

Pilot Training Class Assured

Stovall Announces Those Interested Should Apply Now

"It is perfectly safe to say that there will be a summer primary civil pilot training course," announced J. C. Stovall, assistant CPT director. He requested that all students interested in taking the course during the summer should make application immediately in the Fenton hall office.

"In addition to the summer course all evidence seems to point toward our having advanced flying here next year in both the fall and spring, as well as the regular primary courses," Mr. Stovall revealed.

It is urgent, according to Mr. Stovall, that all students who intend to take the course either this summer or fall, should inform the CPT office to facilitate compilation of next year's "flying fifty" list.

Those students who have made the application to the office in the past are asked to come in during the next week and check on their summer address and other details. All information as to physical and hours requirements may be found in the Fenton hall office (314).

Eula Baird Tops Speakers

Eula Baird, freshman in speech, won first prize and $15 in the annual spring term Jewett speech contest, held in Friendly hall recently.

"The Romance of Creole Cookery," provided subject matter for her presentation, which was judged superior by a committee of three judges. Personal experiences, and a recent visit to the French quarter of New Orleans was the inspiration for the speech, she revealed.

Don Coulter, freshman in law, won second place and a cash prize of $10, with Mavis Jones, sophomore in social science, placing third and receiving $5. H. H. Hanna, instructor in speech, was in charge.

Other final contestants were Helen Johnson, Betty Stuart, Madeline Chin, Don Broderick, and Evan Davies.

Aspirants to Take Job Exams in June

Merit examinations will be given late in June to fill interviewing positions in local state employment service offices and statistical positions in the central office of the state unemployment compensation commission.

College graduates are eligible for the position of junior employment officer, and students graduating this spring need not have been actually graduated at the time they file application in order to take the examination. They

ROTC Corps Gets Chart of Insignia

An artistic chart of officers' ranks will be posted in one of the ROTC rooms soon for the junior's benefit. The chart, compiled by Loyal Lang, junior in architecture, was turned in as part of a lecture on officers and corps insignia in Captain W. E. Reed's advanced military class Thursday.

One of the awkward situations that may arise when cadet officers go to summer camp is, according to Captain Read, the blunder of calling an officer by the wrong rank. The distinguishing mark between a major and a lieutenant is only a small metal insignia on the left shoulder, and sometimes serious difficulties arise when a young officer fails to notice the rank of a superior.

About 60 juniors will go to Fort Lewis for a six weeks training period. Captain Read is using the remaining class time in preparing the students for life in an army camp.

Mothers Total Reaches 699

Junior Class Gets Laurels, Drawing 56 Per Cent of All

The largest number of mothers ever to attend Junior Weekend festivities flocked to the campus Friday and Saturday to total 699 at the time registration officially closed Saturday at 3 p.m.

To the junior class went the credit of having the largest number of mothers present. Fifty-six per cent of the mothers present were junior class mothers.

Because a great many mothers were too late to register, or merely failed to register at all, complete figures on the number attending are not available.

gon music school, will be heard over station KOAC, Corvallis, tonight at 8 o'clock.

Accompanied by Professor Aurora Potter Underwood at the piano, Miss Sweeney will play "Havannaise" by Saint-Saens, and "Cortege" by Bonlanger. The same station, Friday night at 8 o'clock, will feature a program of orchestral ensemble music under the direction of Rex Underwood.

Phi Beta Honors Senior Members
