All University members of the Baptist church are invited to attend the annual spring formal party, to be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist church.

The evening's entertainment has been built around the "Ship Ahoy" theme, with decorations and program carrying out the nautical spirit.

Dick Kahn will talk about field trips to the Tillamook bay region and Yosemite national park, and show slides, and Carl Huffaker, Jr., will discuss and show slides on a recent field trip to the Marble mountain caves and Crater lake.

Inmates Open Bids for Making Infirmary Ramp

Bids will soon be opened by infirmary inmates for remodeling some of the wards, Tom Oxman, veteran Ward 8 confinee, announced yesterday. There is no objection to the architectural design, Oxman stated, but one of the most important features of such a room was left unnoticed—the builders failed to construct a ramp so that patients and beds could be moved out to see all baseball games, dances, and the Junior Weekend canoe fete.

Construction bids will be accepted any Wednesday except those falling in the middle of the week. If excessive cost proves the project unadvisable, the loan of a ladder or long rope will be greatly appreciated.

Protesting patients are: Mary Robinson, Reba Rosenberg, Alice Lucas, James Crump, Harry Prongas, Burson Ireland, John Ryel, James Kurtz, Bill Hoyt, Fred Foster, Ray Blaylock, Barry Campbell, James Durkheimer, and Oxman.

Soph Nominations Set for Today at 4

Candidates for office in the Class of 1943 will be nominated today at 4 p.m. in Villard, according to Bud Vandeneynde, class president.

Classmen will discuss the "ten-cent class card" proposal and make plans for the class party, Vandeneynde said.

The sophomores will be the last group to nominate. Both freshman "classes" and Class of '42 selected candidates at nominating assemblies last night.

Student Broadcast Tells of Revolution

"Of Flesh and Wood," original three-act radio drama by Kent Stitzer, was broadcast over KOAC last night.

'Old Oregon' Plugs Weekend

Special Number Of Alum Magazine Carries Dow Pix

Junior Weekend "went to the mails" yesterday with release of a special May weekend issue of Old Oregon, alumni magazine.

The issue features on the cover pictures of the Queen Annabelle Dow, her court, and of Genie Brown, weekend chairman. Inside is a story, "Arabian Nights Weekend" by Buck Buchwach, promotion chairman, telling of plans for the year's program. Also included is a story by Johnnie Kahananui, "Queens for a Decade," tracing a history of past courts and themes.

Lou Torgeson, junior class president, has penned a special invitation to all Oregon mothers and also alums and University friends.

Prominent in the magazine is a story about the Oregon medical school and a large picture showing an air view of the school at Portland. Ridgely Cummings, Emerald columnist, has a study of Herman Kehrli and his bureau of municipal research in the new issue.

A review of spring football practice and an introduction to the men who will see action next fall is given by Bruce Hamby.
