Radio Play Set For Weekend

KOAC Broadcast To Bring Student Acting Friday

A radio dramatization of "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" has been added to Junior Weekend festivities, it was announced last night by Buck Buchwach, promotion chairman.

The program is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. Friday over KOAC, Corvallis, and will be over at 8. This will give mothers and students time to attend the Master Dance recital and Junior Prom.

The play will be a regular broadcast by 23 student actors under the direction of Donald Hargis, but mothers and students are particularly invited to attend the broadcast. This will be the first time audiences have been permitted inside the studios to watch broadcasts.

Music for the program will consist of selections from the "Scherzade."

Studios are on the first floor of the extension building.

Barker Re-elected Association Head In Annual Libe Day

Dr. Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University, was reelected president of the Association of Patrons and Friends of the University library at the fifth annual library day celebration on the campus last weekend.

L. W. Knowles was named again as secretary-treasurer. New members elected to the board are Miss Vivian Kellems and John McGregor, both of New York City; Mrs. T. W. Rosborough and Carl Washburne, both of Eugene; and Tom Binford, Portland. The 20 board members who served during the past year have been reelected.

YW Plans Panel

A panel will take place today at 4 in the YWCA bungalow. The topic, "Christian in a World at War," is one of several which will be discussed fully at Seabeck summer conference June 14-22.

Students who will take part in the discussion are Barbara Hampson, Michi Yasui, Ralph Harlow, and Henry Howard.

Fraternities at Colgate pay out $27,000 yearly in the form of jobs for needy students.
