degree will be in English.

Both have already submitted their master's thesis to the graduate office. They are members of the Order of St. Bernard, a teaching order.

Dean Allen Added To Voorhies Plaque

Dean Eric W. Allen of the journalism school was recently accorded the honor of having his name inscribed on the Amos E. Voorhies trophy, which was presented to the Oregon News Publishers' association, by the staff of the Grants Pass Courier to honor their employer, Mr. Voorhies.

Dean Allen was awarded this recognition for outstanding journalistic achievement in the interest and welfare of the journalistic profession.

Dean Allen is the seventh outstanding journalist to receive this honor.
