Bug Grapevine Gathers Word Of ASUO Vote

Infirmity patients received word of election returns by grapevine last night in as many moods and manners as there were candidates for positions. Three factions on the political front were represented in ward 8, and predictions and prognostications were as various, diversified, and unfounded as a politician's campaign promises.

Left out of the voting but sure in their own minds (until returns were made known) that their one and only choice was the victor, were: Elizabeth Walker, Frances Roth, Mary Failing, Lucille Johnson, Ada Mae Jeppesen, Don Broderick, Stanley Brown, James Kurtz, Ralph Harlow, Bill Lyons, Dan Mercer, Jules Napier, Gordon Jones, Morris Goldberg, and Ed Blumenthal.

'Life' Expresses Thanks to Oregon

Appreciation for cooperation of University staff members with staff photographers when a picture story was made of Les Steers recently, was expressed in a letter received here Monday by George H. Godfrey, head of the University news bureau, from Wilson Hicks, managing editor of Life magazine.

The magazine sent one of its most outstanding photographers, Hansel Mieth, here for three days. Miss Mieth, who is associate editor of the publication, was accompanied by her husband, Otto Hagel, whose work also appears exclusively in the weekly.

More than 200 pictures of the Oregon athlete, who recently set a new world's record in the high jump, were taken by the Life staff members. The material from the photographers will be gone over by the Life staff this week, and is expected to appear in an early issue, Mr. Hicks said.

Sophomores 'Elect' Cloud President

Officers of the Class of '43 were revealed last night by Bud Vandeneynde, outgoing president.

They are: Pat Cloud, president; Frances Cox, vice-president; Mary Ellen Smith, secretary; and Spencer Weills, treasurer.

Since only one set of candidates was nominated for office, no elections were held.

secretary of the medical school; Ellis Stebbins, business manager and registrar at Oregon College of Education.

Activities File Has List of Furniture

Any time you need that "certain" piece of furniture—perhaps a special costume or even a public address system, and are in the dark as to where it may be found, just call the activities office and through the use of their new properties file, they will tell you where it, or them, can be located.

An innovation in the activities office, the property files, it was announced by Anita Simons, program manager, have been formulated to aid living organizations and other campus groups in various productions which require "props."

Locations of various items, such as electrical equipment, curtains, orchestras, and costumes are included in the file.

Chairman of this recent project is Nancy Riesch. On her committee are: Yvonne Torgler, Emma Verdumen, Mary Bentley, Charlotte Swartz, Joan Goodrum, and Frank Lockwood.

Geology Field Trip Due This Weekend

The annual coast field trip of the general geology class is scheduled for this weekend. The group will visit the Cape Arago region below Marshfield, studying geological formations and collecting fossils.

Anyone interested in geology may accompany the group, with each being responsible for his own transportation and accommodations. Cars will leave Saturday noon and return Sunday evening.

Persons outside the class who wish to go on the trip should contact Dr. Warren D. Smith in Condon hall.

BA Men Will Air Job Applications On KOAC Tonight

Two students and a professor will present a radio skit over KOAC tonight on the business hour which will show how job applications are made in large department stores.

Professor N. H. Comish of the BA school will be the personnel manager in the skit for the Blank Department store. Robert Kroessin will apply and be interviewed for work in the men's wear department. Marvin Elle, general manager for the skit, will discuss with the personnel manager the applicant's qualifications.

The program starts at 7:30. The skit will be followed by BA graduate assistant T. M. Holt's weekly review of current business trends.

June Old Oregon Will Devote Pages To Academic Life

Summer and June edition for Old Oregon will be devoted entirely to the academic part of University life, according to its editor, Roy Vernstrom.

To a great extent it will be pictorial, stated Vernstrom, with pictures of the dean of each school and stories about the nine colleges on the campus.

The two leading articles will be contributed by John MacGregor, '23, New York alum, on the history of student union; and Dean Onthank, '13, dean of personnel, on the extent to which undergraduates earn their way through school.

Concluding commencement and reunion stories will be found in this edition, Vernstrom said.

Senior Class Elects Officers

Bob Keen Chosen President; Miss Glover, Secretary

The senior class elected its permanent class officers at a meeting last night. They are Bob Keen, president, and Majeane Glover, secretary.

The following were named as a permanent executive board by the class: Lloyd Sullivan, John Cavanagh, Bill Ehrman, Tige Payne, Grace Irwin, Barbara Pierce, and Betty Buchanan.

According to Bob Keen, class president, the senior commencement dance will be June 6, probably at Willamette Park. The chairman of the dance committee is Bill Ehrman. His assistants are Bette Norwood, Virginia James, and Lloyd Sullivan.

It was decided that the balance of the senior bank account, $450, be donated as the senior class gift to the University, stated Keen. This money will be put to a definite purpose in the building of the student union building, and will be arranged by the committee: Wally White, chairman; John Cavanagh, Betty Buchanan, and Barbara Pierce.

The class moved that each member donate a portion of his breakage fee toward a permanent class fund to be used for future reunions and undertakings of the class, Keen said.

The commencement program was outlined to the class.
