New Student Talent Record Installed Here

Gifted Students To Have Abilities Ready for Call

If you sing, dance, eat fireor have any other type of entertainment possibilities, there is a place for you in the new educational activities talent file, it was announced Monday by Anita Simons, activities office program manager.

The talent file is an innovation in the activities office, for the purpose of keeping an orderly record of students who have talent and would like to perform before audiences. The files will be open to all campus groups needing information pertaining to student performers.

Various fields are open to students who deposit application blanks clipped from the Emerald in the box at the University Co-op store, today or tomorrow, including rallys, assemblies, banquets, shows, and special events.

Edward Zelinsky is chairman of the file and is assisted by Anita Galton and Babs Du Puy, according to Miss Simon.

Anyone on the campus with ability in any entertainment field is urged to place their name on this permanent card record.

Dean Morse Gives Trio of Decisions On Labor Relations

Three arbitration decisions affecting labor relations between the American Communications association and the Pacific American Shipowners association were released yesterday by Dean Wayne L. Morse of the law school and Pacific coast arbitrator of maritime disputes.

In the first decision the position of the union claiming overtime pay whenever radio operators do not receive eight continuous hours off between 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. was sustained by the arbitrator.

Dean Morse, in his second deeision denied the union's claim for overtime pay when they are required by the master to be on board a vessel when it is moving in inland waters.

Radio operators were granted a 5 per cent increase in the basic wage rate as set forth in the agreement of July 13, 1940, as the third decision.

Bells Don't Ring But Bellringers Don't Know It

"Aren't they ringing?" queried the lady at the physical plant when asked why the bells didn't ring Monday afternoon.

"I didn't know they weren't ringing. They never ring here. We don't know they're not ringing unless someone phones in. Usually a secretary, a professor, or a janitor calls in and tells us. Otherwise we don't know."

"Are you sure they aren't ringing?"

Assured that the bells were silent she promised to look into the matter.

BA Men, Barristers Chalk Up 13-All Tie

Despite all opinions to the contrary the game was a 13 to 13 tie. Both the BA school hangerson and the lawyers may say different, but the score book shows that scoring in the annual softball debacle last Saturday was equally divided.

Heavy hitting by the "commercials" was countered by four innings of hitless ball pitched for the lawyers by Jack Hay. The fact that the umpires were members of the law school faculty in no way entered into consideration of the decisions.

Instead of having to pay Dean Morse a 95-cent sack of oats for his horses, the lawyers were given the benefit of the tie and received a box of his best cigars.

Preceding the game the barristers cast aside thir maentl of dignity and paraded their varied talent behind a motley orchestra for an hour and a half.

The festivities were officially opened at 1 o'clock when Queen Wendy Wyatt was crowned with a very suitable diadem. The princesses, "Uncle George" Recken and Tank Richardson, were presented, and upon receiving the royal edict the parade was formed by the loyal subjects.

The noise section, mistakenly referred to as the band, was composed of one trumpet, one slide trombone, two piccolos, one fife, and a bass drum. It functioned loudly and with much perspiration at the head of a column of standard bearers which immediately preceded the chariot of the queen and his court.

In their student drawn carriage rode the faculty representatives, "Deen W. L. Morz," "Jolly John Hollis," "Papee O'Connull," and "Lonzo Hardwig." Due to some mistake in forming the line of march a group of standard bearers announcing the advent of the "Cloyn Sexshun" strode before them.

Men became pursued and women the pursuers at Illinois Wesleyan university's recent "Vice Versa" week.

The University of Kansas has instituted a three-year program by which most students can complete their courses before becoming eligible for military service at the age of 21.

Lomax Will Boost Boat's Anniversary

Professor A. L. Lomax of the school of business administration is one of three men on the publicity committee for the centennial anniversary ceremonies in Portland May 19 of the launching of the Star of Oregon, first boat built on the Willamette river.

The boat was built by five early settlers in this territory. They sailed in it to San Francisco, then called Yerba Buena, and sold it in order to buy stock which they drove over the mountains to the Willamette valley.

H. L. Corbett, chairman of the port of Portland commission is working with the board of directors of the Oregon Historical society in promoting the occasion. Dr. Dan Clark, head of the University history department, is a member of this board.

Plans are in progress to have army, navy, marine corps, public school, and civic organization representatives present to make the unveiling of a memorial plaque at the time a community affair. The plaque will be placed on an Oregon rock in front of the administration building of the Swan Island airport, scene of the dedication ceremonies.
